THE FLOODS WEST.

The floods that have been gathering force and strength for many days all along the Mississippi river and its tributaries have reached New Orleans without any abatement in the upper river regions.

The more recent flood however farther west are more serious even - Sioux City, Iowa, was flooded without warning on the morning of the 18th, by the overflow of the Floyd river which flows through the centre of the city.

Eleven persons were reported drowned up to noon, the 18th. When the great wave in the Floyd struck the back water from the Mississippi, it went rushing back inundating stock yards, slaughter houses and railroad yards, drowning some 2,000 head of stock in one yard, and put an end to the further use of railroad yards and shops.

It is estimated that 8,000 people have been driven from their homes along the lower section of this river, and all business has been suspended with immense losses that cannot be estimated now.

Southwestern Texas has suffered in the last day or two from a most disastrous rain storm over an area of 800 miles square, with a rain fall of two inches in 12 hours. At Gainesville the rains of Saturday night have proved a perfect deluge; for miles crops are ruined. More than 1,700 feet of Santa Fe track has been washed away between that city and Purcell, I. T., while nearly every bridge is gone. No trains have arrived from the north since Saturday.

THE COLORED MAN.

Special.

BALTIMORE, May 29.—The colored man is up and in arms. Not satisfied with what the convention of June 4th, at Chicago will do, the colored preachers all through the country will tomorrow again hurl broadsides from every pulpit in which the colored man stands against the shooting and lynching of colored men in various parts of the country.

Those ladies dongola Oxford, offered by the New York Bargain House at 49 cents are the greatest bargains ever offered in Raleigh.

THEY WERE BRAVE MEN.

AND THEY SPOKE OUT HONESTLY WHAT THEY BELIEVED.

Some Most Remarkable Words From the Lips of Leading Professional Gentlemen in Europe and America.

Dr. Riddell was the most celebrated physician of England in Queen Anne's time. He amassed a large fortune, and was for many years the physician to the Queen, as well as to most of the English nobility.

Dr. Riddell observed of a friend before his death: "When I was young and yet unskilled in medicine I possessed at least twenty remedies for every disease, but since I have grown old in the art of healing I know more than twenty diseases for which I have not a single remedy."

The late Dr. H. J. Warner, an educated physician, writes before he died: "I have found many of the best proprietary medicines of the day are more successful than many physicians, and most of them have been discovered or used in actual medical practice."

Dr. William Edward Robeson of the Royal Navy of England wrote to a London newspaper called the Family Doctor as follows: "Having had more than seventeen years' experience in my profession, I can conscientiously and emphatically state that I have been able to give more relief and effect more cures by the use of Warner's Safe Cure than by all other medicines ascertainable to the profession."

The late Dr. Dio Lewis, who seldom prescribed any medicine, wrote as follows: "I found myself the victim of a serious kidney trouble I should use Warner's Safe Cure. The testimony of hundreds of intelligent and very reputable gentlemen hardly leaves room to doubt that it is one of those happy discoveries which occasionally bring aid to suffering humanity."

Dr. R. A. Gunn, dean of the United States Medical College and Editor of the Medical Tribune, some time since wrote and published a book in which he said: "The ingredients of Warner's Safe Cure are among the most valuable medicines of our materia medica, and the combination is such as to insure the best possible action on the kidneys and urinary organs."

Dr. Andrews Wilson, F. R. S., editor of Health, in replying through his paper to a correspondent who had written him regarding Warner's Safe Cure, said: "Warner's Safe Cure is perfectly safe and perfectly reliable." These are physicians so skilled, so independent, so honest, so true to the conscientious teachings of their noble profession, that they dare tell the truth to kings or queens or the whole world. All honor to them.

That Tired Feeling

Is a dangerous condition due directly to depleted or impure blood. It should not be allowed to continue, as in its debility the system is especially liable to serious attacks of illness.

Hood's Sarsaparilla is in this enervating state. Possessing just those elements which the system needs and readily seizes, this medicine purifies the blood, and imparts a feeling of serene strength which is comforting and satisfying.

Hood's Sarsaparilla is the best remedy for that weakness which prevails at change of season, climate or life. "I have been convinced that Hood's Sarsaparilla is one of the greatest medicines in the world. I say this for the benefit of all other tired out, run down, hard-working women."
