NEWS NOTES ABOUT THE CITY.

What Our Reporters See and Hear Worth Giving to Our Readers—News in Brief.

A new safe for sale cheap. Apply at this office.

Bright, bracing, winter weather. Most of the pension warrants have been sent out, and some have been returned for payment.

Several counterfeiters are to be tried at the present session of the Federal Court.

The Internal Revenue receipts for this district during the month of November were $92,111.46.

An electric street car jumped the track this morning at the switch, at the junction of the Hillsboro and Avenel Ferry roads, causing some delay.

The highest temperature during the month of November for Raleigh was on the 1st, it being 76 degrees. The lowest temperature was yesterday, 17 degrees.

The exhibits at the exposition grounds have been to a great extent removed, except such as may be needed in the event of a permanent exposition, or those that are turned over to the State museum.

Read the advertisement of the New York Bargain House. Its removal is temporarily delayed, and for the next few weeks the proprietors are selling off their stock at astonishingly low rates. Nothing like such low prices were ever before heard of in Raleigh. Call and examine the stock and make selections. The sooner, the better.

J. Charles Richter, wholesale lumber dealer, 1826 Van Pelt street, Philadelphia, Pa., says: I can't speak too highly of Bradycrine as a headache cure.

We hear that arrangements will be commenced early in the coming year for the proposed wine manufactory. It will be most probably situated in the vicinity of the vineyards on the Avenel Ferry road.

The World's Fair managers for North Carolina are in session here today. Mr. Elias Carr, one of the commissioners, is here, and it is hoped that some definite plan to have North Carolina properly represented, will be inaugurated. Mr. Peter M. Wilson, also a manager, is here.

There is one thing that all the northern editors who recently visited our city agree upon, and that is, that the people of Raleigh are the kindest and most hospitable they ever met with. And yet there are some folks in North Carolina so lost to patriotism and truth as to attempt, in their puny way, to slander us. Shame upon them.

The Concord Standard says: Poor old Raleigh is deserted. The exposition is over. The next attraction she will have will probably be the grammar school of Bill Miller, the grammarian. [This is a poor chestnut by which the editor attempts to palm off his wit. Look in some other direction for fame, brother. You miss your calling on the wag order.]

Lincoln J. Carter's superb scenic production, the "Fast Mail," which will be presented at Metropolitan Hall next Saturday evening, by an excellent company, is one of the most successful plays put upon the stage in recent years. The story is thrilling, and justice is done the startling and realistic scenes by a perfection of mechanical effects. Among other reproductions is a representation of an engine room on a Mississippi river steamboat, with the furnaces under the boilers fired up; a train of cars shoots across the stage in one scene, and in another there is a vivid, beautiful and awe inspiring representation of Niagara Falls by moonlight, with the singing waters and graceful mist that rises above and about it. The company is said to be excellent throughout.

New moon tonight.

The city tax collector is on the war path. Better attend to him.

There were only a few cases before the Mayor this morning.

It is stated that the endowment fund of Wake Forest College has reached $310,000.

Conductor Powell, of the Oxford and Henderson railway, is critically ill.

A street car run into a mail wagon last night near the gas-house, smashing the latter up considerably.

A new outfit of rolling stock, especially passenger coaches, is being ordered for the Atlantic and N. C. Railroad.

One of the world's fair commissioners told us to-day that the prospects for a considerable sum for the Exposition would in all probability be secured. This is good news.

Look-out for a Christmas advertisement tomorrow from Messrs. Alfred Williams & Co. All in want of nice presents should not fail to read it.

We hear that the meeting of the N. C. Commissioners of the World's Fair today is likely to be productive of good results. There were some very important matters discussed which will lead to something tangible soon. Good.

Now is the season to push your business; the season of good things will soon be upon us, but it is necessary to know where they can be had. Therefore if you want to boom up your goods, advertise in the VISITOR.

There is some talk of a general meeting of the merchants of the State to take action relative to the merchants purchase tax. We hear there is a disposition to carry it to the Supreme Court of the United States, if the case goes against them in the Supreme Court of this State.

Trinity College.

The report of President Jno. F. Crowell, of Trinity College, made to the late Methodist Conference shows an attendance of 207 for the present year. Last session the number was 175. The property of the institution has increased from $40,000 in 1888, to $200,000.

