LARGEST CITY CIRCULATION
RALEIGH, OCT. 27, 1892
THE GREAT SALE

The next important event in our city, leaving out the election, will be the great sale of blooded stock to take place on Friday, November 11th, at the stables on Morgan street, formerly occupied by W. C. McMackin. It will consist of some of the finest horses in the South raised by B. P. Williamson Esq. In his introductory Mr. Williamson says:
 The breeding of fine horses in North Carolina is a matter of great importance just now. The writer's experience and observation is, that there is a constant and growing demand here at home for well bred, smooth, well turned, stylish harness horses whether they go miles in 5 minutes or in 3 1/2 minutes, at prices ranging from $350 to $500. I have sold, myself, inside of eight months, thirteen head for nearly $6,000, an average of over $450 per head, and I believe 500 to 1,000 such can be sold here in our own State every year, and there is no lack of demand for such horses outside of this State.
 Fine horses were never so much in demand as now, and bring money quick, while common ones are not wanted anywhere at any decent price. Nowhere on earth can such horses as are most in demand be produced for less money, and require less care, than in our own State, where climate, soil, water, and all conditions are as favorable, if not more so, than elsewhere.
 We advise our friends and the public generally to send to Capt. B. P. Williamson for catalogue.

SHORT, SHARP AND SNAPPY.
 If "long distance" piano playing matches continue, an epidemic of lynching may confidently be expected.
 The statistical fiend is now eating his white bread, so to speak. Later on he may be compelled to put up with insane asylum fare.
 From this distance New York city politics appear to be made up of equal parts of addition, division and silence.
 "Where are the poets?" asks an exchange, in half a column of leaded editorial. Great Scott! man, why the woods are full of them in this section, and many of them are, figuratively at least, sawing wood for a living.

There is a good deal of rot in the current newspaper talk about a new and higher sphere for women. No woman ever did, and no woman ever will occupy a higher or nobler sphere than that of mother.
 The man who doubts the natural adaptability of the Irish for politics has only to cast his eyes towards New York city, where three Irishmen are running as candidates for mayor. One of them is bound to be elected.
 It was a New Yorker, of course, who started the story that Chicago turned a real, live elephant loose on her streets in order to assure all intending visitors that "seeing the elephant" was common in Chicago.
 The man who has made up his mind as to how he will vote is not looking in the newspapers for a "convincer."
 We live in an age of education. The newspaper pictures of the new Alaskan volcano show the smoke issuing from a tall smoke stack. How many people knew that volcanoes used smoke stacks?

WAS IT DE SOTO'S BODY?

St. Louis Globe Democrat.
 "I believe that I helped to bury Don Fernando Soto," said Oliver Regis, a native Louisianian, now at the Southern. "In 1873 I was living at Baton Rouge, and, in company with a couple of other young men named Davis and Hurin, went up the river on a hunting expedition. We went up above the present site of Port Hudson, where the river makes a sharp bend to the west.
 "There had been a big rise in the river a month before—one of the greatest ever known. We landed on a lot of rubbish that had been swept down by the river, and used some of it to cook our supper. Hurin sat on an old log that appeared to have been washed up from the bottom of the stream, and tapped on it with a hatchet. It gave out a hollow sound, and he began to chip into it. The wood was soft and spongy, and he soon cut through the outer crust, and, putting his hand inside, drew forth a rusty sword. We quickly demolished the log, and found it to contain a helmet, badly corroded, and a human skeleton, that of a man apparently six feet tall. On one of the bony fingers was a large seal ring, and about the neck was a small chain, to which was suspended a bronze crucifix.
 "We carried the skeleton inland a quarter of a mile and buried it on a little knoll between two large live oak trees. Hurin kept the sword and Davis appropriated the crucifix. It is said that De Soto's body was incased in a hollow tree and sunk in the Mississippi river in 1542. Whether the skeleton we found was his or not I do not know, but it had every appearance of having lain in the river for centuries."

When Baby was sick, we gave her Castoria.
 When she was a Child, she cried for Castoria.
 When she became Miss, she clung to Castoria.
 When she had Children, she gave them Castoria.

Bill—"Where's de horse been, Chimie?"
 Jim—"In de Columbus parade."
 Bill—"Who rode him, Chimie?"
 Jim (proudly)—"Columbus."
 "Do you always feed the baby from a tea cup?" asked the visitor.
 "Yes," said Noopoo. "My wife is an ardent prohibitionist and won't have a bottle in the house."

 An ounce of sand in a pound of sugar will knock down a pile of prayers as high as a steeple.
 Your baby isn't any sweeter and prettier than 40 dozen other babies.

Some idea of the size of the multitude which will cross the Atlantic to visit the World's Fair next year may be gained from the fact mentioned in a Sun cablegram that nearly 3500 members of the Regent street Polytechnic have already engaged passage.

Should an epidemic of resignations break out among the millionaires of the U. S. Senate, it would unquestionably have an effect upon the prices for seats in the legislatures of some states; not our own, of course.

A carriage bag is a pretty gift for carriage people. It is made of cloth lined and wadded, into which the feet are slipped and the mouth drawn up nearly to the knees, insuring comfort on a cold day.

WOODWORTH CITY lies about 30 miles north of Chattanooga, within a few miles of Altamont, the county seat of Grundy county, and between Tracey City and the celebrated Berebaba Springs, the Saratoga of the South. It is in the centre of the rapidly developing coal and iron district of Tennessee, and within its borders are found coal, iron, zinc, marble and asbestos, with various hard woods, such as oak, chestnut, maple, beech, locust, hickory, ash, pine, cherry and black walnut in abundance. The village of Grundy, with several hundred inhabitants, contains Churches, schools, stores, Post-office and telegraph station, and a number of manufacturing industries, all of which are located on the property and form part of Woodworth City.
 The proceeds of the sale of these lots will be used to develop the mineral resources of the property and build up a large and thriving city. Quick application for these lots should be made, as the right is reserved to advance the price without notice.
