"AT THE COUNTY LINE"

The Record, of Pittsboro, tells this: "The register of deeds of this county recently issued a marriage license to a citizen of Wake county to marry a woman in this county. It seems that the parties lived near the Wake and Chatham county line, and a Chatham magistrate not being convenient at the time of their proposed marriage they obtained the services of a Wake county magistrate, who performed the marriage ceremony, and in his report the register stated that he performed the ceremony "at the county line." He did not state, however, on which side of the line, and it may make very much difference. If it was on the Chatham side, the marriage was void because a magistrate of Wake county cannot marry a couple in Chatham; and if it was on the Wake side of the county line, then the magistrate is liable to the penalty of $200 for marrying a couple without a proper license, as the license issued in this county was not valid in Wake. Right mixed affair isn't it?"

SHIELDS THIRTY EIGHT YEARS IN OFFICE.

United States Commissioner John A. TELLS A HEROIC STORY.

On the night of September 6, 1878, Grace Darling, a young girl living with her father, a lighthouse keeper on one of the most exposed of the Farne Islands, put out in a wild sea and, practically unaided, rescued the crew of a ship wrecked steamer. Here was one of the cases where heroism met with ready recognition. A purse was raised by public subscription and presented to Miss Darling, and her brave deed for fifty years has been celebrated in song and story. In 1819 Grace Darling died, but the frail boat in which she dared the tempest has always been sacredly preserved. It is today owned by Mrs. Joicey, a wealthy woman living near the town of Newcastle, England. Mrs. Joicey has loaned the boat for exhibition at the World's Fair, and it is now on its way to Jackson Park, having reached Baltimore on the steamer Missouri. It will tell more vividly than words the heroic story of the young English girl whose brave life went out half a century ago.

FROST AND ICE.

Greensboro Record. This is really a case of winter lingering in the lap of spring.

Here it is the 24th of April. Fires have been comfortable for a week or more with frosts several times in the past ten days.

Yesterday at one time it looked as if the weather would moderate, but towards night it became much cooler, and as a consequence there was a heavy frost this morning and some ice, said to be a quarter of an inch thick.

Early vegetation has of course been injured, how much we are unable to say. Fruit is protected somewhat by foliage and is of a good size, probably not being hurt to any great extent; besides there was very little moisture in the atmosphere.

Apricots especially are, in some places, as large as the end of one's thumb, while peaches are nearly as large and it may be the damage is slight, though such frosts often cause a stunted growth and destroy the lucidness of the fruit.

HIS JOSIE WAS A MAN.

Samuel Edwards, who hails from Chicago, is in Newark, N. J., searching for a Miss Josephine Wickham. Over six weeks ago, according to Edwards' story he forwarded $40 (two $20 bills) to pay that young woman's fare to the Windy City. Miss Wickham, he says, consented by letter to change her name to Edwards, and to preside over his household. The non arrival of the prospective bride in Chicago on the appointed day alarmed him and he wrote inquiring as to the cause of the delay. He received no reply to his inquiry, and then dawned upon him that he might have been duped.

Upon investigation it develops that the blushing Josie is an able bodied man. Edwards is deeply chagrined at the way his romance has been dispelled. Judging from external appearances, he would have made Miss Wickham a good husband if she were a true woman and not a deceiving man. He is a tall, good looking fellow, about 40 years of age, and claims to have $12,000 in cash and to be the possessor of a house and several acres of ground. He is outspoken and determined looking, and there is no doubtably trouble ahead for Josephine if he lays eyes or hands upon her, or rather him. He is likely to, for he was in the city less than an hour when he found a clew to his promised bride's identity.

Edwards began to correspond with Josephine after answering a matrimony advertisement. The address given was 84 Mammoth street, but no Miss Wickham lives there.

"I went to Chicago to visit a sister, as it was thought a change of air and scene might do me good. But I was confined to my bed most of the time. I was so impressed with the success of Hood's Sarsaparilla in cases similar to mine that I decided to try it. So a bottle was bought, and to my great gratification the sores soon decreased, and I began to feel better. This strengthened my faith in the medicine, and in a short time I was

NOTICE OF ELECTION.

To Obtain Consent of Qualified Voters of the City of Raleigh to Issue Bonds for Public Improvements, and to Levy a Special Tax.

Notice is hereby given that at a special meeting of the Board of Aldermen of the City of Raleigh on the 2d Monday night in March, 1893, said Board ordered an election to be held on the first Monday in May, 1893, for the purpose of obtaining the consent of a majority of the qualified voters of the city of Raleigh to issue fifty thousand dollars in bonds for public improvements and to levy a special tax as authorized by an act of the General Assembly of North Carolina, ratified the 26th day of February, 1893. Said election will be held at the polling places designated and under the direction of the Judges of Election appointed by the Board of Aldermen at a meeting for the regular city election for Aldermen.

The provisions of the said act of the General Assembly, to be voted upon at said election, are sections one and five, which are as follows:
Section 1. That for the purpose of paying, mechanizing and otherwise improving such of the public streets of the city of Raleigh as the Board of Aldermen of said city may determine to improve, and for making such other public improvements as the said Board of Aldermen may determine to make, the city of Raleigh is hereby authorized and empowered to issue its bonds in any amount not exceeding fifty thousand dollars, of such denomination, and in such proportions, as the Board of Aldermen may deem advisable, bearing interest from the date thereof at a rate not exceeding five per centum per annum, with interest coupons attached, payable half yearly, at such times and at such place or places as may be determined by said Board of Aldermen; said bonds to be of such form and tenor, and transferable in such way, and the principal thereof, payable or redeemable at such time or times, not exceeding thirty years from the date thereof, and at such place or places, as the Board of Aldermen may determine.

Section 5. That for the purpose of providing for the payment of the interest accruing on and the principal at maturity of the bonds issued under authority of this act, the Board of Aldermen of said city shall annually and at the time of levying other city taxes, levy and lay a particular tax on all persons and subjects of taxation on which the said Board of Aldermen may hereafter be authorized to lay and levy taxes for any purpose whatsoever, said particular tax to be not less nor more than eight cents on the one hundred dollars assessed valuation on property, and not less than eighteen nor more than twenty-four cents on each taxable person. The taxes provided for in this section shall be collected in the manner and at the time other city taxes are collected, and shall be accounted for and kept separate from other city taxes, and shall be applied exclusively to the purposes for which they are collected, so much of said taxes as may be required to pay the interest on the bonds issued by authority of this act, as it falls due and cannot be applied to the purchase or discharge of the bonds for which said taxes are levied and collected shall be invested so as to secure the payment at maturity of the principal of the said bonds, and to insure the due investment of the amounts collected from year to year in excess of that required to pay the said interest, the Board of Aldermen shall cause the said excess to be turned over to the Commissioner of the sinking fund of the city of Raleigh, whose duty it shall be, under such general rules and regulations as said Board of Aldermen shall from time to time prescribe, to make investments of so much of the taxes collected and turned over to him as aforesaid, as shall be applicable as aforesaid to the payment of the principal of said bonds issued under this act, and to do or perform all such other services in connection with said bonds, as said Board of Aldermen may prescribe, and such Commissioner shall give bond and receive such compensation for his said services as said Board of Aldermen may determine.

As qualified voters approving the issue of said bonds and the levy and collection of said special tax shall deposit in a ballot box specially provided for said election, a slip containing the words "I approve" or "I disapprove" and the said slip containing the word "disapproved" shall be held and returned thereof made under the same rules and regulations as exist in case of elections for Aldermen of the city.

This 22d day of March, 1893, THOMAS BADGER, Mayor.

C. W. LAMBETH, City Clerk. m22
