TOO MUCH COTTON.

Every section and almost every farmer is lamenting the low price of cotton, and declaring that it will not pay to make it, and yet every section and almost every farmer is just making it right along, to the exclusion of almost everything else. We farmers in North Carolina feel ourselves called upon to make cotton because we can't get our moneyed men, upon whom we are dependent, to advance for us on any other crop, and we just have to buy hay at $20 a ton, and Cincina nati hog meat at 9 cents a pound, and corn at $4 to $6 a barrel, and other necessaries in the same proportion, and make cotton at 7½ cents with a fair prospect of being compelled to take seven. The foolish farmers in other sections keep on making all they can and the result is that the world's production in this article is greater than its absolute need, and so long as that is the case we farmers here in North Carolina must continue to get poorer every year, and unless we can hold out long enough to wear those other fellows out so that they will go to making something else, we are ruined; if they quit, then we can get good prices and all get rich we hope. Why in the world don't the other farmers go to raising horses and other stock? That pays. Why don't some of them here in North Carolina go to making hay, so that we can be saved from the ruin that seems to threaten us, and will come unless there is less cotton made or the consumption of it greatly increase.

MUNICIPAL HOUSEKEEP-ING.

The tidy and successful housewife applies much of her energy and thought in keeping her house and maintaining it in as attractive and neat appearance as possible. The merchant who would be a success in his business, keeps his stock in good shape, his store fixed up as attractively as possible, and all available arrangements adopted to make the customers comfortable and please them as much as possible. The wise hotelist not only seeks to supply his tablets with tempting dishes but he decorates and adorns, from the floor to the ceiling, including both, that he may please the eye of the guest The eye is the one great avenue to the man. If you can please the eye you are apt to "get there."

Now what is true of housekeepers, merchants and hotelists, is true in cities and towns, of those who preside over the decoration, ornamentation and repairing departments, and these require tact and skill as well as those. If your city is nest and attractive people will like it and talk about it. If it is slovenly kept and has a neglected appearance, they will avoid it. Then what we want badly is some skilled, economic city keepers. It is profitable to attract people; then we should attract them by pleasing the eye as well as by making fine speeches Let our city fathers round up the corners and hide the ugly things out of sight. Let us make Raleigh so attractive that people cannot stay away, and then treat them so nicely that they will learn to like us sure enough.

POLITICS.

The political pot has boiled and about the same quality of soap has been produced all around. The results in all the States involved would indicate that very nearly every man voted just about like he has been voting heretofore notwithstanding all the bluster and stump war that has been waging for the last sixty days. The fact is people are beginning to do their own thinking to a larger extent, as the world grows older. Well, the country is safe. I ew York has gone democratic, Ohio has gone republican. Few changes in the political cast of the government of states have been accomplished, and the horde of hungry politicians are about the only people that have been much disturbed by the results of the final battle of Tuesday.

High Praise.

Indianapolis News.

The writer once asked Colonel Ingersoll what was the greatest compliment he ever received. He thought a moment and said: "I will tell you. I was strolling about the lobby of the Grand Pacific hotel in Chicago one evening after supper, smoking a cigar and waiting for some friends with whom I was going to spend the evening. I saw a vacant chair and sat down in it. Presently I was accosted by a man sitting near who was trying

"I noticed that he was crying. He said: "Stranger, did you ever read that?" pointing to a poster six feet long and three and one half wide hanging against the wall of the Grand Pacific office, giving the 'dream' or vision portion of my speech at the soldiers' reunion at Indianapolis only a short time before.

"'Yes,' I replied, 'I have read it.' "The fellow sobbed away for a few moments longer, and continued:

"Stranger, do you know what I think ?"

"No; what do you think?"

"Well, sir, I have a copy of that bill hanging in my store at Tuscola, Ill., and I watch every man that comes in read it, and I tell you, any man that can read that through and not cry is blankety blank blank, and would not trust him any further than I could throw a male bovine by the tail. I tell you his heart is not in the right place.'

"Now," said Colonel Ingersoll, "if that man did not know who I was, and I have no idea that he did, that is the greatest compliment I ever had paid me."

The Book Trust Knocked Out.

A CARD TO THE PUBLIC.

The price of the great Encyclopedia Britannica, $8 per volume for the English edition, and $5 per volume for the Scribner and the Stoddardt editions in the cheapest binding—has been a bar to its popular use. Our new reprint of this work is furnished at $1.50 per volume, the greatest bargain ever known in the book trade. We have sold over half a million volumes in six months; proof that the public appreciate so great a bargain.

This reprint is not an abridgment, but a reproduction of the entire twenty-five volumes of the great Edinburg ninth edition, page for page, with new and later articles on important. American topics ant American topics, and new maps, later and better than in any other edition. In all repects it compares favorably with the high priced editions, and in point of maps and du-rability of binding it is superior to them. Heretofore we have sold only for cash. We now announce that we will deliver the set complete on small easy payments, SPECIAL OFFEE.—In order that you may see the bargain we offer, and examine its merits, we will furnish Volume 1 by express for 60 cts, a fraction of actual cost; add 40 cts postage if wanted by mail.

Circulars and sample page will be sent free on application.
