RALEIGH, N. C., SEPTEMBER 3, 1891.

AGRARIAN AGITATION.

As anticipated, the distress in Russia caused by the failure in the grain crops has resulted in numerous riots in all parts of the empire. Starvation recognizes no authority that keeps it from bread and the police have their hands full in trying to maintain order. As the evidences of shortage multiply and develop greater proportions, the situation assumes a more serious phase to other nations that have suffered similar disaster and which have been accustomed to rely upon Russia to supply their deficits.

The situation in Germany is particularly serious since it has been discovered that the potato crop is also very short. Meetings have been held in a number of towns calling upon the government to suspend or abolish the grain duties, and the fact that no measures have been taken to repress these gatherings is counted as an evidence that the cabinet recognizes the gravity of the situation, and will very probably yield to the popular demand.

But the most important feature of the agitation, that distress has brought about is revealed in the strength developed by the liberals in the strength of the kaiser's dominions. The socialists have combined with the liberals of every school to urge the demands of the hour, and the government's evident disposition to yield is a concession to this element that is tantamount to a respectful recognition of its strength.

Distress is always a prolific source of disorder. Suffering is the parent of revolution. Agitators always find a sympathetic audience in hard times, for it is not difficult to persuade men of political wrongs who are desperately looking for escape from hardship. Recognition of this fact is therefore creditable to foresight and political acumen. By complying with the socialists' demands a stop will be put to the agitation, and when the period of distress is passed the duties may be restored and the government, by a comparatively small sacrifice of revenue will have strengthened itself among the common people, who have a potent voice, no less in Germany than elsewhere, in shaping national destiny. At any rate the riots that are now disturbing Russia will be avoided, and the cost of bread being less, the distressful situation will be ameliorated.

The effect of this short age has already been felt throughout the United States in the rise in prices of bread stuffs, which doubtless will be yet largely increased as the fall and winter advances. Our farmers and millers will be greatly benefited by this state of things.

Train Robbers Secure $3,600.

Seven masked men held up the east bound train on the Rio Grande near Cotopaxi, Col. on the night of the 31st with rifles, and secured $3,600 from the Express safe. A cowboy band, Pinerton's detectives and hounds are pursuing them.

Hunger stimulates the reasonableness of nations. What the Germans have denied to our importunity they are constrained to yield at the suggestion of their own stomachs. The repeal of the duties on grain is likely to be followed by the removal of the sanitary embargo against American pork.

Marshal Ney.

Rev. J. A. Weston who has returned from Europe where he has been for some months, investigating the claims that P. S. Ney whose grave is in Iredell county, was the great Marshal Ney. He claims to have secured evidence settling the question finally that Peter Stuart Ney who sleeps in North Carolina soil is none other than the true Marshal Ney.

Imitation of Coffee Going the Rounds.

Boston is said to be engaged in the manufacture of an imitation coffee, made of clay and rye or other flour, which is sold to the trade at about six cents per pound, and which is mixed with good coffee in the proportion of a quarter of a pound of the bogus article to one pound of the genuine berry. A Philadelphia business man is quoted as saying that an examination by a chemist disclosed the real character of the stuff, which is declared to be "a fraud upon the poor." Another kind of bogus coffee, even harder to detect, is pressed into the shape of the coffee bean.

The Scientific American of a recent date contains a description and illustrations of what it describes as "a simple and durable barrel making machine designed to set up and hold the staves in proper position while the hoops are being driven on." The machine has been patented by Mr. Henry T. Drake of Wadesboro, N. C. We believe that barrel making machinery now in general use goes no further than to get the material in readiness for putting the barrel together. If so the want filled by this machine will be appreciated by barrel manufacturers.—Charlotte News.

A CARD TO THE PUBLIC.

The price of the great Encyclopedia Britannica, $3 per volume for the English edition, and $5 per volume for the Scribner and the Stoddard editions in the cheapest binding—has been a bar to its popular use.

Our new reprint of this work is furnished at $1.50 per volume, the greatest bargain ever known in the book trade. We have sold over half a million volumes in six months; proof that the public appreciate so great a bargain. This reprint is not an abridgment, but a reproduction of the entire twenty-five volumes of the great Edinburgh ninth edition, page for page, with new and later articles on important American topics, and new maps, later and better than in any other edition. In all respects it compares favorably with the high priced editions, and in point of maps and durability of binding it is superior to them.

Heretofore we have sold only for cash. We now announce that we will deliver the set complete on small easy payments.

SPECIAL OFFER.—In order that you may see the bargain we offer, and examine its merits, we will furnish Volume 1 by express for 60 cts, a fraction of actual cost; add 40 cts postage if wanted by mail. Circulars and sample page will be sent free on application. K. S. PRAL & Co., Publishers, Chicago.
