Children Cry for Pitcher's Castoria!

Children Cry for Pitcher's Castoria!

LIFE IS GOOD.

They come, they pass, with snow-soft feet,
And deathless youth illumine their eyes;
Alike to them are chaff and wheat,
Alike the foolish and the wise.
They bring the wound, they bring the balm,
They light our smiles, they dry our tears;
Careless of death or life, the calm
Servants of time, the patient years.
The winds that rend and strew the rose
Dissolve the sweetness through the air;
This wind of time that beats and blows,
Leaves all the past still fragrant-fair.
Though hopes may fail and hearts may break,
And fruitless all the striving be,
One golden gift is left to make
Man's bliss, consoling memory.
Hail and farewell, farewell and hail!
The going and the coming guest,
Welcome to daybreak's shining sail,
As to the light beyond the west!
The years may come, the years may go,
And bring the sad or merry mood;
Merry or sad, one thing we know,
That life is good! ah, life is good!

A WIFE'S ALLOWANCE.

They settle the question of the wife's allowance over in Africa much better than we do here," said Mrs. French-Sheldon, in a recent interview. "The husband allots a portion of land and cattle to each of his wives. When he marries he gives to the parents of the bride a certain number of cows and in the event of her having no children, if he is ambitious for a large family, he returns the wife to the parents and promptly receives back the cows. Of course he has just as many wives as he can afford. "This may sound dreadful to civilized ears, but I believe that in Africa polygamy is a beneficent institution. There are a great many more women than men, the men being killed off by wars and devoured by wild animals. As the women do most of the work, such as tilling the ground and caring for the herds, the more wives a man has, the less labor there is for each. Why, they positively hail with joy the advent of a new wife. When she comes to the kraal they have a merry-making for three days and the other wives bring the bride presents of bead belts of their own making, metal earrings, bunches of bananas, and great pots of pombe, a sort of drink. There isn't a particle of jealousy between them, and they never squabble over their gowns—because they don't wear any! Their sole wardrobe consists of some brass and bead ornaments. But they are the happiest creatures! They laugh and sing at their work, and dance together when it is done. I can't bear to think of those people being spoiled by civilization. Just picture the life of such a woman being saddened by bell skirts, pink teas, committee meetings and lectures on protoplasm!

"Before the young people marry, the girls and young men give all together in a sort of free love community. There is this difference, however—the man is constant to one woman. They pair off in little huts, and if there is a child, which is seldom the case, the man is obliged to set something aside for its support. When the young man, who is an "ehman," or warrior, concludes to settle down and become a "morán," elder or married man, he doesn't necessarily take for a wife the woman with whom he has been living. Still, no disgrace attaches to the woman from this relation, and she is entirely eligible as a wife for some other man. But once married she is expected to be constant to her husband.

"In one particular these savages are ahead of our civilization—among them the moral standard is the same for the men as for the women."

"I Can't Eat."
Is often heard. People who have taken Hood's Sarsaparilla highly recommend it for loss of appetite, indigestion, sick headache, and similar troubles. This medicine gently tones the stomach, assists digestion, and makes you "real hungry."

Constipation, and all troubles with the digestive organs and the liver are cured by Hood's Pills. Price 25c. per box.

KILLED FOR A KISS.
ANDERSON, IND., May 2.—When George Doyle went to the residence of Earl Dudding, a farmer near Anderson, he found Mrs. Dudding and her husband sitting on the porch. Doyle coolly walked up and kissed Mrs. Dudding, whereupon the husband drew his revolver and fired three times. Doyle will die. Dudding gave himself up, and his conduct is regarded as justifiable.