Died.

At the residence of his parents 112 Fayetteville street, in this city, this morning at 6:45 o'clock of heart disease Robert B., son of Mr. and Mrs. Fred A. Watson, in the 7th year of his age.

The death of this little boy is one of peculiar sadness. Although the disease with which he was afflicted was of such a character as almost to forbid hope, the intelligence and beautiful simplicity of the child attached him to the hearts of those with whom he came in contact, and it is not to be wondered at that the little sufferer's recovery was made the subject of earnest appeals to the Ruler of the Universe that he might be preserved for future usefulness. But it was to be otherwise and there is nothing left but for the stricken household to submit in meekness to the will of God. Let them remember the words of the great prophet of old, when a similar affliction befell him. From the profound depths of his soul, he said, "It is well with the child." And so it is, but we are human and it is hard for us to think so.

As an illustration of the precocity of little Robert, it may be mentioned that when informed he was to die, he said with complete composure, "It is better for me, if I must die, than to suffer as I do."

To the afflicted parents we offer our most heartfelt sympathy, in their sad hour of affliction. Let them look to him who will doubtless "temper the wind to the shorn lamb" for that consolation which earth cannot afford. "It is well with the child."

Please Take Me Up.

Is the pathetic appeal that is already heard in varying accents from various patients suffering with official bugs in their ears. Some of these bugs are large—some are small. What an affliction.

Not Guilty.

The News and Observer received the following special dispatch today: FAYETTEVILLE, Dec. 1.—Precisely at 9:30 today the jury in the McDougald Connelly murder trial brought in a verdict of not guilty. The prisoner was then released and will leave for his old home in Laurinburg this afternoon.

Entertainment.

A most delightful entertainment was given at the residence of Dr. R. B. Ellis, East Morgan street, last evening complimentary to visiting friends from Richmond and Baltimore. After listening to many choice selections of vocal and instrumental music, an elegant supper was served. The occasion was a pleasant one, which will be remembered by all who were in attendance.

A High Compliment.

A special to the State Chronicle pays the following high compliment to Rev. W. C. Norman:

He was recently transferred from the Western North Carolina to this Conference. His brethren are happy to have him among them again. He is probably the most universally beloved of any of the young men of the Conference. He is "the beloved disciple" among his brethren. Who, that knows Capers Norman, does not hold him in the embrace of tenderest affection? A faithful and sympathetic pastor—a most enjoyable preacher—a very sincere Christian, he is in great demand for the principal stations of the conference.

U. S. Circuit Court.

Hon. A. S. Seymour, Judge presiding:

The following is a list of the grand jurors for this term:

James S. Mangum Wake county, foreman; Wm K. Phillips, W. R. Hooks, H. W. Carter, C. M. White, W. R. Moore, Moses B. Farmer, Henry Johnson, B. F. Hawkins, Fred H. Thomas, G. R. Hodges, Henry Blalard, D. W. Kelley, John T. Clifton, J. W. Woodlief, Geo C. Fitts, P. A. Sorrell, Ed M. Bledsoe.

The following cases were disposed of in this court up to time of going to press:

U. S. vs W. P. Alley; 3 cases for violating internal revenue laws; defendant enters plea of nolo contendere; judgment to be drawn.

U. S. vs John Williamson; passing counterfeit coin; nol pro with leave.

U. S. vs W. H. Champion; illicit distilling; verdict not guilty.

Your Dollars are Scarce.

Yes, you all admit money is scarce, and to many people that means much. Now the thousands of articles which find their way into Swindell's store and is offered at prices far under the manufacturers' cost are your friends. You need undershirts, drawers, blankets, rubber shoes, hosiery, boots, shoes, shawls, cloaks, horse blankets and thousands of things in heavy winter goods; and if there is a place in the town where you can buy these things for less money than anywhere else, you need to know the place. You have no money to waste. Swindell has always, is now, and will ever continue to sell these goods much lower than other stores. Why, because he buys only for cash and sells for the self same music stuff. Our special bargain this week—misses seamless half hose, hile thread, black. Also solid drab and tan, regular 35c goods at 15c.
