LEAST CITY CIRCULATION RALEIGH, MAY 3, 1892 NOT SO BAD AS PREDICTED

When the cotton crop was found to be very short in all this section of country last fall, there was more or less despondency broadcast among the farmers and the merchants backing them. But when later on, the bottom dropped out of prices, this despondency thickened into gloom, and up and down the cotton slope of this and other Atlantic states, the financial outlook was dispiriting, and predictions of the most gloomy character as to the financial stringency impending was to be heard everywhere. But the inevitable must be met, and everybody seems to have determined to do the best that could be done, and now all are surprised that times are not harder. The financial ruin predicted has not been realized, on the contrary business is better generally and has been, much of the winter than was expected. We asked a merchant on Fayetteville Street yesterday about business and he commenced in the old style chronic way. "There is no trade, no money and of course no business," but on questioning him a little closer, he stated that as a fact, his business is better than a year ago, that it has been better all spring than he last fall expected it would be, and then jocularly remarked, "it is fashionable to cry hard times when bills are presented." Unfortunately for us, we had no bill against him. Wish we were about drumming him for an ad. It is a very gratifying fact that business of almost all sorts is very much better than was anticipated, and there is a much more cheerful view of the financial condition of the country, present and prospective, than pervaded the public mind last fall and winter. What an amount of unrest we should avoid if we just would not look on the "dark side" so much.

APRIL FULL MOON.

The Wilmington Review says: "Has the moon any effect on the weather? You go and ask some of those people who have made it the business of their lives to study upon meteorology like cousin Chaffer, the Weather Observer here, and he will tell you that theoretically he does not but that practically he does. At all events there are some strange coincidences.

You will find it a rule that will scarcely vary once in life time that there is always pleasant spring weather before the full moon in April and a cold snap just about the time that falls due. This cold snap is of more or less severity and hence none of our truckers and fruiterers feel satisfied until after the period of the full moon. If, after having successfully passed this period, a few get rather full themselves in celebration of the fact do not judge them too harshly.

And here are some more coincidences. Just you note this summer and see if nearly all of the bad weather the wind and the rain and probably the hail, does not come in on the dark of the moon.

Last year 1800 girls graduated from the cooking schools of Boston. Most of them can cook beans in several ways.

WANTED-LOCATION FOR FACTORY.

Parties with thorough knowledge of the furniture manufacturing business desire to locate a plant in some town of good location, who will subscribe to capital stock of $100,000 to the extent of $45,000, and donate a suitable site of five acres to company.

The above was handed us yesterday by one of our prominent mill proprietors, Mr. W. B. Blades he having just clipped it from a trade journal.

We have repeatedly urged the importance of a good furniture factory. We are well fitted for it, having abundance of choice woods, and our rivers and the creeks tributary to them furnish an easy means of access to the standing timber, and by rafting the timber a cheap way of getting it to the factory, while our three Northern steamer lines, running on regular schedule, and our railroad, furnish means of placing the products of the factory on good markets speedily and at moderate cost.

The advantage that such a factory would be to the city, giving employment, as it would, to numerous mechanics and causing the lumber to bring manifold more in cash from other places than when shipped away to be manufactured elsewhere, are too manifest to dwell upon.

Could the terms of the parties seeking the location be met? There would be no trouble in getting the five acres of land donated. A choice of several very eligible sites would be gladly given, but it would not be so easy to get $45,000 of the stock placed in the city. However, the company might possibly be willing to make better terms than they offer in their advertisement, and if anyone feels sufficient interest to investigate the matter we will furnish the address. It would be a grand thing to have $50,000 of outside capital brought in for such a purpose, and to receive the desirable addition to our population that would result from it.—New Bern Journal.

Would it not be a profitable thing for Raleigh to become interested in the above. Raleigh must have manufacturing enterprises or suffer.

EARLY CLOSING.

The Charlotte News of Saturday says:

"The early closing scheme that most of the Charlotte business houses adopt in the spring and summer will go into effect Monday evening. The following merchants have attached their names to the list: T. L. Seigle & Co., H. Baruch & Bro., T. L. Alexander, Son & Co., Racket Store, W. Kaufman & Co., M. P. Pegram, Jr., Pharr & Long, Rogers & Co. The time for closing will be 7 o'clock.

It is said that the grand father, great grand father, and great great grand father of Ravachol, the Paris Anarchist, were all hanged for murders perpetrated in attempting robbery. His father probably died before he got a chance to be hanged. Looking at his picture as it appears in the prints there was a mistake committed somewhere when he was not hanged long ago. With ancestors of this line, it seems he would naturally follow it up.—Wilmington Star.

That Tired Feeling

Is a dangerous condition due directly to depleted or impure blood. It should not be allowed to continue, as in its debility the system is especially liable to serious attacks of illness. It is remarkable how beneficial Hood's Sarsaparilla is in this enervating state.

Possessing just those elements which the system needs and readily seizes, this medicine purifies the blood, and imparts a feeling of serene strength which is comforting and satisfying. Hood's Sarsaparilla is the best remedy for that weakness which prevails at change of season, climate or life.

"I have been convinced that Hood's Sarsaparilla is one of the greatest medicines in the world. I say this for the benefit of all other tired out, run down, hard-working women. Hood's Sarsaparilla is not only excellent as a blood purifier, but for all other female complaints, even if of long standing." Mrs. M. A. SCARLETT, Northville P. O., Mich.

That Brooklyn tailor who is in jail for marrying thirteen wives and was engaged to eleven other women must have been a captivating stitcher. If it takes nine tailors to make a man, what magnificent possibilities there would have been in this fellow if he had had the other eight nines hitched on to him.

A German writer on dogs acknowledges the fact that he cannot satisfactorily explain why a dog wags his tail. We don't know so much about the German dog, but the generally accepted opinion in this country is that the American dog wags his tail because the tail can't wag the dog.
