

The Daily Evening Visitor.

VOL. XXVII.

RALEIGH, FRIDAY, OCTOBER 21, 1892.

NO. 153

CITY IN BRIEF.

"Columbus Day."

Stronach's auditorium is finely decorated for the ball tonight.

Our merchants generally report a brisk trade during the present week.

The Durham Globe says, "Hal Ayer's fair was worth going miles to see."

The Supreme Court has the case of the State vs Brogden under consideration.

The registration books will close tomorrow week. See that your name is all right.

The "St. Felix Sisters Company" are looked for Metropolitan Hall next Thursday night.

No robbery of any kind has taken place here this week which is somewhat remarkable in view of the large crowd present.

Scrofula, whether hereditary or acquired, is thoroughly expelled from the blood by Hood's Sarsaparilla, the great blood purifier.

Col. Holliday, president of the Agricultural and Mechanical College, has written a beautiful ode to the memory of Sir Walter Raleigh.

The assistant marshals of the centennial propose to make chief marshal Heck a present of a silver service as a testimonial of their regard.

The centennial ball at Stronach's auditorium tonight will be a grand sight. Go early, secure seats and see the quaint old dresses our grandmothers wore a hundred years ago.

The eclipse of the sun yesterday, although not total, caused much interest throughout the country. It was observed at many points by scientists.

Some beautiful paintings will be sold at auction tonight, at the studio of Mr. Randall, the artist. This will be a good chance for lovers of historic art.

We were shown to day a ripe cherry, the second growth this year, from a tree on the premises of Mrs. Elizabeth Holder in the south eastern section of the city.

The prompt expulsion of those who took advantage of license for a legitimate business at the fair to carry on a system of gambling, meets with the concurrence of a vast majority of our people.

We have received a nicely gotten up and most admirably prepared catalogue of the Supreme Court library, arranged by R. H. Bradley, Esq., the efficient librarian of the court.

All persons having bills or charges of any kind relating to the Raleigh centennial will please send them at once to Chas. B. Root, chairman of the auditing committee, at the city hall.

The "Jarbeau" company gave their farewell performance at Metropolitan Hall last night to a good house. It is a splendid troupe and we feel sure it will always receive a cordial welcome in Raleigh. We most highly commend it to the public wherever it may go.

Little Alice Love who had her left eye bursted out by a falling rocket at the fireworks Wednesday night, is getting on as well as could be expected, yet she is in a bad condition suffering very much pain. It is a cruelly wound. She is having the careful attention of Drs. Lewis, Battle, and Goodwin who are doing all they can to relieve the little sufferer.

We have heard some little complaint in the matter of awarding the premiums in the poultry division yesterday. We know, of course, that it is a delicate matter to so make awards as to create entire satisfaction, but we would modestly suggest that in all cases such judges should be selected as are experts or fully acquainted with the articles in the departments for which they are chosen.

The Fireworks.

We are authorized to say that the fireworks which we stated some time since had been selected by our friend Mr. A. B. Stronach, were not accepted, but that the committee in charge of the pyrotechnic display took the matter in hand. The Messrs. Stronach had no hand or part in the selection. It is due to these gentlemen that this fact should be made known.

The Centennial Ball Tonight.

The State Fair Marshals have been invited by the management of the centennial ball to present their regalias this evening to the young ladies at the grand ball. The Newton band has very kindly consented to furnish the promenade music before the ball takes place. The ball will be in Stronach's auditorium and the dancing floor proper will be fenced in and only those participating in the dance and the chaperones will be admitted within that enclosure. Seats will be furnished for spectators; first come first served. The concert will begin at 8 o'clock and the ball will begin at 9:30 o'clock sharp with the grand centennial march. The auditorium will be beautifully decorated. The centennial ball will this year take the place of the regular marshal's ball. THOS. BADGER, JR., Chief Manager.

Personal.

Miss Pauline Ferrall, of Durham, is in the city.

We are pleased to see Maj. W. B. Gulick in the city.

Mr. Geo. C. Jordan, of Staunton, Va., is in the city.

Mr. Albert J. Andrews, formerly of Raleigh but now of Atlanta, Ga., is in the city.

Miss Addie Sue Harris, of New Berne, is visiting her parents on East Hargett street.

Miss Janet Andrews, who has been for several months in Washington, D. C., is in the city.

We are pleased to meet our friend Mr. John S. Bryan, of Asheville, formerly of Raleigh, in the city. He is looking well.

Rev. N. S. Jones, who has been in the city during the week attending the fair left this morning for his home in Salisbury.

Miss Janie Radisill, of Charlotte, is spending the week in the city visiting the fair, and is stopping with the family of Capt. Faucett.

Mr. John W. Watson, a former Raleigh boy but now of Kissimmee, Fla., is here visiting his relatives and friends. John is looking healthy, happy and as handsome as he "used to was."

A Delightful Evening.

The Epworth League never does things by halves. Last night it held a reception in the Sunday school rooms of Edenton Street Methodist church complimentary to all visiting and resident Methodists in the city. The reception was largely attended by the Raleigh people and quite a large number of strangers were there. All that were present seemed to enter heartily into the spirit of the occasion, and the evening was most enjoyably spent. These receptions are purely informal and are devoted mainly to social intercourse among those attending. Everybody present last night seemed to know everybody else, and the strangers present were soon made to feel that they were not among strangers at all. Occasionally during the evening, at the tapping of the bell, all took their seats and were entertained with delightful music, vocal and instrumental, and with choice recitations. Among those contributed in this way to the pleasure of the evening were Misses Carrie Young, of Warrenton, Laura Gordon, of Wilson, Alice Jones, Birdie Lawrence, May Woodell, Mrs. W. H. Bobbitt, and Mr. H. M. Barrom, of Raleigh. The singing was excellent, the recitations were equally as good, and several of the performers were warmly encored.

The Fair.

It is conceded by all that yesterday was not only the crowning success of the present fair, but in advance of any that has preceded it. We have no means by which to arrive at the crowd in attendance, but from a comparison of views among those present it may be placed at not less than twelve thousand. It is certain that the exhibition has been a complete pecuniary success. The Indian show has been the great feature of the occasion, and it certainly has not failed in meeting the expectation of the public. The races have been fine and, in fact, the general sentiment is that the fair in each and every particular has fully come up to the program.

Agricultural Society.

Last night there was a meeting of the society in the Hall of the House of Representatives at which considerable business was transacted. Several interesting addresses were delivered and the election of officers was proceeded with. The present efficient president was unanimously re-elected as was also Mr. H. W. Ayer, Secretary.
