BRAINS.

A brand new semi monthly literary journal, published by the United Publishing Co., of Meadville, Pa. is put forth for the delectation of those who revel in the higher esthetics of literature, under the significant title of "Brains," in which Albion W. Tourgee figures as its first contributor, on "The Art of Fiction." We do not know of a writer better qualified to treat upou such a subject than the well known author of "The Fool's Errand."

OUR TROOPS AT WRIGHTS-VILLE.

A goodly number of the boys who are too young to know anything of real camp life, had a good deal of the poetry that was hung in their minds around the idea of camp life, all spoiled on Sunday at Wrightsville when a heavy rain came up. Nevertheless the young soldier boys are having a real good time; and the old soldiers, too, really enjoy these reunions. May they never know any thing more soldierly than in peace to prepare for war.

Looks Large.

The Philadelphia Record save:

Two hundred and twenty one little children under one year of age died in this city during the last week. Such an infantile death rate is not, perhaps, inordinately high for midsummer when the population is considered. Certainly it is not nearly as high as it would be but for the merciful work of the Sanitarium and the wise action of the health authorities in scattering broadcast simple hints for the care of infants during the hot weather. Yet the mortality among the little ones is high enough to still be a reproach to science and humanity; for, much as both have done to lessen it, it seems plain from the above figures that both have fallen short of a full exercise of their amel iorating influences.

The Raleigh Exposition.

The Henderson Tomahawk says: "What are the County Commissioners doing about getting up the county exhibit for the Exposition at Raleigh They were liberal in voting the $500. Now let them arrange to have it judiciously spent, and for the benefit of Vance county. If this is neglected, the benefit will be lost to us.

Local Conference.

The Local Preachers' Conference and Tabernacle opened at Rutherford College near Connelly Springs, on Wednesday the 22d. Rev. R. H. Whitaker is the President, and the following is his annual address:

PRESIDENT'S ADDRESS

DEAR BRETHREN :- Since we met last and commingled our voices in prayer, song and thanksgiving to God, another twelve month, with all of its. hopes and fears, joys and sorrows, successes and failures, has passed, and, we find ourselves, at its close, met together for the purpose of giving account of our stewardships. God has faithfully kept the record and we will have to be judged by it. But we come to make our reports to each other, and acknowledging our shortcomings and failures, to pray God that our hearts may be stimulated to higher and nobler purposes, and to greater usefulness, during the new Conference year, upon which we must soon enter.

Dear brethren, for twenty two years we have been meeting as a Conference, and it has been my pleasure to attend most of our sessions; and while we have not at any time had a very large attendance, yet no one who has been an impartial observer can for a moment doubt that great good has been the result of our meet-

The local ministry in North Caro lina is a large factor in the church of God, and it has been the instrument, in His hands, of doing untold good. But, prior to the organization of this Conference, its strength was undeveloped and consequently unkown. This Conference has been the means (if it has done no other good,) of ascertaining the numerical strength of the local ranks, and of unifying that strength. Before its organization we knew that there were a great many local ministers in the State, but we neither knew them, nor where they resided, much less did we know of their labors. But now we have not only their names and their places of residence, but we know, in a large measure, what they are doing.

This knowledge is not only a source of pleasure to us, as local preachers, but it is proving to be a benefit to the church. Our minutes, which we publish and send out from year to year, who have taken charge of the rail- are as a mirror in which the world way station and telegraph office, are may behold us and our lives. They growing rather more moderate contain written and verbal reports of the work we are doing, in our humbare in large force, so that any impru- stimulating effect upon many who may not have been as faithful hith-

> God expects every worker to do his best, and our meeting together in Conference is, after reporting the past year's work, to discuss plans looking to greater usefulness in the future. For this purpose do we meet now, and, during our session, may no other motive prompt our proceed

> Many of our sessions have been held here at Rutherford College-indeed this place has always seemed like home-and it is with peculiar emotions that we meet on this occasion. The old building in which so many of our sessions have been held, and in which we have so often sung and prayed and rejoiced in other days, and in which we met as recently as last year, is gone, with all its hallowed memories, it having been destroyed by fire only a few weeks after the adjournment of our last session. Oh, how we miss that well remembered old building!

But our dear brother Abernethy, aided by loving friends, has, upon the ruins of that old building, erects ed another which is nearing compleiion, and it is in this new structure we meet to hold our present session. May it soon be completed, and the kind friends continue to send in their contribution until it is paid for.

And, dear brethren, when these ten ements of clay, in which we are now tabernacling, shall like that old building, have been dissolved, God grant that we may all find new homes prepared for us-houses not made with hands, eternal in the heavens!
