

The Daily Evening Visitor.

VOL. XXVIII.

RALEIGH, TUESDAY, FEBRUARY 28, 1893.

NO. 107

CITY IN BRIEF.

Mr. Virginius Ballard of Durham is in the city.

Mr. W. F. Kornegay, of Goldsboro, is in the city.

The travel on the street cars is improving very much.

Mr. W. F. Trogden, mayor of North Wilkesboro, is in the city.

Brother Thomas of the Franklin Times is in the city.

Bad weather on the progress of the new hotel and opera house.

The Senate will probably complete the revenue bill tonight.

Maj. J. C. Winder has gone to Charleston S. C., on business.

Appeals from the 5th district will be called next Tuesday, March 7th.

The Governor's Guard expect to carry at least fifty men to Washington.

The bill to incorporate the Durham and Charlotte railroad is now a law.

The sessions of the two houses are now running into the small hours of the morning.

A repetition of "Mascot" soon after Lent would be a good idea to help out the monument fund.

The R. & D Railroad Company have put out some beautiful posters giving rats, &c., to the inauguration.

It is now almost certain that the General Assembly will not get through in time to adjourn next Saturday.

Senator Morton, of New Hanover, who has been out of his seat for several days on account of sickness, has recovered.

A bill has been introduced in the House to reduce the state guard appropriation one half. We hardly think it will pass.

It is stated that Judge Boykin has entirely recovered from his recent attack of sickness and is now able to resume his courts.

There will be a meeting of the Governor's Guard tonight in fatigue uniform for special drill preparatory to the trip to Washington.

Thanks to Trinity College for donation to Confederate monument, North Carolina is justly proud of the action of her people.

L. C. M. A.

There was considerable tearing up of the revenue bill in the senate today, which may result in prolonging the session for a day or so.

Laolian brigands tortured a rich man named Rilloti because he was not ransomed at $100,000. If he had been poor he lived. A moral.

Mr. W. F. Tomlinson, of Asheville, has just issued a pamphlet entitled "State officers and general assembly of North Carolina 1893." It is a most interesting document.

Miss Della Aycock, aged about 22, died at St. John's hospital this morning of consumption. She was taken to the country for burial. She had no relatives living.

Now would be a good time for a committee of our board of aldermen to visit the sidewalk on the south side of Hargett, between Wilmington and Blount streets.

At the close of the services last Sunday at the First Presbyterian church the following deacons were elected: J. M. Monie, J. W. Thackston, L. P. Duncan and C. G. Whiting.

The presidential special which leaves here next Thursday night will be well equipped in all respects. It will run through without change to Washington and will have all the comforts of a home.

There was a large delegation of tobacco men in the city from various parts of the state who are opposed to the passage of Mr. Watson's bill in the House of Representatives. A meeting was held yesterday and resolutions adopted which were presented to the judiciary committee yesterday afternoon.

The Revenue Bill.

In the Senate today the Revenue bill was considered by sections. The bill was amended so that the tax shall be 20 cents for general purposes and 16-2-3 cents for schools.

Y. M. C. A.

Tonight at 8 o'clock Prof. J. M. McLaury, of Wisconsin, will give another talk to Sunday school teachers, male and female, at the Young Men's Christian Association rooms. His theme will be "How to study and teach the Bible."

Souvenirs.

Mr. J. B. Lindsey, of Lilesville, N. C., wants it known that he is in possession of the muster rolls of the following companies and regiments of N. C. troops in the Confederate service: Co H 51st regiment; Cos D, F and G 81st.

Wake Superior Court.

The following cases were disposed of:

Abby Green vs Freeman F. Green; divorce; granted.

John T. Pulen, admr., et al Mary A. Smith, dec'd., vs M. Hardie Jeffreys, et al; judgment final for plaintiff.

Same plaintiff vs T. L. Banks et al; judgment final for plaintiff.

In the matter of the estate of Bettie Stallings, et al, John W. Thompson, clerk, appointed receiver.

A Just Claim.

The senate last night, by a very close vote passed on its 2d reading the bill allowing to the heirs of Mr. David Hinton, of Wake county, the sum of $4,400 in liquidation for a note given Mr. Hinton by the late Jonathan Worth while treasurer of North Carolina, in 1863. The history of this transaction is such, that it is hard to conceive how any member of the general assembly could oppose the bill.

When Mr. Worth succeeded the late D. W. Courts as public treasurer in the early part of 1863 there was a great strain upon the coffers of the state, and the demand for money with which to meet the wants of the Insane Asylum was pressing in the extreme. The banks were fully up to their capacity in the matter of loans and Treasurer Worth resorted to individuals to aid him. It was at the juncture that Mr. Hinton made the loan of about $12,000 in Confederate money, the present claim being the result of a scale of 40 per cent.

The state has compromised its bonded indebtedness at about this rate and it would seem to be in strict accordance with justice that the claim of Mr. Hinton should be paid. We hope that the matter may find but little opposition on its third reading.

The following is the text of the bill to regulate the public printing allowing it to be let to the lowest responsible bidder, the secretary of state to advertise for bids and receive sealed proposals, which he and the joint committee on printing shall open and decide, each proposal to be accompanied by a $500 check, the contract not to be let to any firm at such distance that bills can not be printed from day to day. The bill passed its third reading.

The address of Dr. W. Currell, Professor of English in Davidson College, was an interesting theme last night at the Agricultural and Mechanical college. The rain prevented many from attending, but those present enjoyed a rich literary treat.

We regret to learn that Hon. W. B. Rodman of Washington, N. C. is in a dying condition. Judge Rodman was at one time a Justice of the Supreme Court of North Carolina, and considered one of the ablest jurists in the state.

There was a tremendous fight in the House of Representatives last night over the six per cent interest bill as it came from the Senate. It was first tabled but reconsidered and discussed until near adjournment.

A dispatch was received here today announcing the death of Mr. T. E. P. Grand Scribe of the Grand Department of North Carolina. He died in Fayetteville this morning at 1:15 o'clock.

The state banking law passed the Senate last night. It is a unanimous bill resembling somewhat in its features the national banking law.

Fool Breaks.

We don't want the members of the legislature to understand that we think they live in secluded spots of country where there are no stores. We don't intend to make any "fool breaks" to sell "souvenirs" to the retiring members, but possibly if they would call in our mammoth store and look over our varied stock they might see something which cannot be had at home at as low price, especially while we are selling our goods at cost—carpets, dress goods, shoes, trunks. D. T. SWINDELL.
