LARGEST CITY CIRCULATION.

RALEIGH, NOV. 4, 1892.

Eight States have already well equipped naval militia; and Pennsylvania and Vermont will soon increase the number to ten.

According to the Chicago papers Col. Ingersoll has been offered the princely sum of $150,000 on signing the contract for 150 lectures to be delivered in different cities in the United States. He declined the offer.

U. S. war vessels are again in Charleston harbor. They are not there, however, to fight, but to participate in the ceremonies attending the annual rejoicing over the preservation of that city from earthquakes.

There is no doubt about the intellectual progress this country is making. The number of fool election bets is smaller than in any previous campaign.

Either Americans are not open to the charge of clanishness, or the New York Herald circulates widely among Russians. The Herald arranged a prize competition between the Russian cartoonist De Grim and Tom Nast, who for these many years has been known as king of cartoonists, its readers being the judges, and the Russian got 863 votes more votes than Nast, and the prize, $2,000.

Luther Springer, of Hancock, Me., owns a horse, whose days of usefulness being over, he hired a man to kill him. The man, taking an axe, started to lead the horse into the woods, but after going some distance the animal suddenly attacked the would be slayer and, throwing him down, trampled upon him and injured him so badly that it is feared he will not recover. At last accounts the horse's prospects of living were much better than the man's.

STATE NEWS

Dr. Templeton, the prohibition candidate for Governor speaks at Goldsboro Saturday afternoon at 1 o'clock.

The Goldsboro Storage and Warehouse Company, are erecting an additional large cotton warehouse to supply their increasing demand.

The Goldsboro Cotton Mill recently purchased by Mr. L. D. Guley, will be started up the 10th inst., and kept on full running tire.

The Goldsboro Headlight says there is considerable uneasiness among our farmers about their corn crops, as there are many bugs inside the chuck that are completely destroying the grain.

During the month of October more fish were shipped over the A. & N. C. R. R. than ever during any one month in the history of the road. The fish industry at Morehead City and New Berns has reached mammoth proportions says the Goldsboro Argus.

It is now said that the "ruction" on the moon has something to do with the warm weather.

A BACK POET.

The poet taste and ability of a young colored man of Dayton, O., attracted the attention of members of the Western Association of Writers at the last meeting there, and Dr. James Newton Matthews, of Mason, Ill., writes concerning him in the following appreciative vein:

A month or two ago, while in Dayton, O., I attended a meeting of the western authors. About half way down the informal programme the presiding officer announced the reading of a poem by Paul Dunbar. Just the name for a poet, thought I. Great was the surprise of the audience to see stepping lightly down the aisle, between the rows of fluttering fans and the assembled beauty and of Dayton, a slender negro lad, as black as the core of Cheops' pyramid. He ascended the rostrum with the coolness and dignity of a cultured entertainer, and delivered a poem in a tone "as musical as is Apollo's lute." He was applauded to the echo between the stanzas, and heartily encored at the conclusion. He then disappeared from the hall as suddenly as he had entered it, and many were the whispered conjectures as to the personality of the man and the originality of his verses, none believing it possible that one of his age and color could produce a thing of such evident merit.

After repeated inquiries I succeeded in locating the rising laureate of the colored race, and called upon him. He was an elevator boy in one of the downtown business blocks. I found him seated in the chair on the lower landing, hastily glancing at the July Century and jotting down notes on a handy pencil tablet. Not having time to converse with me there, he invited me into the elevator, and during a few excursions from floor to floor, I gathered from him the following facts: His parents were both slaves—his father having escaped into Canada from the south. His mother is living in Dayton, and he is supporting her and himself on the pitiful sum of four dollars per week. He is nineteen years of age. In reply to a question, he stated that he had been writing rhymes since he was thirteen. His favorite authors are Whittier and James Whitcomb Riley. —Indianapolis Journal.

ONE OF HAM'S JOKES.

Babe Boston's mule was sick and a neighbor advised him to administer calomel.

"How will I get it into him?" asked Babe.

"Put it in a quill in his mouth and blow it down his throat," responded the neighbor.

The neighbor met him two or three days afterwards. But was as thin as a rail, looked right green, and was all doubled up.

"What's the matter with you?" asked the neighbor,

Babe placed his hand pathetically over his stomach, gave a sigh like a blacksmith's bellows with a hole in it and said:

"The darn mule blowed fust."

WOODWORTH CITY!

In the heart of the Iron and Coal District of Tennessee.

Climate salubrious, never hot and never cold. Land unequalled for agricultural purposes, and mineral resources unlimited.

WOODWORTH CITY lies about 30 miles north of Chattanooga, within a few miles of Dalton, the county seat of Grundy county, and between Tracy City and the celebrated Beersheba Springs, the Saratoga of the South. It is in the centre of the rapidly developing coal and iron district of Tennessee, and within its borders are found coal, iron, zinc, marble and asbestos, with various hard woods, such as oak, chestnut, maple, peach, locust, hickory, ash, pine, cherry and black walnut in abundance. The village of Woodworth, with several hundred inhabitants, contains Churches, Schools, Stores, Post-office and telegraph station, and a number of manufacturing industries, all of which are located on the property and form part of Woodworth City.

The proceeds of the sale of these lots will be used to develop the mineral resources of the property and build up a large and thriving city. Quick application for these lots should be made, as the right is reserved to advance the price without notice.
