Dr. John S. Long of NewBerne will deliver the memorial address, May 10th, at Fayetteville, and also the address before the Literary Societies of Elon College at the commencement exercises on the 26th of May. Dr Long is a most pleasing speaker and will be sure to entertain those who are fortunate enough to hear him.

THE people of Lincoln, Nebraska. have protested in mass meeting against an appropriation by Congress of $100,000 to pay for the Grand Army encampment in Washington, as urged by President Harrison. The simple folk of Lincoln are not necessarily and extracts. When the ladies doffed inimical to Second Term; but, with their outside gear the actual maid the clear vision of the dwellers on the prairies, they can see the injustice of the proposition and the trail of evil precedents that would follow in its wake.

McKee Encampment, No. 15, had a very pleasant meeting last night.

No man can be an Odd Fellow, in spirit and truth, who is not grateful to his Creator and fraternal to his fellewman.

"In God we Trust" is the divine lesson taught by Odd Fellowship.

The seventy third anniverary is go program published elsewhere will ment. give our readers an idea of what can be expected in Birmingham on the 26th. We trust the occasion wilbeobserved every where in the South .-So says a Birmingham paper.

The fiftieth aunivers ry o the institution of Odd Fellowship in Georgia was celebrated on the 3d and 4th of March at Savannah, by the six sub ordinate lodges the E-campment, and a fine representation of the Grand Lodge officers. Grand Master Duniel, Grand Representative Goodwin and others were orators of the occasion A good time was the verdict of all present, and the parade was the largest ever seen in Savanah.

A friend told us the other day: 'My brother died recently. He was member of several benevolent organ izations, but throughout his long sickness the Odd Fellows alone took care of him, and supplied his every want."

The Indian celebrates the return of Spring by engaging in the "Bear Dance," the white man by holding primary elections and nominating conventions, Viewed from the Indians standpoint the white man is the fool

If one may believe Washington advices, the free coinage of silver is dead again; but when death has been so often a nounced, and as often followed by a vigorous kicking longest, and next comes the black on the part of alleged dead "critter" bird, which never lives longer than lie, the Duke of Portland may be one becomes a little suspicious.

LEAP YEAR PARTIES IN OTHER CITIES.

Some of the leap year parties seem to have been carried on or off with exceptional spirit. It has been laughable, for instance, the way in which the men have insisted upon being chaperoned, and young women have called in carriages to accompany gay bachelors, who were carefully proteeted by their mothers, to the scene of festivities. One inveterate joker gave perhaps a hint to the belies of the sort of chaperones that would be most acceptable when he came into the parlor to receive his fair escort followed by an elderly aunt who is ap4 1m deaf as a post and is besides almost blind. This same man was wrapped n a white opera cloak cut with an bsurd resemblance to a dress suit ulster; he carried a bouquet of flowers and wore a band of ribbon and bow on his hair. When he appeared from the dressing room, after laying aside his ambiguous wrap, it was seen that the sleeves of his coat had been taken out and elbow sleeves of pink silk and lace substituted, which, met by long pink kid gloves, effectually brightened" his toilet and added to his nondescript appearance.

At another leap year party, held just before Lent tegan, the young women danced the cotillon with white silk crush hats under their arms. At the same affair a young footman in cap and apron did duty in the men's dressing room, which was besides plentifully provided with powder and rouge boxes, hairpins, a tray of bon bons and aggressive bottles of cologne wore with her regulation petticoats a livery jacket and vest and carried a whisk broom as a sort of badge of office The room was bereft of its usual feminine fripperies and in their place were suggestively set out tobacco pipes and cigars, with decan ters of cognac and a huge fancy bowl piled with cloves.

RELATIONS WITH CHILL.

In a very unobtrusive manner our diplomatic relations with Chili, it is understood, are to be suspended indefinitely, if not troken of alto

It is not expected that a minister will be sent here by the Chilian gov ernment to succeed Senor Montt, who has gone home to enter the Chilian Congress. The expectation further is that the leave of absence grauted Minister Egan and Consul McCreary will be indefinitely extended, and that ultimately, without publicity ing to be celebrated in handsome being given to the matter they will style by the lodges of Alabama The cease to draw pay from this govern

It is understood to be the purpose of this government to cease diplo matic relations with Chili, both coun tries participating in the desire to "keep out of each other's company" for a while, but it is not their purpose to being about the severance of relations suddenly, and, th refore, the simple method of granting leaves of ling to the time required, or referring absence is re-ortal to Neither Mr Egan nor Mr. McCreary is to go back to Chili There was some talk, when the consular and diplomatic bill was under consideration in the House committee, of consolidating the Chil ian mission with that of Bolivia, or of reducing the pay of the minister to

A SWAN'S LIFE.

According to a foreign scientific journal the swan is the longest lived bird, in extreme cases reaching three hundred years The falcon has been known to live 162 years An eagle died in 1819 which had been caught 104 years before, and was then quite old. A white headed vulture, which was caught in 18.6, died in the aviary at Schonbrun, near Vienna in 1824 Parrets live more than a century Water birds have a long life, exceed ing that of several generations of men. Ravens also live over 10 years In captivity magpies live from 20 to 25 years, and still longer in freedom. The common hen attains the age of from 15 to 20 years. Doves live 10 veers, and the little singing birds from 8 to 10 years. The nightingale's for the Duke sub cribes to every pa life is the shortest, 10 years being the 15 years.

COOL THIS SUMMER

The Raleigh Street Railway Company, in response to what seems demanded by the best interest and comfort of the people of Raleigh, has arranged to sap! ly current from its 500 volt railway circuit for running stationary motors. This constant potential of 500 volts is not dangerous in its effects and can be safely introuced into private residences and other buildings. As the field for the motor has been extended, the ease and safety with which it can be operated has been demonstrated, while its entire free dom from noise and dirt has caused it to grow in popular favor, until at the pr sent time there are a vast number of machines driven successfully by electri: motors, such as printing presses, elevators, spice and coffee mills of all kinds, ice cream freezers, etc.

There is a special field in which the rapidity with which electric motors have been pressed into service is tru ly remarkable. During the hot sum mer days and nights, "The Silent Force," by means of the equally silent fan, renders the air of offices, stores, dining rooms, parlors, etc., cool and bracing. Such fan motors we are now prepared to run from our railroad

It will be seen from our monthly rates below that with a small outlay for a fan which lasts for an indefinite period, you can have a fan of & H P for $3.00 per month or ‡ H P. for $4 50 per month, running in your room from 6:15 in the morning to 11:30 at night. One of these fans may be relied upon to keep a room cool and comfortat le through the hottest summer days, the eighth Horse Power being used for a room of ordinary size the quarter for a large room.

The fan motors are compact and of little weight and can be n oved from place to place in a room as convenience requires. Other forms of fans for larger areas are equally practicable and our customers are urged to use their own taste and judgment in selection
