NEWS NOTES ABOUT THE CITY.

What Our Reporters See and Hear Worth Giving to Our Readers—News in Brief.

There are now 127 children at the Baptist Orphanage at Thomasville.

There is a general desire to see the report of the Railroad Commission.

Mr. W. C. Cram left for Canada, Saturday last, having been called there by the serious illness of his father.

We are sorry to learn that two freight trains on the Raleigh & Augusta line and two on the Raleigh & Gaston line have been taken off.

Wm. G. Hill Lodge, A. F. and A. M., will meet in regular communication this evening at 7:30 o'clock. Visiting brethren invited.

Don't forget to go and examine Mrs. H. V. Waitt's stock before you buy. You can get decided bargains there. Read her advertisement in another column.

Do not fail to hear Dr. F. E. Clark tonight at the First Baptist church. He is a fine speaker and represents a great cause in which all christians should be interested.

A force of workmen are going ahead slating the new union depot. It will not be long before we have a passenger depot that we will not be ashamed of.

There were several country wagons in town today, something we have not seen for quite a while on account of the terrible condition of the roads which have been almost impassible.

The prospect of much building in Raleigh the present year is good. We hear of several contracts for houses suitable for small families. They are much needed.

The bright sunshine is so cheering; it makes everybody feel better, and we are thankful to the weather bureau people for the promise of its continuance.

It is stated upon reliable authority that a lady living in Durham lay awake all night the other night crying for fear her husband would have to go to the Chilian war. So that Durham is ahead in the anticipation and realization of the improbable as well as tobacco tax.

The recent heavy rains have placed the different roads leading into the city rather in a bad fix, and we would suggest to our friend, Mr. MacMackin, the propriety of looking after washouts. "A stitch in time," in this case, comes in all right.

Read the letter of S & D. Berwanger in today's paper. They are having a big rush at their store. You can get the best of bargains there. This is an enterprising firm and they deserve and do receive a liberal patronage from the citizens of Raleigh and vicinity.

Just So.

An Exchange says: "Man's mouth formerly extended out like the mouth of a dog so that he could pull the cork out of a bottle with it. His mouth don't extend now, but he pulls the stopper just the same. And he attained to the art, by playing 'mumble-peg,' in his youthful day."

You Can't "Down" a Working Man.

The Twin City Daily says: A conductor had a lively experience with a tramp one night recently on a railroad between Salisbury and Charlotte. The tramp was first seen on the front part of the mail car. He was put off. Pretty soon he was discovered riding on the Pullman sleeper. He was brought down in a jiffy. This time he still seemed in a good humor and remarked to the conductor that he would "see him later." When the train stopped at Salisbury the tramp tapped the conductor on the shoulder and inquired the way to a first class hotel. He had outwitted the conductor and rode as far as he wanted to.

Entertainment.

An entertainment will be given in this city on the 28th inst., by the University Glee Club, for the benefit of the Soldier's Home. The programme will be an interesting one.

A Cute Dodge.

The Charlotte News says, that carpenters have remodeled the interior of a saloon in that city, so that the room is partitioned into two sections. The front section is fitted up as a drug store. Along the wall in the rear section, is a line of boxes, each numbered and locked and in front is a counter. A man walks up to the counter and hands over his key requesting the attendant to open his particular box. This is done, and inside is disclosed a jug or a bottle. The owner of the key helps himself when his truck is again locked up to await another call. But how is the whiskey supplied? The man who rents one of these boxes simply orders it from Statesville and has it placed in his box instead of sending it home or hiding it behind a door. The boxes have already been rented and the business is in operation. As the proprietor of the house does not sell the liquor, but simply furnishes storage room, he claim that he is no way violating the law.

Jealousy.

Jealousy is an evil agent that has ruined thousands. It manifests itself in numerous ways, but seldom benefits the one into whose bosom it has found lodgment. It tries to pull down those who are climbing up the ladder of success. To do this, whisperings, backbiting and false accusations are employed. It prompts a man to build himself up at the expense and downfall of his more worthy fellow man, but in the end it proves a boomerang.

If there is one evil spirit abroad in the land that should be shunned more than another, it is jealousy. Many men are today behind prison bars, paying the penalty for crimes that had their inception in the green eyed monster jealousy. If you would be happy and useful, never allow jealousy or a desire to pull your more prosperous and successful brother man down, get the mastery over you.—Durham Sun

The Sun doesn't put it just right, jealousy can hardly be said to be an agent; it is really one of the modes of the expression of the meanest selfishness and i. e., jealousy the green eyed monster. There is a jealousy which is good and unselfish.
