Died.

Mrs. Katherine MacRae died in Fayetteville yesterday afternoon at 8 o'clock. She was the widow of Dr. James MacRae and the mother of Mr. John Y. MacRae of this city. She was a most estimable lady and had many friends in Raleigh who will most deeply regret her loss.

The Governor's Message.

This document which was read in both houses of the general assembly, is an admirable presentation of the affairs of the state in all its various departments. There are many recommendations of an important character to which we shall take occasion to refer from time to time.

The Weather Today.

For North Carolina: Fair weather, colder Saturday morning, warmer Saturday evening.

Local forecast met at station for this vicinity:

On Saturday: Fair, continued cold. Local data for 24 hours ending 8 a. m. today:

Maximum temperature, 15; minimum temperature 35; rainfall, 1.1.

Funeral.

The funeral services of the late Dr. R. C. McNight took place yesterday at Wake Forest College. The services were held in the chapel, Rev. Dr. G. V. Galt officiating. Memorial addresses were delivered by a number of the professors. The college building was draped in mourning and there was a large attendance.

The Brocken Pardon.

Upon the papers in the case of the pardon of Willis H. Brocken, the governor endorsed the following reasons:

That there was no malice or premeditation shown, but that it was an act that might have been committed by any good citizen. The deceased and the prisoner got into a fight and the deceased used a knife on the prisoner who picked up a small stick with which to defend himself, but unfortunately struck a blow which caused death about three weeks after. The deceased requested that the prisoner should not be punished as he was to some extent to blame. The jury in the case recommended mercy, which request is joined in by a great many people of Wayne. For these reasons the pardon was granted.

Letter Carriers.

In the Supreme Court of the United States, Solicitor General, Aldrich, for the government, has made a motion to advance what are known as the "letter carriers cases."

The Charlotte News says: The cases arise under an act of congress of March 24, 1863 "to limit the hours that letter carriers in cities shall be employed per day," and involve, the questions whether a carrier is entitled to count all work performed by him, whether of the street or in delivering or collecting mails, in making up mail for delivery in the postoffice or in doing other service under direction of the postmaster; whether he is entitled to extra pay for any time which he works in excess of eight hours in any one day, even though he may work less than eight hours on some other day, and other questions important to the administration of the postoffice department. The cases came to the Supreme Court on appeal from the Court of Claims, where the decisions were against the government and in favor of the carriers. They affect a very large number, if not all, of the letter carriers throughout the United States, and a large sum of money is involved in the decision.

Mr. C. P. Wharton, the photographer, is setting up pictures of the members of each house of the general assembly. There is no charge and the members are requested to call at their convenience.

At a meeting of the city pastors Monday at 10.30 a. m. the following programme was arranged for the week of prayer:
