Today's Chronicle says: The police have as yet no clue to the safe blowers who did such a daring piece of work Sunday night at Wyatt Bros' store, an account of which was published exclusively in the Chronicle. Unload a little, brother. The Visitor published it the day before.

Handed Down.

Among the opinions handed down yesterday afternoon by the Supreme court were the following:

Fields vs Moody, from Chatham; error.

McQueen vs Banks, from Cumberland; no error.

A Good Idea.

The Durham Sun says: A lady, who travels a great deal, spent several hours in the city yesterday between trains. While waiting at the depot, a reporter noticed that she carried a large coil of rope in her grip. The lady and the Sun struck up a conversation, and in her remarks she stated that she always carried that rope in her satchel and placed it at the head of her bed at night whenever stopping at a hotel, so she would be able to escape in case of a fire.

Yours truly, D. T. Swindell.

Died.

In Swift Creek township this morning at 8 o'clock, Miss Maria Keith in her 78th year. Funeral will take place at the residence tomorrow at 12 o'clock.

Good Qualities.

Our facetious neighbor, the Durham Sun gets off a good thing in one of its applications. It is too fine to be lost. He says a man had a cute way of telling about the good qualities of mules. He said they live longer—do more work and live on half what a horse would. He wondered why people didn't get mules and do away with horses. One day he was riding a mule down a mountain side and the thing took a notion and suddenly histed his legs and pitched Andy down the hill against a dog-wood tree, like he had been shot out of a catapult. After he got his breath and picked himself up, he said: People is always talking about and praisin' mules, but my opinion is the dauged things is overrated anyhow.

A Reformatory.

THE VISITOR has frequently called attention to what it considered the urgent necessity for an institution for the incarceration of youthful offenders, and, now may be considered an opportune time for again alluding to the matter, as the session of the General Assembly is near at hand. We must think that the necessities of the case are so apparent, that it would need but little prompting.

It must be admitted that the imprisonment of offenders of tender age in the county jails or in the penitentiary, is of itself more of an incentive to crime than a preventive. In fact, it does but harden an offender, just starting out on a career of crime. There are but few men or women who emerge from jail or the penitentiary better in any respect than when they entered, and it can be shown in many instances that they are worse. This, of course is caused from contact with the most degraded criminals. If a house of refuge or a reformatory were in existence the treatment and association would be such as perhaps to make them useful members of society. We hope the Legislature will act promptly in the premises.

United States Circuit Court.

United States vs Burton Hicks; dealing in liquor without paying special tax; verdict, not guilty.

The coldest was that of 1887 with an average of 47.1. The highest temperature during any December was 75 on the 26th, in 1890. The lowest temperature during any December was 15 on the 30th in 1887.

The Spelling Bee

The Spelling Bee tomorrow night increases in interest and the entries of contestants are among some of our best experts. There will be a fine programme of music and an interesting gymnastic exhibition. The matter of orthography will be well dealt with, and the list include most of the vocations of life. The "Bee" will be conducted by Profs. Huzh Morson and E. P. Moses. The best speller will be awarded a prize and also the worst. The entertainment is for the benefit of the Y. M. C. A. We suppose the best spellers in the city were picked out for invitation, although we do not see in the list the man who we believe can justly claim to beat the record, and has never yet, to our knowledge, been stumped. He may come in later.
