Cold Weather.

Last night was a cold one, you bet. "I went to call on my girl," said a Morgan street young man. "I was going to ask her to be my wife, but when I started to pop the question the words actually froze on my lips."

"Is it cold enough for you," was asked this morning of Col. Olds. "Cold enough? This is not cold. It's only a little chilly," replied the Colonel. And then he buttoned up his overcoat which almost hid his face from view.

"I went to bed last night or rather this morning," said Col. Greek Andrews, "and went to sleep. I woke up and found that my drawers had frozen off me. I put on my pants and slept the balance of the night in them."

"I went to bed last night," said Col. Al Fairbrother, "and left my socks off. I got so cold that I got up and put them on. I kept getting colder, so I got up and took a big drink of red pepper and corn liquor, went back to bed, stuck both feet in one sock, pulled the sock over my head, tied a knot in the end and went to sleep. Yes, it is cold, if it is in Raleigh."

THE INAUGURATION.

STATE OF NORTH CAROLINA. GEN'L H'DQRS. AD'GT G'NL OFF'CR. RALEIGH, N. C., Jan 10, 1893. (Circular No. 1)

The joint committee of the General Assembly on Inauguration having extended, through the Commander-in-Chief, a cordial invitation for all the members of the State Guard to be present and participate in the ceremonies attending the Inauguration of the Governor elect on January 18th, 1893, the Commander-in-Chief earnestly hopes that as many companies and officers will attend as can make it convenient to do so to assist in making the occasion as imposing and impressive as possible.

Railroads will transport companies at one fare for the round trip, and troops will be supplied with comfortable quarters while in Raleigh.

Companies desiring to attend should notify Hon Walter Grimes, House of Representatives, Raleigh at once.

Each soldier should, if possible, provide two heavy blankets for his use.

JAMES D GLINN, Adjutant General.

"I Can't Eat."

Is often heard. People who have taken Hood's Sarsaparilla highly recommend it for loss of appetite, indigestion, sick headache, and similar troubles. This medicine gently tones the stomach, assists digestion, and makes you "real hungry."

Constipation, and all troubles with the digestive organs and the liver are cured by Hood's Pills. Price 25c. per box.

Election.

The following officers have been elected for the ensuing term by the L'Allegro club:

Governing Committee—Dr J H London, Col Alston Grimes, Wm S Micks, W M Pugh, James O Litchford.

OUR COAL INDUSTRY.

In his admirable report, Prof. Holmes, the state geologist gives the following concerning the coal interests of North Carolina.

In 1891 the Egypt Coal Co., at Egypt Depot, in Chatham county, shipped 11,440 tons of coal. When the company was on the eve of a large and profitable business, a fire occurred in the mine on December 6, 1889, which necessitated stoppage of work and reduced the output for 1892 to about 6,500 tons.

For the past six months the company has been engaged in introducing a largely increased plant of machinery, including the addition of three pumps under ground and further hoisting capacity. A second shaft 8x10 feet, is being sunk upon the property, to be used exclusively for ventilating purposes. Adjacent property is also being explored, and a diamond drill has been put down about 400 feet, with results that are entirely satisfactory.

AN HONEST JERSEY GIRL.

She was from the country, and the country in her case was New Jersey. You would learn the first from the tan on her nose and the second from the mark on her gown. If there had been any room for doubt on either point it would have been removed by her bag. The woman from Jersey, according to the New York World, always carries a bag when she comes to town. She was on a Broadway car and had ridden all the way from Grand street up to Twenty first.—There she signalled the conductor to stop the car. She let it come to a dead standstill before she rose from her seat. Then she made a leisurely progress to the door and stepped from the platform—still deliberately. The car was well under way in obedience to the impatient jerk of the conductor's bell before he espied a purse lying where the woman had been seated. He gave the bell a second yank, seized the purse, and, with "Just like a woman," he made a break for the platform and hailed the woman.

"Here's your purse!" he yelled. "You've gone off and left it." She turned, walked unhurriedly back to the car, looked hard at the purse and said in a gentle drawl: "I can take it, if you wish, but it isn't mine!"

