LARGEST CITY CIRCULATION.

RALEIGH, AUGUST 17, 1893

A Word.

Some exceptions have been taken to a communication in our issue of last Monday afternoon, signed "Jack Adams." The communication was in typewriting and almost a fac simile of a communication formerly written by Mr Adams. We took it for granted, of course, that he was the author and supposed, like those that had preceded it, the intent was innocent fun. It turns out that whoever sent the communication has used Mr Adams' name without his consent, and he owes it to himself to come forward and acknowledge the authorship.

In this connection we desire to say that nothing is farther from the practice of the VISITOR than to offend any citizen, and if we have done so in this instance, it was totally unintentional. We have always endeavored to use caution in this respect and will continue to do so.

Congress would better display its ability to successfully treat our financial system before tackling the tariff.

Truly there are some wonderful things about the financial situation. Europe is afraid of Congress, and not a small part of Congress is equally afraid of Europe.

"Hear dem silver bells" ought to be popular in Congress just now.

Why does a man's system require more rest and recreation after he becomes an office holder?

Members of the House are not discussing the silver question to influence votes in that body so much as to satisfy constituents.

The 1893 crop of receivers seems to be entirely out of proportion to the other products of the year.

We are rapidly approaching the period when the man who isn't financially embarrassed will be regarded with suspicion by the community.

Cautious people will not accept newspaper polls of Congress as authentic indications of how the silver business is to be settled. The wishes of editors have been known to cause errors in them.

Perhaps the World's Fair managers intend utilizing the board of lady managers in place of Thomas's orchestra. The difficulty would be in harmonizing the music.

Advice is more plentiful than cash. Suppose a few of the self constituted advisers try a little personal example for a change.

An exchange refers to the farm, which it calls the mud bank, as being all right amid the crash. Yes, the mud bank is solid enough, but it limps terribly in its dividend paying department.

The bachelors in Congress will never get married if the sketch artists are not called off.

President Cleveland left Congress to hold the bag while he went to hold the baby.

TELEGRAPHIC BREVITIES.

The Memphis avalanche is in trouble.

Bombay is in possession of a mob.

The editor of the Atlanta Journal wants free coinage.

Dr George Slover and Miss Bessie Whitford were married at New Bern yesterday morning.

A dispatch from Vienna, from Lemberg, the capital of Austrian Galicia, states that the cholera is spreading all through that country.

The schooner Bettie M Lister, from Charleston, S C, for Philadelphia, Pa, had three cases of yellow fever on board.

Yesterday in Congress the discussion in the Senate and House; both bodies of Congress hold sessions of considerable length and the Financial debate continues with interest.

The Virginia Farmers Alliance was engaged yesterday in Richmond, Va, in amending the constitution in several minor ways, after which they elected officers.

Here is a good plan with which to overcome hard times: Pay your debts, pay cash for what you buy, and buy nothing you can possibly do without. If the people of Raleigh will observe this plan there will be plenty of money in circulation and times will be so good that they won't care whether the silver question is settled or not. This credit business is doing a thousand times more to make hard times than cheap silver or anything else.

The fool who "didn't know it was loaded" and the fool practical joker will keep bobbing up occasionally. The fool joker got in some of his work in a Chicago restaurant the other day when he closed the door of the money vault on the landlady who stepped into the vault to deposit the money taken in during the day. It was a combination lock, and as the voice of the imprisoned woman could not be heard distinctly they had to send for an expert to open the vault and release her. This took an hour or more and in the meantime the woman came very near dying from suffocation, and was at last accounts in a precarious condition.

No Sunday School Convention in McDowell County.

The West Virginia State Sunday School Convention will not be held in McDowell county, at any rate. The reason is simple enough. McDowell county has thirty four prisoners in jail now, and only three or four weeks have elapsed since a term of court. All the prisoners are charged with felony, and fourteen of them are alleged murderers. In addition to this, half of the people carry Winchester and pistols, and the other half spends most of their time in trying to dodge the bullets.

Plenty of Greenbacks.

Washington special to the New York World: "It might be well for the money hoarders who desire to sell their money at a profit to get it on the market at once, for within a brief period it will be so much of a drug thro' over supply that the premium upon it will entirely disappear."

Comptroller of the Currency Eckels made this significant statement today when asked why the world correspondent if the currency "famine," which developed such alarming conditions in the great financial centres during the past week, was likely to be relieved very speedily. Discussing the financial circles, he said:

"The situation as it stands today might very appropriately be termed starvation in the midst of plenty, for such is the exact truth. The volume of currency in the country is greater than in any recent year, and yet none is to be had except it is bought in the market as a commodity pure simple. Remarkable is the money buying and selling upon the streets of New York and elsewhere, under existing circumstances it is accomplishing results quite unlooked for when first entered upon. It is bringing out of hiding places the money drawn from the banks by the timid, and as a consequence the ensuing week will without doubt witness money sink to its normal value.

When this point is reached there will be no demand for it as an article of merchandise, and the owner will undoubtedly return it to the bank from which he drew it."

Comptroller Eckels says the Government is turning out daily not less than $50,000 in small bank notes. The increase in bank circulation since July 1 in round numbers has been more than $10,000,000 half of which has been made during the past twelve days. Banks are still depositing bonds and the Bureau of Engraving and Printing is working double time to meet the demand. It is not improbable that the increase in bank circulation this month alone will be upward of $10,000,000. This money is all in bills and small denominations, requiring much additional labor at the Bureau.

The Sun's Heat.

An Indian gazette gives an account of the prospective effect of certain colors against the sun's rays. It is urged that no one has ever been a victim to sunstroke or sun fever through a dark source of heat. It is said it is not the heat rays which act injuriously, but the chemical ones. As a photographer treats his plates by enveloping them in yellow or red, so, a correspondent says, he treated his body. All the linings of his hats and coats were yellow, with the satisfactory result that after a trial of five years, even often under circumstances of extreme exposure, there was no return of either fever or sunstroke, to both of which the writer declares himself to have previously been a victim.
