VOL. XXVIII.

RALEIGH, TUESDAY, JANUARY 24, 1893.

NO. 77

CITY IN BRIEF.

Mr. P. M. Wilson, of Winston, is in the city.

President Winston, of the University, is here.

Judge J. F. Graves, of Mt. Airy, is in the city.

Dr. J. F. Crowell, president of Trinity College, was in the city yesterday.

Our friend A Dugli filled another order yesterday for an elegant wedding supper soon to come off at Sanford.

It should be remembered that ladies are furnished with skates free, at the rink in Stronach's warehouse, in the afternoon.

An interesting sketch of the late Bishop Phillip Brooks, whose death occurred in Boston yesterday, will appear tomorrow. It was crowded out today.

Messrs. Jones & Powell, with their characteristic energy, are putting up a splendid supply of native ice which they will dispense to the public next summer at the most reasonable rates.

The president of the denominational colleges of the state met in this city today. There was a good attendance and matters of importance concerning the educational interests of the state were discussed.

One day last week, when the keen north wind cut one like a knife, an old darkey who was rather thinly clad, was seen coming up Halifax street alone, under the lee side of a board fence. Just as he turned the corner, near the capitol and caught the icy breeze full in the face he clutched his coat across his chest and was heard to ejaculate: "Umph! whar was you last August."

A Noted House.

There is no business house in the city that bears a higher or more deserved reputation, in its peculiar line, than that of Messrs. Johnson & Barber, furniture dealers, East Martin street. These gentlemen carry at all times a most select stock of furniture of every description, embracing all the modern and most artistic designs. Bedsteads, lounges, looking glasses, mattresses, rocking chairs, wardrobes, and a hundreds of other articles, too numerous to mention, and which can only be appreciated by inspection. Don't fail to call. You will be politely received and shown around. The prices are as moderate as can be found North in Carolina.

Thinning Out.

The long continued spell of bad weather is fast thinning out the smaller game, if all reports from different sections be true. They appear to be dying from starvation.

The Durham Sun alluding to the matters says

Some action should be taken to save the birds, or else they will be pretty well all gone and hunting for a year or two will be scant sport.

We are told that in some coveys where from twelve to sixteen were noticed there are now not more than three or four.

As one means to reduce the destruction of these birds, and give them a chance, and not entirely break up the sport of the hunters, a gentleman has suggested that a special act by the legislature be passed—to apply to this county, if not the entire state—to the end that this year the hunting law take effect on the 20th of this coming December and end the 20th of January, '94; giving thirty days hunting instead of three months, as now. This would save the birds from thorough destruction the next season.

It strikes us that this would be a good idea and one of our hunters would agree to in order to prevent their guns and dogs from becoming useless things.

Justice Lamar Dead.

A telegram from a paper for which Mr. Maxwell Gorman corresponds in ordering some news announces today the death of Hon L. Q. A. Lamar, Justice of the Supreme Court of the United States, and Secretary of the Interior under President Cleveland during his first term. He was also an ex U. S. Senator and one of the most eminent men in this country.

Miss Wescott.

On Thursday night next Miss Adelaide Wescott, an accomplished elocutionist, will appear at Metropolitan Hall for the benefit of St. John's Hospital. She will be assisted by some of our best local talent, and we sincerely hope she may attract a large crowd. The Oswego, N. Y., Daily Record says:

There were few vacant seats in Ahwaga Hall, Saturday evening, the audience being made up of Oswego's most cultured people. The attraction was Miss Adelaide Westcott, in her "Switzerland" monologue, and the entire audience seemed much pleased with it. Miss Westcott is a very bright, attractive and versatile young lady, who describes in a very telling manner a young girl's trip through "Switzerland." The description is given as a monologue, several mythical characters being introduced in a very realistic manner. The entertainment was given under the auspices of the King's Daughters, and they have reason to be well pleased with the entire success, financially and in every other way of their venture.

Notes From the Relief Work.

The names of Dr. L. A. Scraggs, Thos Taylor and W. H. Patterson were inadvertently omitted from the list of the citizen's committee on distribution as published yesterday. It should be added also that Rev. G. S. Smith in the 4th ward, and Rev. Cesar Johnson in the 2d ward have been requested to aid the committee in their work.

The committee will hold a meeting at Y. M. C. A. building at 11 o'clock tomorrow.

The work of relieving the distress among the poor is being most admirably managed. There have been a great many rumors of aid being extended to persons not in need, but upon investigation many of them proved to be untrue. We understand the committee propose to punish with the law any who obtain help under false pretense, if they are detected.

Less than 10 per cent. of all those helped from the citizen's relief fund after careful examination, have proven unworthy of aid. We don't see how it could have been managed with more care.

The citizen's relief committee authorized Street Commissioner Blake to employ 100 men at 75 cents each on yesterday to shovel snow from the sidewalks. A good movement.

The sum of fifty dollars was set apart to the pastors of Oberlin by the relief committee to aid in relieving any distress in that community.

Mr. Stanhope Pullen, with his usual generosity, donated 50 cords of wood, cut ready for hauling, near the A. & M. College, to the citizen's relief committee. Wagons are daily hauling this wood to the city.

The Weather.

For North Carolina: Increasing cloudiness, rain or snow, colder at night.

Local forecast made at station for this vicinity:

On Wednesday: Fair weather, warmer, becoming threatening by evening with rain.

Local data for 24 hours ending 8 a. m. today:

Maximum temperature, 49; minimum temperature 30; rainfall, 0.0.

Several important special orders in the senate this week.

Died.

Mr. Joseph O. Webb, of Hillsboro, died last Saturday night in Chicago, where he had gone to have a surgical operation performed.

He was a graduate of Chapel Hill and highly respected. He leaves a widow and five children to mourn their loss.

A Georgia editor, short of wood, is responsible for the following: "O. for a breath of summer; For a sight of the ice cream sign; For the size of the soda fountain; And the yell of the baseball line."
