WILL NORTH CAROLINA BE THERE?

The site that has been selected and the description of the plans for the North Carolina buildings at the Chicago Exposition are very pleasing, "on paper," but what is to be done about it.

LOCAL PRIDE.

The South Port Leader puts this subject in its true light. It says: "The absence in any town, city or county, of what may be termed 'local pride,' denotes a low state in the religious and business life of such a community."

"The failure of a city or county to take part in any progressive movement, shows a lack of local pride, and the apparent penny saving policy, which may be offered in extenuation for the course pursued, does not deceive any one, but indicates the absence of a conscious pride and ambition, which has not the welfare of anything at heart."

The best evidence of a healthy local pride, is the willingness shown by the citizens of a place to make personal sacrifices for the general good. Liberty either in contributions or services, and not with the proviso of future recompense attached, as a saving clause in case of loss."

A Beauty.

The New Berne Journal says: They tell us that "the proposed North Carolina building at the World's Fair, a picture of which is in the Agricultural Department at Raleigh, will be a beauty, stretching out before the lake, the grounds handsomely laid out and the building beautifully adorned. It is a beauty."

Mineral Springs.

The Reidsville Review says the Chalybeate springs, near Wentworth, Rockingham county, have become quite famous for their healing qualities.

Hail Storm.

The tobacco crops in some sections of Rockingham county were badly damaged last Sunday afternoon by the hail storm which passed across the county.

Trying to Boom.

The Plymouth Beacon is making a desperate effort to get up a boom for Plymouth. It says: "We have heard men of intelligence ask why Plymouth, Tarboro, Edenton, Washington and other eastern towns could not have real estate booms like Winston, Durham, Oxford, Raleigh and other western towns; and then in an effort to answer correctly, attributes it to the inertia of the people."

Continue to agitate, Bro. Asbton. Tell the people to get a move on them.

Think of This.

It is stated that the lumber output of North Carolina this year is expected to be 800,000,000 feet valued at over $10,000,000.—Ex.

And how is this? How do such figures appear to the people out in the barren west out where a tree is a natural curiosity and where a sapling is guarded with a shot gun.

Would not such figures, properly presented to the people in that country who will suffer with cold this coming winter, cause them to get a move on themselves?

But the point is a timber country is generally barren of all things else. But not here in North Carolina where timber is inexhaustible. We have all kinds of minerals—and wonderful supplies, too: we have fruits in all varieties—and we have a welcome for all who may come. The only thing we lack is enterprise enough to present our manifold charms to a world that would be eager to come and dwell in peace with us.—Durham Globe.

An Unexpected Visitor.

A fine handsome deer took Mr. J. McSorley by surprise Wednesday by walking into his shoe shop, right by him, and lying down in the shop. It was supposed he was one of the tame ones kept at the fair grounds that had escaped, but investigation proved that all were there that belonged there. However, he was placed with the others to remain awaiting an owner.

Following the Doctor's Advice.

Texas Justice—Well, Sam, are you guilty or not guilty this time?

Sam—Yes, sah. I specs I'm de guilty colored gentelman. I went in dar las' night and tuck de demijohn. I owns up to dat.

"How did you come to do that?"

"A white man put me up to it, sah."

"What is the name of the white man?"

"Dr. Jones, sah, what libs up dar near de old Tom Blank's place."

"That's not possible."

"Yes, sah, hit am. I went to dat doctor about a mis'ry in de chest, and he tole me ter take a tonic ebbery night before going to bed, and hearin' dat whiskey am a good tonic, and being as de doctor knowed his bizness, bat berry night I took de tonic from de saloon. I pried open de back door wid a crowbar and took de tonic."

"Yes, we know all about whiskey being a tonic. Although I am not a medical man I'll have to prescribe for you myself. What you need is rest, and I'll just bind you over to wait the action of the grand jury."

"Dat's what a man gits for follerin' de advice ob dese medikal men," remarked Sam sulkily, as he was led off.

It Killed Her at Last.

PITTSBURG, Pa., July 29.—While in Paris with her parents, four years ago, Martha Frick, then aged two years, swallowed a pin. Today she died at Cresson Springs as the result. She was a daughter of Henry C. Frick, the millionaire coke operator and steel manufacturer.

She felt no ill effects until the winter of 1889, when, after much suffering from a pain in the side an abscess formed and the pin was discharged. It left her the victim of a peculiar disease, which has ever since baffled the best physicians in the country.

A Disgraceful Wedding.

Piedmont Herald.

A white girl by the name of Victoria Via, about 16 years old, and a negro about 45 years boarded the train at Preston, Henry county, Va., last week and started for Reidsville to be married. They obtained license, were married, and then were arrested and are now spending their honeymoon (?) in Rockingham county jail. This is a sad picture to bring before civilized and intelligent Americans, but we can not expect otherwise so long as this course is defended by some of our, so called, most influential men. Only last winter a similar case occurred in New York, and was zealously defended by an eminent divine.

The Book Trust Knocked Out.

A CARD TO THE PUBLIC.

The price of the great Encyclopedia Britannica, $5 per volume for the English edition, and $6 per volume for the Scribner and the Stoddard editions in the cheapest binding—has been a bar to its popular use.

Our new reprint of this work is furnished at $1.50 per volume, the greatest bargain ever known in the book trade. We have sold over half a million volumes in six months; proof that the public appreciate so great a bargain.

This reprint is not an abridgment, but a reproduction of the entire twenty-five volumes of the great Edinburgh ninth edition, page for page, with new and later articles on important American topics, and new maps, later and better than in any other edition. In all respects it compares favorably with the high priced editions, and in point of maps and accuracy of printing it is superior to them.

Heretofore we have sold only for cash. We now announce that we will deliver the set complete on small easy payments.

SPECIAL OFFER.—In order that you may see the bargain we offer, and examine its merits, we will furnish Volume 1 by express for 60 cts, a fraction of actual cost; add 40 cts postage if wanted by mail.

Circulars and sample page will be sent free on application. R. S. FEALE & CO., Publishers, Chicago.
