RALEIGH, FRIDAY, JUNE 17, 1892.

NO. 48

The Weather Today.

Friday, June 17th, '92.
For North Carolina—Maximum temperature, 91; minimum temperature, 67.
Local forecast for Raleigh—Fair and warm; showers and thunder storms probably Saturday evening.

CITY IN BRIEF.

Some fine Georgia water melons are expected here in a few days
It now looks like our opera house will be in readiness for exhibitions next winter.
The little colored boy Walter Hall, who was burned yesterday afternoon, died last night, at about 10 o'clock.
Mr. M. H. Brown, Jr., is quite sick at the residence of his father on South Wilmington street.
We hope Mr. Page will push matters on his new hotel, and if possible get it ready by our centennial celebration.
A large number of our citizens will go to Morehead next week to attend the opening of the Teachers Assembly.
Mr. E. A. Jones who sustained injuries by a fall from a window of the Hotel Florence Wednesday night last, is much improved. He was not hurt as bad as reported
Mr. James Howard, was paralyzed in Norfolk last Wednesday morning and brought to this city the same afternoon. His left side is disabled. Mr. Howard's wife is in Durham
Thirty seven members of the Charlotte Caval Battalion went to Norfolk a few days ago, for a week's training on the United States' steamer Newark.
Now, for an early meeting of the Board of Aldermen to ratify the resolutions adopted by the recent meeting of the Chamber of Commerce. Then the matter will be in "apple pie shape" all around for a rousing 4th of July.
Get ready for Morehead. The season is about to open under the most favorable auspices. Remember when you want to spend money for pleasure, you can find just as many advantages in North Carolina, as elsewhere. Therefore spend the money among our own people. They need it.
With its electric lights reflecting in the beautiful lake, its rustic bridges, its nicely arranged swinging chairs, its bathing facilities, and, in fact, the general surroundings, Brookside Park will compare favorably with any of the pleasure grounds to be found in most cities the size of Raleigh. We are glad to see that our people highly appreciate it.
The encampment of ex Confederate veterans promises to be well attended, and, if energy can make it so, it will be a success. Col. Hall, of Wilmington, who has the matter in charge has received all the assistance possible from the State authorities. If enough money or supplies can be obtained, it is intended to make the encampment one of the grandest gatherings ever assembled in the Old North State.
The huge piles of rock still remain in front of the residences of Messrs. C. B. Root and Julius Lewis on Hillsboro and Saunders streets. The Board of Aldermen meet to night. Can't they make some order relative to the matter. The rocks have ceased to be ornamental, if indeed, they ever were. Their normal condition would be in the street as pavement.
It should go without saying but the management of Brookside Park, is first class. Ladies and children can visit the place at any time with perfect confidence that everything will be done to render them comfortable. Dr. Smith, the gentlemanly supervisor of the park will take great pleasure in attending to their wants. It is a delightful retreat these warm days.

The fountain in Moore Square has been enclosed.
Travel on the railroads is much improved lately.
The stay at home club will, no doubt, soon be organized.
The summer exodus has commenced in earnest.
Be cautious about drinking too much ice water these hot days.
Don't forget the men's prayer meeting at Central M. E. Church tonight at 8:15.
Durham court adjourned yesterday on account of the sickness of Judge Whitaker who has returned to his home near this city.
Take Hood's and only Hood's, because Hood's Sarsaparilla Cures. It possesses merit peculiar to itself. Try it yourself.
Can't the railroad officials give us one cent a mile rates for the 4th of July celebration? It would be an immense advantage to Raleigh.
Read the advertisement of Messrs. Thomas H. Briggs & Sons and secure your preserving kettles and ice cream freezers.
A brilliant entertainment is talked of by members of the First Baptist church complimentary to a lady member. Full particulars will be announced in due time.
The law allows only a few days more in which to list state and county taxes. It is an indictable offense not to give in property for taxation, so, the sooner it is attended to, the better.
An important meeting of the Board of Trustees of the Agricultural and Mechanical College, was held yesterday. Reports of the different officials were received. The Board of Agriculture was in session today.
The remains of Mrs. N. W. Price, whose death is noted elsewhere, arrived in the city this afternoon at 4 o'clock. The services and interment took place at Oakwood Cemetery.
Mr. W. H. Weatherspoon, of the police force showed us today a ripe tomato grown at his place on South, East street, No. 731. It is the first we have seen of our native growth.
The hot wave throughout the country continues. Many sunstrokes are reported in large cities but in this section, we are free from them. It becomes all, however, to be careful of overheating as dangerous results are likely to follow.
The procurement of a lot of flour by Ed Engelhard to be rubbed over the body of the little colored boy who was burned yesterday for the alleviation of his pain, was a kindly act. "Ed" may look "gruff" at times, but he has a "big heart," all the same.
There are rumors afloat of a contemplated belt line of electric railway. Our people may rest assured that whatever can be consistently done in that direction, will be carried out. The company is in the hands of men who realize the wants of the public to the fullest extent, and they have the energy to carry it out.
A Fine One.
We saw at the store of Messrs. W. C. & A. B. Stronach today, a cabbage weighing twelve pounds, presented to the Soldiers' Home by Mr. J. N. Hubbard, who raised it on the grounds of the Agricultural and Mechanical College of which he is the efficient steward.
Sad Intelligence.
Mr. P. C. Hardie, received a dispatch today announcing the death in Petersburg, Va., of Mrs. N. W. Price, mother of Mrs. Hardie.
Mrs. Price was over 70 years of age and a most estimable lady. Her remains will be brought here for interment.
We deeply sympathize with the afflicted family.

