NEWS NOTES ABOUT THE CITY.

What Our Reporters See and Hear Worth Giving to Our Readers—News in Brief

Don't fail to take in the Wake Forest commencement this week.

Garden thieves are on their rounds and our people should be on the lookout.

A military fete will be held in the Governor's Guard armory every evening during next week.

We regret to learn that the youngest child of Dr. A. W. Knox, died this morning at 4 o'clock at Morehead City. The remains arrived here this afternoon.

It is going to be a pretty tough business to get a solid foundation for the new depot, but they are working at it with a will, and will "get there all the same."

The Chautauqua, Literary and Scientific Circle gave an "art party" at the Branson House last night. It was a delightful entertainment, and very enjoyable to all who attended.

The excursion train of the First Baptist church Sunday school left on time this morning for Winston. There were twelve coaches filled to their utmost capacity. We wish them a good time and a safe return.

Parents who cannot go to Fayetteville on the pic nic, need not be afraid to let their children go, as the managers and marshals will look after them with the utmost care. No one will be allowed on the platform of the cars.

Bear in mind the excursion of the Edenton Street Methodist Church Sunday School next Tuesday, to Fayetteville. Extensive arrangements are being made and it promises to be one of the most enjoyable occasions of the season.

A number of gentlemen will leave this afternoon by the R. & D. System for Washington, D. C., for the purpose of extending to the President of the United States and his Cabinet an invitation to attend the exposition in this city. The party will be received at the White House tomorrow.

The decision of the Board of Aldermen to tear down the old fence around Moore square, is a good one, but the proposition to erect a fence three feet high is rather odd. There is really no need for any fence at all, as in the case of Nash square. It will look better without one and of course, a fence three feet high will be of little or no benefit. We have a stock law and there is no danger of damage from cows &c.

The committee to solicit subscriptions for the 4th of July celebration, are now going the rounds, and we hope they may meet with all the encouragement necessary. The races, fireworks and other amusements for a proper celebration will take a snug sum, but our people should remember that it is a grand occasion and should be so honored as to reflect upon our city. Watch out for the committee and lend them a helping hand.

At all times, in all places, on all occasions, under all circumstances, for all headaches, use Brady's time only. June 8th.

We invite attention to the prospectus of the Washington Post for 1891, to be found in this issue. The Post stands deservedly high as one of the foremost papers, not only at the national capital, but in the Union. Its circulation has increased at a marvelous rate during the past few years, indicative of public approval of its conduct in every branch. Every one should take a paper from the centre of the government, and there is none better than the Post. It is a marvel of modern journalism, and so cheap as to be in the reach of all. Read the prospectus and subscribe.

A special train will leave Johnson street station at 9:30 o'clock tomorrow morning for Wake Forest commencement.

Can't the Board of Aldermen raise the amount subscribed for the Fourth of July, just a little? Let us have $200, at least.

Remember the date, Tuesday June 16th, Edenton Street M. E. Sunday school exercises and picnic to Fayetteville, N. C.

Let everybody stay at home on the Fourth of July and have a rousing old fashioned celebration. Excursions can be put off, but the Fourth only comes once a year.

The managers of the Edenton St. Methodist Sunday School picnic promises a good time to all their friends who go with them to Fayetteville next Tuesday, June 16th.

A pair of Misses kid gloves, slate color, and a white handkerchief were found on Hillsboro street last night. Owner can get them by calling at this office and paying charges of notice.

Several of the towns of the State voted yesterday on the local option question. High Point went for prohibition by 4 to 1; Cleveland county goes dry, and Durham goes wet by a large majority.

Read the announcement of Messrs. W. C. & A. B. Stronach in this issue. These gentlemen give the benefit of some splendid reading on the subject of baking which it would be well for housekeepers to take notice of. Read the "ad."

First Class Exhibitions.

Our popular and enterprising young fellow citizen, Mr. Henry E. Litchford has leased Metropolitan Hall for the months of October and November of the present year, and proposes to entertain our people with some of the best theatrical companies now in the United States. He is determined that Raleigh shall enjoy some of the best talent to be secured, and will see to it that it is obtained if fair inducements will bring it. The hall will be in many respects improved and will compare favorably for theatricals with those of most cities. This is an announcement that all our amusement loving citizens will, no doubt, hail with delight.

A Valuable Advertising Medium.

Messrs Nuss and Huff arrived in the city yesterday. They intend to make a handsome business directory of our city. Merchants will find it to their own interest to give them due attention when they call. They come here very highly recommended.

The Street Railway.

We feel that to some extent we owe the public an apology. We mean to say that we have not done or said anything strictly unjournalistic, but we admit that we have been a little too previous. This can readily be accounted for however, as over zeal on our part to put the freshest news before the public, and, in doing so, we perhaps have relied a little too much on that fickle dame called "rumor." We have been very anxious about the street railway for two reasons. The first and main reason was because we believed and still believe that it is an absolute necessity for the convenience and the progressive spirit of the age. We have been anxious about it too, because we have been overwhelmed by questions, as the saying is, at "church, mill and market," and, in order to answer these queries, we have caught up every rumor that seemed to have the sound of plausibility and given them to the public with a most favorable coating.

But we confess we have run to the end of our row. We printed yesterday what we deemed to be a well authenticated rumor that work would be commenced this week. We are now compelled to take it all back, and with the most abject apology to the public we are constrained to submit the case and declare that aside from what we can gather from unintelligent gossip, we are perfectly at a loss to designate even with the most remote possibility the time at which the work will begin. All we do know is, and all that anybody else knows, outside of the inner circle of those interested, is, that the Board of Aldermen of Raleigh has extended the time asked for and did all else that was reasonably required. Under these circumstances it is fair to presume, not know, that work will commence within the prescribed time, and will be finished for operation by the commencement of the exposition. This is, of course, the fair inference, but we must shuffle off the word "know" in our future allusions.

We do not, of course, mean to insinuate in the most remote manner, that any hitch has occurred, or is likely to occur, about the matter, and we assure our readers upon the honor of a journalist (and this is undeniable authority) that so far as we can discover, there is nothing so far developed to present the full carrying out of the proposed scheme. We can safely ask our people to possess themselves with patience. It cannot be very long in the nature of things before the great consummation is effected, but pardon us from again stating the precise time. As a matter of consolation we can venture to assert, that there are signs of success visible, and as "coming events cast their shadows before" we can look forward with hope to the "good time coming." Only this, and nothing more.

Died.

At the residence of her parents 122 New Berne avenue, this morning at 4 o'clock, Grace Eldrige, infant daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Evans, aged 22 months.

The funeral will take place from the residence tomorrow morning at 10 o'clock.
