

The Daily Evening Visitor.

VOL. XXIX.

RALEIGH, FRIDAY, SEPTEMBER 1, 1893.

NO. 110

The Naval Reserve.

The naval reserve militia of the State, will in a short time, take its first tour of duty at sea in a body, as a battalion. The four divisions will muster about 140 men.

Railroad Rumors.

It is rumored that the Oxford & Clarksville train will run through to Raleigh as it formerly did, and that it will also carry freight cars, but no one has yet learned when the change will take place. The best schedule this road has ever had was when the train ran through from Raleigh to West Point. We get this from the Durham Sun.

The Penitentiary.

Over twenty convicts have arrived at the penitentiary during the past week, which is a larger number than usual. There have been about eighty sent to the Roanoke farms leaving about 186 inside the prison. At the farms there are about 800. The expenses there are heavy, being over $150 per day for diking and other similar work. Mr. Leazer is making a strenuous effort to pull through this year without calling for aid from the State Treasury. He thinks, however, it will be a hard effort.

Very Proper.

In our issue today will be found a communication, which we think eminently proper and which we hope will be carried out. It is beyond doubt that our beloved city has been highly favored in many instances by the mercy of God, and it becomes us as a christian people to publicly acknowledge the past favors Providence has bestowed upon us. It would be a grand spectacle at a stated time, to have our people on bended knees giving thanks to the Great Giver of All Good for His mercies. We sincerely hope the recommendation will be carried out.

We had the pleasure of seeing Rev. L. L. Nash, of Wilmington, in the city today.

Don't forget, fresh Norfolk Oysters at Jordan's dining hall tonight.

Norfolk Oysters, fresh opened stock guaranteed perfectly good, at Jordan's tonight.

Bananas.

Ice Coal.
