LARGEST CITY CIRCULATION.

RALEIGH, NOV. 10, 1892

The man lost his money is now thoroughly convinced that it is very wicked to bet on the elections.

The defeated candidate usually has a poor opinion of the judgment of his fellow citizens.

The cabinet makers are already hard at work. They do more for less pay than any other men in this country.

The jewsmith who has had the floor for weeks will now have to come down to plebeian work with his hands, while his tongue is given a rest.

After everything else has been suggested as the cause of the result, that is cheering or depressing according to your point of view, it may occur to some of the explainers that it was votes.

A man in Rochester, N. Y., has invented a machine for voting by electricity. It does away with tickets and ballot boxes. The results in the wards or precincts can be announced for all the candidates the instant the polls are closed. Thus every one may know the result of a presidential election before bedtime. The voter pushes a button; and the machine does the rest.

STATE NEWS.

The postoffice at Fort Barnwell, kept by Miss Fannie Wooten was broken open and robbed of its contents on Monday night last.

Mr. J. B. Latham and M. Miller, both of Winston, have made assignments.

The Rocky Mount tobacco exposition last week was a grand success.

The Broad Street Baptist church in Winston is being repaired and remodeled and receiving many improvements. Success to the brethren there.

Rev. W. W. Walker, Rector of the Episcopal church at Oxford, has resigned that charge and will go to Americus, Ga., to take charge of a church there.

Rev. Dr. F. W. E. Paschau, pastor of St. Paul's Evangelical Lutheran church at Wilmington, has tendered his resignation.

The Durham Sun tells of a large yellow mad dog, that attacked two men near that place. They succeeded in dispatching him by firing twelve pistol balls into all parts of his body. Strong feature of the incident was that no blood whatever flowed from either one of the twelve wounds.

At the recent synod of the Presbyterian church it was decided to establish a high school at the old site of the Bingham school, near Mebane. The school will probably be opened by the first of January next. It will be known as the High School of Orange Presbytery.

An exchange says: "The hosiery mills at Scotland Neck and Kinston are receiving more orders than they can fill, while similar mills are in the course of erection at Tarboro and New Berne. The Tarboro Cotton mills made a profit of 20 per cent. for the past year, and have just declared a dividend of 8 per cent."

Heavy rains prevailed in many parts of the state, but it did not seem to materially dampen the efforts of politicians.

SAVED FROM A WAR TIMES SAW-BONES.

St. Louis Chronicle: "The most terrible exhibition of barbaric cruelty I witnessed during the war occurred at Richmond, Ky., said Capt. J. E. Elgin, of Louisville. "I was with the gallant John Morgan, and more's the pity that the brutality I refer to was perpetrated by one of our men. He was a young surgeon, just out of a medical college, and his blood was aflame with ardor for the Confederacy. When the battle was ended I was placed in charge of one of the hospital corps. We were going over the field, ministering to the dead and dying, and my attention was attracted by the piteous wails of a man close to the line of the Federal trenches. There was such a distressful pathos in his cries that I hurried to him. When I got close enough to distinguish his words I heard him plead:

"For God's sake, kill me! Don't cut my legs off and leave me a cripple!"
"At a glance I saw what was going on. The pleading man was a Union soldier with only a slight flesh wound in the thigh of the right leg, which disabled him temporarily only. His tormentor was the enthusiastic young surgeon, who had just joined our command. The juvenile proberate had deliberately bound the poor devil to a log, and was leisurely preparing to saw off his left leg for no other reason in the world than that he wanted to disable the soldier for further service during the war. He had stripped the man's leg bare to the thigh, tied a string tightly around it several inches above the knee, and had marked off with the point of his knife a streak around the leg where he intended to make the amputation. My duty was plain. At first I thought to shoot the inhuman monster down in his tracks, but I realized that his punishment would be sufficiently severe when John Morgan and Basil Duke learned of his offence, so I placed him under arrest, marched him up before those men, and told them what I had prevented him doing. He was promptly placed in chains, a court martial soon tried him and sentenced him to be shot. Sufficient influence was brought to bear, however, to save his life, though he was cashiered from the army."
"By some means he made his way north, began the practice of medicine at Reading, Penn., and today is the rankest hater of the south, perhaps, in the state of Pennsylvania."

When Baby was sick, we gave her Castoria.
When she was a Child, she cried for Castoria.
When she became Miss, she clung to Castoria.
When she had Children, she gave them Castoria.

Gen. Sherman's old home on Garrison avenue in St. Louis is to be sold by auction. It is a handsome old mansion, locally historic, and was presented to the general by his many friends and admirers in 1865 in recognition of his brilliant services through the war. The purchase price was $30,000, and this sum was raised very quickly at an impromptu meeting of citizens at the Planters House one evening just after the peace of Appomattox.

Patrolman Julius Zeidler

Of the Brooklyn, N. Y., Police Force, gladly testifies to the merit of Hood's Sarsaparilla. His wife takes it for dizziness and indigestion and it works charmingly. "The children also take it with great benefit. It is without doubt the most excellent thing for that Tired Feeling. I cheerfully recommend."

WOODWORTH CITY!
In the heart of the Iron and Coal District of Tennessee.

Climate salubrious, never hot and never cold. Land unequalled for agricultural purposes, and mineral resources unlimited.

WOODWORTH CITY lies about 30 miles north of Chattanooga, within a few miles of Atlanta, the county seat of Grundy county, and between Tracey City and the celebrated beach at Springs, the Saratoga of the South. It is in the center of the rapidly developing coal and iron district of Tennessee, and within its course are found coal, iron, zinc, marble and asbestos. With various hard woods, such as oak, chestnut, maple, peach, locust, hickory, ash, pine, cherry and black walnut in abundance. The village of Grundy, with several hundred inhabitants, contains churches, schools, stores, post-office and telegraph station, and a number of manufacturing industries, all of which are located on the property and form part of Woodworth City.

The proceeds of the sale of these lots will be used to develop the mineral resources of the property and build up a large and thriving city. Quick application for these lots should be made, as the right is reserved to advance the price without notice.
