Fogs in August.
For every fog in August it is said, there will be a snow in winter. If there is any snow in it there will be one big snow next winter as there was a tremendous fog this morning. Watch out for them this month.

Glad of It.
The State Chronicle says: "Some important matters are under consideration relative to the construction of a handsome and wide Macadamized road or boulevard from Hillsboro road to Pullen Park. The road leading past the park is to be graded and Macadamized."

New Professor.
We are delighted to know that the trustees of our State University at Chapel Hill have selected for the chair of geology and mineralogy Prof. Collier Cobb, a son of the Rev. N. B. Cobb, author of a most excellent and useful school map of North Carolina. Mr. Cobb has been a most successful teacher in Harvard and is a gentleman of the highest literary excellence. His many friends in Raleigh and other points in the state will be delighted to hear of his election to the position named and feel that he will do honor alike to himself and our noble university.

Thompson are the committee, with power to appoint local committees, to arrange for the meeting of the convention. It is intended to meet Gen. Adlai E. Stevenson on the border of North Carolina and Virginia and escort him to Raleigh. The executive committee will meet at the Yarboro House on August 30th.

Old Soldiers.
In answer to enquiries we can say that, so far as we have learned, no special time has yet been set for the old veterans re union at Wrightsville, but presume it will be determined as soon as the next encampment is over, which commences next week. These re unions should be made as comfortable as possible for the old soldiers, and we have no doubt a good time can be anticipated. They need all the attention our people can afford. They deserve it.

A Good One.
The following is from the Greensboro Record:
"We hear a right good story a drummer got off on some Durham boys the other day. The "commercial tourist" took dinner in Durham, and happened to get at a table usually occupied exclusively by Durhamites. He had to move to another, and in joking with the party, asked if they "filled up" the table. They replied that they did, and that Durham always filled up everything wherever she went. The drummer said he believed it—in fact he knew of one case of his own knowledge. Asked where, he replied—"the Keeley Institute at Greensboro." The boys let him alone then, and he finished his dinner in silence; but he don't know whether he had better stop in Durham any more or not."

A gentleman who was in a position to know, told us this morning that there was not as much liquor drinking in Raleigh now, by at least one half, as there was ten years ago. To be plain, he said that there was twice as much spirits used here ten years ago as now.

The Granville Grays, of Oxford, passed through the city today on their way to attend the encampment at Wrightsville.
