PHILADELPHIA, June 13th.—The International Typographical Union Convention began here today in the Drexel Institute. President W. D. Prescott of Toronto is in the chair. All the Unions in the country are represented and much important business will be transacted. Among these will be the future attitude of the I. T. U. to the United Typothetis; the influence of the Pittsburg strike on the craft throughout the country; the further consideration of the short hour work day; the future of the home for Union printers; the apprenticeship question which is now very unsatisfactory and a thorough reorganization of the International body on the lines of the reform, in other words, an effort will be made to do away with the centralization of power in the Executive body.

That Tired Feeling

Which is so specially overpowering when the seasons change, and that prostration following severe attacks of illness, are overcome by Hood's Sarsaparilla, which imparts the strength and appetite so much desired. Hood's Sarsaparilla has accomplished wonders for people who were "all run down." Hood's Pills have won high praise for their easy yet efficient action. Try them.

MATERIALIZED SPIRIT FORMS.

KALAMAZOO, MICH., June 11.—Stories of wonderful Spiritualistic manifestations come from Cass county, where, it is claimed, James Riley is exhibiting the power to produce in daylight or in a brilliantly lighted room materialized spirits. Persons highly respected in this community are ready to swear that in the home of Riley they have met and talked with departed friends. The bodies produced are said to be solid as flesh and bone and while the manifestation lasts the figures are filled with life and are apparently in a happy mood. At least 500 visitors have crowded the home of Riley during the last three months among them many of the leading scientists, doctors, lawyers, literary men and liberals of the country coming from points as far away as San Francisco and New York.

All kinds of tests have been made to prevent fraud and many confirmed skeptics have become devout Spiritualists after viewing the work of Riley. Attempts to hold the materialized forms have failed, and when messages have been written on slates and an effort made to prevent the spirit hand from taking the slates they have been broken or twisted from the hands of the inquisitive visitors.

At every seance the mothers, brothers, sisters, or friends of members of the audience have appeared, been recognized, and where doubt has existed the spirits have on several occasions adopted novel methods to prove the truth of their claims for identity. Monday, in the presence of a large party, Abraham Lincoln stepped into the room and holding a slate to the light wrote a message. Little children have been materialized and crept or walked upon the floor. The different manifestations are of such material form that the country round about is wild with excitement.

Riley is 49 years old and is below the average intelligence, as he has never attended school in his life. His health is being destroyed by the spiritual exhibitions. He refuses to accept money from visitors. Several offers of $25 to $100 per week salary to travel on the road have been refused by him.

Enough money has been spent on the roads of this State in the last century to have made every main road in the commonwealth as hard as a rock and as smooth as a floor, and reasonably level and straight—if only the money had been used systematically and not wasted away on wasteful experiments and in "repairs" which are worse than neglect. Enough will be similarly used in the next hundred years. Isn't it about time for the thrifty people of the state to begin to look at their own permanent interests in this matter?—Norwich, (Conn.) Bulletin.

LARGEST CITY CIRCULATION.

RALEIGH, JUNE 13, 1892

THE FARMER HIS OWN VICTIM.

Never before in the history of this country has there existed such wide spread and all pervading discontent and political unrest as has been found in all sections of late. Especially has this been the case among the agricultural population. Farming like every other business, has been made to feel the force of the sharp and increasing competition that is making itself felt more and more each year in every line of enterprise.

Profits in every sort of business, and margins in all lines of trade, are being reduced by this close competition, until economy and dispatch are essential to success. Old methods and expensive supplies will fail the farmer as well as the carriage builder every time. The seasons for several years have not been as favorable, and the prices realized have not been as high for farm products as in some years past. And while legislation has not been in all cases as favorable to the farmers' interests as it might have been; still no amount of legislation can long render farming or any other business profitable unless such farming or other business be conducted in accordance with the inevitable laws of trade and commerce; that is, the greatest possible production at the least possible expense. The supply and demand will ultimately regulate prices, in spite all sorts of legislation and any amount of combination, unless such legislation be such as to destroy confidence and bring ruin upon all. The grievances the farmers are complaining of up and down the land, are simply the results of their own doings. The Alliance, the Third party, the Democratic or Republican parties, or any other party may get into power and legislate for the farmer as best as it is possible to do; and still, so long as a farmer goes in debt for five dollars worth of manure to put on an acre of poor land and expends twenty dollars in cultivating, harvesting and selling the products, for which he gets twenty dollars, and buys his flour, meat and hay, the meantime, he will fail. But if he feeds his home-made hay and corn to his home-raised horse with which he cultivates his barn-yard manured acre of land and gets fifteen dollars for the products, while he and his family have been living on his home raised bacon and flour, he has not failed, but if he will keep on in that way, will get rich. Legislation can't do that for him unless it makes it a criminal offense for him to give a mortgage on his crop, or buy a pound of meat, flour, hay or guano.