Elected.
The Grand Lodge, K. of P. has closed its work in Wilmington, after a most harmonious session. It was agreed, among other things, to establish a fund for an Orphan Asylum.
The following are the officers for the ensuing year:
Past Grand Chancellor—Jno. M. Sherwood, Raleigh
Grand Chancellor—G. D. Bebbow, Greensboro
Grand Vice Chancellor—E. A. Ebert, Winston
Grand Prelate—J. F. Lyon, Gibson.
Grand Keeper of Records and Seals—J. L. Dudley, of Wilmington
Grand Master of Exchequer—Jno. Ward, Raleigh.
Grand Master at Arms—J. H. Hill, Goldsboro.

Now, is a Precious, Magnificent Word Worth More Than All Eternity.
Mediocrity stands waiting for some thing to turn up; sunshine one day, shadow next, then the arbitration of values—The Red Flag, where fortunes are lost and won; where the credit victims fall and the cash champion gathers in his sledgehammers. Ten per cent. cash before delivery is success; fifty per cent on eternal time sooner or later, means oblivion. Undersell is the father of the twin brothers, "popularity" and "prosperity." "The Ledger" is the author of the big bulk of the commercial calamities that crowd the black lists of Dun and Bradstreet. Only to show that it is not luck, but pluck—not in time, place or circumstances but in the man with his knock-down logic and his sledgehammers that positively pulverizes the credit leigons who buy and sell on unlimited time. "Eloquent Cash," keen, business men read aright the living lessons of the present day; they see on the wall the handwriting that the Czar of Credit is gradually vacating the field before the constant cannonade from Swindell's, where merit and undervalued coupled with honorbright, and the only ammunition used in the sharp shooter's "Eloquent Metallic Cash" The rapid turning of cash, contrast, eloquent with the capital that is hopelessly locked up in the ledger's fatal folds and is an irresistible argument in favor of the lowest minimum of profit for the metallic ring of the "nimble sixpence."
Under the tyranny of credit a man feels crippled as soon as he gets the bulk of his goods from the shelves to the sweatbook, and this merciless grip tightens till the final scene—the sheriff and the lawyer. The ledger goes to the paper mills, the stock to the gladiator of net spot cash under the hammer at 40 cents on the dollar, and the whole thing is gathered in Swindell's mammoth store, and the next day, you, dear reader can buy them of us at a split dollar price.
Every day in life these melancholy illustrations sadden the panorama of the commercial story
Yours Obediently,
D. T. SWINDELL

We deeply regret to note that the health of Justice Davis, of the Supreme court, is still precarious. He will soon go to Morehead where we hope he will recuperate.

White Skirtings.
A few more of the white skirtings left from the special sale of the last two weeks. These skirtings are offered at about half New York cost, to clear the lot. There are still some of the better grades left and if any one wishes a cheap white dress, this is the lot to choose from, for when these are disposed of, no more can be had at near the prices they are now being sold.
