LARGEST CITY CIRCULATION.

RALEIGH, AUGUST 24, 1893

SPARKS FROM THE WIRES.

The Happenings of a Day Throughout the World.

The national bank note circulation has passed the two hundred million mark.

Rev Dr Howard, who was arrested in Chicago August 4th and made his escape, has again been arrested at Jackson, Tenn. He has been fraudulently using the mails.

Two large fires occurred yesterday. The Western Brass Manufacturing Co's plant, of St Louis, was burned. Loss $165,000. The town of Merced Falls, Ga, was destroyed. Loss $250,000

New York and Connecticut were visited by a cyclone and rain storm Wednesday night. The loss in Connecticut will run into the hundreds of thousands. At Asbury Park the loss will reach $30,000 and four men were drowned.

If there exists a man who thinks that political platforms are constructed for any other purpose than to juggle with votes he should read the speeches made in the House during the silver debate.

Uncle Sam should lose no time in marrying that Minnesota widow who has received notice that she is heiress to a $25,000,000 estate in India. Something must be done to put money in circulation.

It requires more bravery to face the yellow fever than to charge a battery, and the young surgeon who died from that dread disease, contracted while trying to stay the march of the scourge, was more of a hero than many a soldier whose name has been embalmed in song and story.

The discovery that Mount St Helens is an active volcano comes in good time: the State of Washington offers this additional attraction to the autumn tourists.

How does it strike you to increase the amount of money in circulation by paying your debts? This isn't intended to be personal, but it is both pertinent and practical.

The theory international is all right, but the United States has never gained anything by putting it into practice.

The talk about the doctors of the country uniting upon Senator Gorman as a Presidential candidate is a matter not to be spoken of lightly. There are few men with nerve enough to openly disobey the orders of their doctors.

Every Congressman seems determined that his individual plan for the relief of the country shall be one adopted. The people are gradually relieving themselves without the aid of Congress.

The lawn party to be given by the ladies of the First Baptist church has been postponed until this evening. It will be held in rear of the postoffice from 5 to 11 o'clock p.m. The young ladies of the Sunday school and church are requested to assist in distributing refreshments.

HER LONG SLEEP OVER.

A Woman Awakens After Two Years of Unconsciousness and is Dying.

The State.

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., Aug. 24—Bridget Pendergast, a patient of the State Insane Hospital, has been asleep for two years and life was kept in her by means of milk being forced through a narrow rubber tube through her nose into her stomach.

Thursday the attendant saw a movement in the strange patient's bed. The sleeper had awakened. She talked a little and seemed to have been conscious during her long sleep. She has been gradually dying since awaking, and Dr Kay thinks the end will come in a few days.

The patient's body has become so emaciated that hardly more than skin and bone remain, and she does not weigh more than twenty five pounds. The story told about her is that she was brought to her condition of mind immediately preceded her commitment to the insane hospital because of unrequited love. She is twenty eight years old.

Attacked With Diphtheria After Kissing the Bride.

On Wednesday evening, the town of Krantons, in New York, the marriage of Miss Aiken to Mr Amsdell took place. The bride was a very popular young woman, and many friends were at her wedding. She had a slight sore throat, but thought little of it and made complaint to no one. Since the wedding the case has developed into one of diphtheria, and nearly a score of her friends who were at the wedding and kissed the bride when offering their good wishes have been attacked with the same disease. No deaths have occurred yet but many of the cases are very serious, and the worst results are feared in some of them.

The Doctor's Diagnosis.

Young Doctor to Patient—"Let me look at your tongue. H'm; troubled with dyspep—"

Patient—"Not a bit. I can eat sole leather."

Young Doctor—"Let me feel your pulse. H'm; wakefulness at night."

Young Doctor—"Let me see your tongue. H'm; dizziness and pains in—"

Patient—"No."

Young Doctor—"Let me feel your pulse. H'm; easily tired, with an indisposition to mental exertion of any—"

Patient—"No."

Young Doctor—"Let me see your tongue. H'm; headache and stiffness of the—"

Patient—"Haven't had a headache in twenty five years."

Young Doctor—"Let me feel your pulse. H'm; you are using too much tobacco."

Patient—"Never touch it in any shape."

Young Doctor—"Let me see your pulse—er—I mean your tongue. H'm; too much confined to your desk. You need fresh air and—"

Patient—"I'm a letter carrier."

Young Doctor—"Let me feel your tongue—that is, I should say, your pulse. H'm; you have a tired feeling come over—"

Patient—"Never."

Young Doctor—"Let me see your—never mind, your tongue Feverish at times, with a desire for water?"

Patient—"No, beer."

Young Doctor—"Do you drink beer?"

Patient—"Oh yes!"

Young Doctor—"To excess?"

Patient—"No."

Young Doctor—"Tell me how many glasses a day?"

Patient—"Sometimes more and sometimes fewer."

Young Doctor—"I thought so. We members of the medical profession are seldom deceived in our diagnosis of a case."

Patient—"Am I in danger, doctor?"

Young Doctor—"No immediate danger, but it's lucky you called me in!"—Yankee Blade.

Those congratulations seem to have gotten several trains ahead of the baby, at meow or other.

Millions of Gold in Graveyards.

Graveyards as an element in the money question has not been given much consideration by financial wise-aces, but the fact comes out in connection with a treasury statement that of the $1,500,000,000 worth of gold used in the arts throughout the world in the past 100 years, the greater portion is now buried in coffins. The practice of dentistry absorbs a large per cent of the yearly production of the precious metal. The statement shows that the world's production of gold and silver from 1799 to 1893 aggregated $10,738,889,000, of which $5,633,908,000 was gold and $5,104,981,000 silver. Of the gold produced, $3,584,601,000 has been coined as money and the balance used in the arts.

Women Voted but Were Beaten.

Women voted at Atlanta City in the district school election called to empower the board of education to proceed with the erection of the $50,000 high school building. It was the first time they took advantage of their prerogative and they championed the erection of the structure, but the ungallant men knocked them out by 95 votes. The meeting was presided over by Postmaster Levi Albertson. The question brought out the largest crowd in the Pennsylvania avenue school building ever known in the history of the district.
