LARGEST CITY CIRCULATION.

RALEIGH, N. C., JULY 13, 1891;

SUSPENDED.

The Swain county Herald, owned and edited by Mr. P. W. Wiley at Bryson City, suspended with its last week's issue. Mr. Wiley was induced to embark in the journalistic field by flattering prospects and promises of support, which have not been realized and he yields to the inevitable. Swain county can ill afford to dispense with Mr. Wiley and the Herald in its effort to keep abreast with the times. His has been the experience in so many newspaper ventures, that hardly a community is to be found that has not the shattered wrecks of such efforts hid about in upper rooms and back offices, in the shape of unused type and presses, here and there. Southern communities do not accord that patronage to newspapers that would be to the interest of such communities.

Shot Dead by His Friend

From a pistol which he pointed in fun at his comrade, 14 year-old Thomas Crooks, of No. 2634 Lawrence street, James Crossett, aged 16 years, of No. 2339 Leithgow street, sent a bullet yesterday that crashed into his friend's head, and killed him almost instantly. The tragedy took place in Fairhill Square.

Crossett carried his father his dinner, and the latter gave him $7 to give to his mother, and, in addition, 5 cents to spend as he pleased. On his way home he met some boys, including Crooks, standing opposite Fairhill Square, and stopped to talk with them. He asked Crooks to go buy him some cigarettes, but the latter refused. He then pulled the $7 from his pocket and said, "How's this for eight days work?" He handed Crooks the money and dared him to run off with it. The latter in fun attempted to do so when Crossett pulled his pistol from his pocket, aimed at him and fired. Crooks fell, and several of the boys immediately ran for an officer.

Crossett made no attempt to escape, and was taken into custody, while Crooks was taken away in the Episcopal Hospital ambulance. The bullet was found to have entered over the left eye and penetrated to the base of the brain. All that was possible was done, but the unfortunate lad never regained consciousness, and died at 2:30.

The families of both the lads are highly respectable, and the shock was terrible. Crossett's mother was at the Eighteenth district station house, and was allowed to see him. She was almost prostrated from the blow, but her son, with coolness remarkable in one of his age, attempted to comfort her, saying:

"Don't cry, mother; this is not a hanging matter."

He insists that he did not know that the pistol was loaded, and that there was no quarrel between him and Crooks. In this all the boys who witnessed the shooting agree.

The weapon was a small nickel-plated smooth bore breech loading pistol of .23 calibre.—Philadelphia Record.

Three hundred men employed at the Niedringhaus Rolling Mill, St. Louis, went on a strike yesterday and the works are now idle in consequence. The men want Mr. Niedringhaus to agree to a new schedule of prices, which he refuses to do.

Horse Sense.

There is a trick practiced by one of the West End tow horses on the Cambridge street hill which the listener has no doubt has been noticed by a great many people, and which is well worth being put on record. The horses stand in line at the foot of the hill, each, when he returns from a tow, taking a position at the rear. In this way each horse gets his turn at towing. Among the tow horses at this hill is a big necked gray, a stout and wise old fellow. He has been seen, when the towboys are temporarily around the corner, as they sometimes are, to sneak out of his position when he has got to the head of the line and quietly move around to the foot. In this way he dodges his turn at pulling the car up the hill.—Boston Transcript.

Prolific Apples.

Yorkville Enquirer.
Mr. John J. Garvin, of Yorkville, on last Saturday, left at this office a specimen of a wonderfully prolific apple tree that is growing in his garden. This specimen consisted of a great cluster, presenting very much the appearance of a huge bunch of grapes. On the branch there were sixty four apples, ranging from one to two and a half inches in diameter. The main stem, around which the apples were clustered, was not more than fifteen inches in length, and the cluster, at the largest part, measured twenty seven inches in circumference. This cluster is only a specimen of the tree, which Mr. Garvin describes as literally loaded in like manner.

Water in the Colorado Desert.

The important fact is now established that there is a continuous stream of water flowing on the surface in the channel of the new river from the Colorado river at a point fifteen miles below Yuma to the Salton sink. This news was brought here this afternoon by parties who arrived from the desert. The Indians say that water has been running from the Colorado into the new river ever since February last. The railroad officials here are now convinced that the water in the desert lake comes from the Colorado river. One of the exploring parties which is now out will examine the break in the bank of the Colorado river and see if the water cannot be stopped.

A Powerful Government.

[Richmond Dispatch.]
We do not desire to enter into a controversy as to whether the United States Government is now a consolidated central despotism or not. We had thought that the facts settled that question. We gave sometime ago the history of the pretended ratification of the thirteenth, fourteenth, and fifteenth amendments. Also, we have told our readers again how West Virginia—"the bastard product of a political rape"—was erected into a State. We have shown how the United States Government controls the private business of tobacco manufacturers and others. In fact, we have shown that, however it may be theoretically, this Government is in fact one of unlimited powers. Look, for example, at the emancipation of the slaves. The United States Government has done whatever it chose to do, and will always hereafter have its own sweet will in all matters.

When Alexander Pope visited the Orient nearly two centuries ago, he obtained a slip of one of the willows beside the waters of Babylon, where the children of Israel hung their harps in the days of captivity. Planting the wand upon his return to England he secured a thrifty tree in time. From the latter Martha Washington procured a twig, which it is said she brought to Arlington Heights, with the same result. And now a tree grown from a slip taken from hers has just been planted in the Indiana State House grounds.

Odd Fellows the country over, as well as many other admiring friends, rejoice to know that the condition of Grand Sire C. M. Busbee, of Raleigh, N. C., is much improved and there are now hopes of his ultimate recovery.—Danville Register, 8th.

Karl M. Carpenter was instantly killed by lightning early yesterday morning at Michigan City, Ind. He was in the same bed with his wife and child, neither of whom were injured in the least.

"I suppose most of our ministers will go abroad as usual this summer." "I suppose so. They are all more or less at sea now."—Puck.

R. H. Duncan, who was convicted in Texas of the murder of the entire Williamson family, three women and a man, eighteen months ago, has been sentenced to be hanged at Eagle Pass on Friday, September 4th.

The Book Trust Knocked Out.

A CARD TO THE PUBLIC.
The price of the great Encyclopedia Britannica, $8 per volume for the English edition, and $7 per volume for the Scribner and the Stoddard editions in the cheapest binding—has been a bar to its popular use.

Our reprint of this work is furnished at $1.50 per volume, the greatest bargain ever known in the book trade. We have sold over half a million volumes in six months; proof that the public appreciate so great a bargain.

This reprint is not an abridgment, but a reproduction of the entire twenty-five volumes of the great Edinburgh ninth edition, page for page, with new and later articles on important American topics, and new maps, later and better than in any other edition. In all respects it compares favorably with the high priced editions, and in point of maps and durability of binding it is superior to them.

Heretofore we have sold only for cash. We now announce that we will deliver the set complete on small easy payments.

SPECIAL OFFER.—In order that you may see the bargain we offer, and examine its merits, we will furnish Volume 1 by express for 60 cts, a fraction of actual cost; add 40 cts postage if wanted by mail.

Circulars and sample page will be sent free on application. R. S. PEALE & Co., Publishers, Chicago.
