

WHAT DOES IT MEAN?

JUSTICE LAMRR, PHILIPS BROOKS
JAMES G. BLAINE.

AN APPALLING LIST OF GREAT PUBLIC MEN.

Many of Them Have Passed Away Suddenly and Without Warning—What is Heart Disease or Apoplexy?—Is it not Caused by Overwork or Over-indulgence?

The recent sudden deaths of prominent men musters from the grave the memory of an army of great men who have died in the harness. Note them as they slowly file in review before you.

Senator Zach Chandler was found dead in his bed in the Grand Pacific Hotel.

Secretary Windom died while speaking at a banquet.

Senator Beck dropped insensible in the Potomac Depot on the exact spot where President Garfield was shot.

Secretary Folger worked to the last and died without warning.

Senator Tom Corwin expired at a reception while talking with Salmon P. Chase, Ben Wade, Senator Schenck and John Sherman.

The Hon Hannibal Hamlin died at the club while chatting with his friends.

Minister Pendleton passed away while seated in a railroad train.

Senator Charles Sumner, Massachusetts' pride, died suddenly, working faithfully to the hour of his death.

Senator Simon Cameron feels the mysterious creepings of paralysis and falls in the arms of his friends.

Salmon P. Chase passed away peacefully while seated at his desk with his pen in his hand.

Vice President Wilson died after emerging from the Senate bathroom.

John Quincy Adams dropped in his chair in the House of Representatives.

And so the list might be prolonged. It would include such brilliant names as Senator Matt Carpenter, Secretary of the Treasury Daniel Manning, Ex-President Arthur, the Hon. Thomas H. Benton, Senator Ferry and others.

These men died suddenly and without warning, but a significant fact in connection with their deaths is that the cause in each case was the same.

It may have been called "heart disease" or "apoplexy," but what is heart disease or apoplexy? Simply a result, not a cause, of overwork and overindulgence weaken certain great organs.

From the weakness of these organs the blood becomes poisoned, clogs the heart and clogs the brain.

Do you ask what these organs are? The kidneys and liver. None of these great men would have died as they did had their kidneys and liver been in order.

Physicians realize this truth, and the intelligent men and women are beginning to find it out.

Not only this, but they have found out the way of preventing this gradual undermining of the life and the coming on of sudden death.

Read what they say:

Dr. Hoersch, of Berlin, Germany, asserts: "I have been the victim of palpitation of the heart, and upon taking the least cold the symptoms would become alarming. This has entirely disappeared under the use of Warner's Safe Cure, and I am perfectly well and strong."

Dr. R. A. Gunn, dean of the United States Medical College, New York, declares: "I am independent enough and frank enough to commend most heartily that great remedy, Warner's Safe Cure."

The Rev. J. E. Rankin, D. D., of Washington, D. C., affirms: "I know physicians of the highest character and standing who prescribe and use Warner's Safe Cure for diseases of the kidneys and urinary organs. I desire in the interest of humanity to recommend this medicine."

"Great men may pass away suddenly and leave a warning to others who are overworking or overindulging. The slender thread of life may be strained, but it need not be snapped if care and the right preventive remedy are used. Modern life has its strains, but it also has its discoveries which preserve the health and lengthen the life. And foremost among the discoveries for the benefit of humanity is the great one of which these scientific men speak."

DYED TO SUIT THE GIRL'S FATHER.

New York, March 7.—Falling by the use of hair dye on his blonde locks and thick eye-glasses to win the favor of his lady love's father, Herbert Reaves a young lawyer, who has the misfortune to be an Albino, took the bull by the horns last week and eloped with his love, Miss Jennie McCall, reconciliation with the parents soon following.

The young people who lived in Blythebourne, but worked in this city, Miss McCall being a typewriter, had been attached to each other for six months, their courtship being carried on in the elevator of the office building, on the trains and in quiet strolls after church and Sunday school.

Mr McCall, the bride's father, who is a produce dealer at No 383 Green wich street, had a decided opposition to the match, and didn't hesitate to say so, his chief objection being the young man's physical peculiarities. Even after hair dye had turned his blonde locks there was no relenting.

So Thursday night the couple slipped away to Jersey City and were married. Yesterday afternoon they returned to Mr. Reaves' home, where latter Mr. and Mrs. McCall came to give their blessing.

LAWSUIT ENDS IN A WEDDING.

Greensburg, Pa., March 7.—It is not often that the plaintiff and defendant in a lawsuit leave the Court room to begin a honeymoon. Mrs. Teresa Chatter, a widow, sued her best boarder, Charles Freundorf, for a $500 board bill, which he had refused to pay. He made the counter charge that the widow owed him $900 for some land sold to her. They had never been in love, but the wily lawyers put their craniums together and decided that the best way out of the difficulty was for the couple to be married. Freundorf at once laid his heart at the widow's feet, and she found a place for it in her bosom. The pair left the Court room and were married by the nearest justice of the peace.

That Tired Feeling

Is a dangerous condition due directly to depleted or impure blood. It should not be allowed to continue, as in its debility the system is especially liable to serious attacks of illness. It is remarkable how beneficial Hood's Sarsaparilla is in this enervating state.

Possessing just those elements which the system needs and readily seizes, this medicine purifies the blood, and imparts a feeling of serene strength which is comforting and satisfying. Hood's Sarsaparilla is the best remedy for that weakness which prevails at change of season, climate or life.

"I have been convinced that Hood's Sarsaparilla is one of the greatest medicines in the world. I say this for the benefit of all other tired out, run down, hard-working women. Hood's Sarsaparilla is not only excellent as a blood purifier, but for all other female complaints, even if of long standing." Mrs. M. A. SCARLETT, Northville P. O., Mich.
