Attention is directed to the sale of real estate of Mr. Van B. Moore, Guardian, &c.

Our esteemed friend, Mr. A. W. Fraps, is nicely fixing up a new store on the corner of West Mutin and South Harrington streets.

It has been suggested that a coa of white wash on the trees in capito square would help the appearance of things generally.

As the fall approaches the matri monial market is looming up. Several couples are expected to take each other for "better or worse" before the Christmas holidays.

The front of the market house is being painted today. The inside of the market, under the magic touch of the white wash brush looks neat. The transformation is wonderful.

Call at the store of Messrs. Alfred Williams & Co. and secure tickets for the great musical festival. The rush can, in this way, be avoided. Admission $1. Peason tickets $1.50.

The Mayor and Chief of Police were ousted from their office this morning on account of rep irs going on. They occupy temporarily one of the ante rooms set spart for Collector Root and City Clerk Lambeth.

If the town continues to keep a quiet as for the past few days, we might as well give Mayor Badger and Chief Heartt a furlough for a week or so. Perhaps they would like to see the Goldsboro races.

In answer to several enquiries on the subject, we state that the ordinance regulating charges for the street railway in the corporate limits is five cents a trip; outside of the corporate limits there is no regulation, of course, but it is hoped that the company will see it no less to their advantage than to the public, to charge five cents to the exposition grounds. In our opinion the cars would make equally as much, and certainly it would prove beneficial to the people.

Quiet reigned at the capitol today. Nothing of interest going on.

We hope to be able soon to give our readers some full information of the proposed wine manufactory to be started in the south-western suburbs.

Secretary W. H. Dodd, of the N. C. Wagon Factory, reports the plant in a flourishing condition, with all the work, present and prospective, it can

Mr. Julian 8. Carr, of Durham, is making preparations for the grandest tobacco exhibit at the exposition ever seen in the United States. As usual, he will succeed.

We are anxiously awaiting the des cision of the railroads for fare during the exposition. Hope it will not be over one cent per mile. It should not

We hope that after everything has been fixed up, the street car company may find it to their advantage not to have transfers at so short distances. A line from the Union Depot to the fair grounds, and one from the same point to the end of the Blount street line, might be made uninterrupted.

A Needed Improvement.

It has been suggested that railings be put on each side of the steps lead ing up into Metropolitan Hall. It would prove of great advantage to persons going into and making their exit from the hall at night, especially in today. Wilmington street, in the to ladies and elderly gentlemen. It would cost but little. We hope that it make be done.

Grand Opening Display.

The fashion and beauty of Raleigh have been out yesterday and today, the great occasion being the big opening at Swindell's mammoth establishment. It had been heralded for days previous and when yesterday morning the doors were opened, the eyes were feasted with such a display as has rarely been seen in the capital of the "Old North State." The entrance to the store was literally strung with such gorgeous and rich designs that it could well be claimed that the beholder was in the midst of "fairy land" Rich rugs of splendid design and most magnificent in their appearance made up the so called dry goods "menu." Various skins of most of the animals, including the bear, buffalo, wolf, polar bear, goat and others, stood out in bold relief, a tempting bait to all lovers of what is pretty and tasty. The most elegant and gorgeous displays were hung in the windows, such as portierres, Turkomans, raw silk draperies, damask and all kinds of lace curtains, English, German and French dress goods, beautiful in design and most novel in appearance stood out in bold relief on every side. Jewelry, too, of which Swindell, has a most superb supply, was not the least of the great attractions. The silk robes are splendid. Among them faill francaise, armoore, gross grain surahs and lus treless china. Persian robes form a foremost feature, and they are cer tainly grand.

But the millinery department under skilful charge of Mrs. S. C White, surpasses anything ever seen here. Headware of every conceivable design suited to the fashions of the times is here, shown in great profusion. Our columns will not allow us to particularize but Mrs. White has in her department enticements enough for any matron or maiden in North Carolina, so far as the millinery adornment is concerned. Swindell may well be proud of his big show. No description of it on paper will meet the case. The stock must be seen to be appreciated. Visit the show. It is a grand one. Let no lady neglect seeing such a sight her eyes may not meet with in a life time again.

We must not forget to call the special attention of the ladies to the carpet department. Such brands as the moquette, Axminister, velvet, &c., have never been equalled in this daily, at my cellar No. 223, S. Wilseason can be seen novelties in silk, mington Street. Orders filled prompties as none can complain of.

Ice in any quantity, also fresh fish daily, at my cellar No. 223, S. Wilseason can be seen novelties in silk, jet and feather trimming.

Accommodations.

We had quite an interesting intera view, this morning, with Mr. A. L. Ferrell relative to the accommodation of visitors to the Inter-State Expos sition. Mr. Ferrell says it will not be convenient for him to make an exa tended, active canvass longer than the present week, and he earnestly desires that all persons who can accommodate boarders, should send in their names as soon as possible, either to Maj. Heartt or himself. It should be stated how many boarders can be taken, the number of street, terms &c. He says that his canvass has far exceeded his expectations, and that nearly all he has seen have evinced a disposition to be as accommodating as they can. Many who have never heretofore taken boarders will do so now. In a word, all who visit Raleigh will be amply taken care of. This may be considered certain. We hope there may be no tardiness in the matter of giving in names. The time is getting short, and the sooner parties desiring boarders shall make it

Congratulations.

BALTIMORE, MD., Sept. 16th, '91.

I am glad to see that Raleigh can not be called slow any longer. change has been brought about since I left there a little over nine years ago. No water works, no street cars, and no other material improvements. Now you have all these, including the electric car system. Even Baltimore the great commercial city of the south has only had rapid transit for a short time. I am glad to know that the great Southern Exposition is to be held in Raleigh and hope it may result in great good to my beloved State. I notice the VISI-TOR is doing all it can for the great scheme and hope that thegreatest success may crown your efforts.