The car, with a mad conductor and a load of amused passengers, was started on its way by a tingle that almost wrecked the bell rope. The woman smiled and returned to the sidewalk.

ARAB COURTSHIP.

An arab loves as none but an Arab can love, but he is also mighty excitable and easily won. An Arab sees a girl bearing water or brushwood and in a moment, almost at a glance, is as madly in love as if he had passed years of courtship. He thinks of nothing else but the girl he loves; and not frequently, if he is disappointed in his affection, he pines and dies.

In order to commence his suit he sends for a member of the girl's tribe who has access to the harem, and, first insuring his secrecy by a solemn oath, confesses his love and entreats his confidence to arrange an interview.

The confidant goes to the girl gives her a flower or blade of grass, and says: "Swear by him that made this flower, and us also, that you will not reveal to anyone that which I am about to unfold to you."

If the girl will not accept the proposal she will not take the oath, but nevertheless, keeps the matter perfectly secret from all. If she is favorably disposed to the match she answers. "I swear by him who made the flower you hold and us," and the place and time of meeting are settled. These oaths are not broken, and it is not long before the ardent lover becomes a happy husband.—St. Louis Star-Sayings.

The board of stewards of the Central Methodist church will hold a meeting in the bible class room to night at 7 o'clock. The first quarterly meeting for the church will be held at the same time and place.

Wounded at Gettysburg

"C. I. Hood & Co., Lowell, Mass.: "I was in the Army of the Potomac and in the great battle of Gettysburg was struck in the ankle by a minnie ball, which smashed the bone. My leg was amputated in the field hospital, and after a long time it healed. I was discharged and went home. After 8 years

My Wound Broke Open

afresh. Dr. Pease amputated an inch of the bone, and it healed. Four years later it once more opened, and for eight years how I suffered! I do not believe it possible for a human being to suffer worse agony. During this time I had to go on crutches, being unable to wear a wooden leg. Whenever possible I relieved my sufferings by taking opiate, but when I was obliged to go without it, I suffered fearfully and thought I should go crazy. I tried every thing I could get with my limited means. Physicians said I would never be any better. Finally my and it broke out all over my face and on some parts of my body so that my face is all covered with scars now. One day I read of what Hood's Sarsaparilla would do. The first dollar I got I sent and bought a bottle and began taking it. A week or two later, my wife in dressing my leg, said it seemed to be improving, and after taking a few months, thank God (and I say it reverently), the sores all over my body had healed, and now, four years later, have never shown any sign of reappearing." GEORGE M. HAMMOND, 219 Magnolia Street, Syracuse, N. Y.

Dr. T. H. Pritchard of the Tryon Street Baptist church, is making a most favorable impression upon the Charlotte people. His sermons are of an unusually fine order.—Charlotte News.

A skeleton of a man was unearthed, so the story goes, in Montana recently which must have belonged to a man sixty feet high. He had backbone enough for the centre pole of a circus tent. But it is not yet an established fact whether he was a native of Montana or dropped off the planet Mars when it was swinging around this way. They say that's about the size of full grown people in Marsiana.—Wilmington Star.

WOODWORTH CITY! In the heart of the Iron and Coal District of Tennessee.

Climate salubrious, never hot and never cold. Land unequalled for agricultural purposes, and mineral resources unlimited.

Table listing land lots for sale in Woodworth City, Tennessee, with prices ranging from $200 to $1000.

WOODWORTH CITY lies about 30 miles north of Chattanooga, within a few miles of Dalton, the county seat of Grundy county, and between Tracey City and the celebrated Beersheba Springs, the Saratoga of the South. It is in the centre of the rapidly developing coal and iron district of Tennessee, and within its borders are found coal, iron, zinc, marble and asbestos, with various hard woods, such as oak, chestnut, maple, beach, locust, hickory, ash, pine, cherry and black walnut in abundance.

The proceeds of the sale of these lots will be used to develop the mineral resources of the property and build up a large and thriving city. Quick application for these lots should be made, as the right is reserved to advance the price without notice.
