TO THE MODERN GIRL.

IRVING 8. UNHERHILL.

"A man's a man for a' that."-Burns What tho' arrayed, fair renegade, In tailor made and a' that Close fitring skirt of scanty girt,

In boit-ed shirt and a' that; What tho' you thus appear so trim, So tall and slim and a' that, What's man that you should mimle him? A girl's a girl for a' that.

What tho' you wear full short the hair.

Assume the air and a' that; What tho' in coat and vest again You are the man and a' that; What the' you try with Oxford tie, With four-in-hand and a' that, You ll understand it bye and bye-A giri's a girl for a' that.

Suspenders, too, of vivid blue Or other hue and a that, Immodest girl, you denot hide rut wear outside and a that. You're not to man inferior, Of cours you're not and a' that, But dress is quite exterior-

A girl's a girl tor a' that.

And would you smo! e the cigarette And would you bet and a' tha ? And would you don the walking stick Raise merry nick and a' that?

And would you on your knee propose To vulgar man a' that? Why, any clever fellow knows A girl's a girl for a' that.

You follow fasuion's ups and downs In hats and gown and a' that, You're wo drous fickle with your frowns

And smiles and wiles and a' that. Yet, lucky lass, that owns the earth, You naugory, haughty autocrat-You pith o' nonsense, pride o' worth We love you more for a' that. -Buffalo Quips
