NO. 120

CITY IN BRIEF.

Locals Picked Up Here and There and Boiled Down.

Alabama to tonight.
The watermelon begins to look extremely lonely.

The weather today has been very sultry for the season.

The matter of the Raleigh post office is quietly sleeping.

Marshal Hill's term of office holds good for some little time yet.

Go to Metropolitan Hall tonight and enjoy a first class performance.

One hundred and forty students at the agricultural and mechanical college.

The rain poured in torrents last night and there was quite an electric display.

The colored people of Durham have held a meeting and, politely asked for work.

The tax lists will soon be in the hands of the collecting officers. Get ready with your cash.

The public is anxiously awaiting the name of the new "princess of the republic" at the white house.

And now the puzzle is, what will be the name of baby Ruth's paymate. A million names will be suggested.

We hope the tobacco trade is not on the wane in Raleigh. Can't the chamber of commerce spur it up some?

Can't the chamber of commerce add its influence in the matter of a county asylum for the insane? It is needed.

Applications for admission to the State Normal and Industrial school at Greensboro continue to pour in.

The Baptist West End Mission folks are talking of getting a regular pastor. The congregation is on the increase.

Splendid time now to work the roads before the winter sets in. Superintendent McMackin should take time by the forelock.

Remember that the scale of prices for "Alabama" are 75, 50, and 25 cts. This is cheap admission for such a prominent entertainment.

Improvements continue to be made at the Yarboro. Manager Brown is determined to make it second to no first class hotel in the country.

The Nationals and Puzzlers, two colored clubs of Raleigh, will play a game of baseball at Athletic Park to-morrow afternoon at 3:30 o'clock.

Remember that "Alabama" is a first class drama and full of interesting situations. The hall should be packed tonight to its utmost capacity.

Hillsboro street from the railroad bridge to Maj Tucker's corner is in quite a rough condition. A little work could be put in to much advantage.

Upwards of thirty young ladies will take part in the Dairy Maids Drill at Metropolitan hall next Friday night. It will be a beautiful sight.

Don't forget the ladies auxiliary entertainment for next Friday night. The box sheet is now open at King & Co's drug store. Secure seats at once. It will be most attractive in all particulars.

Your local paper works for you and the town at all times. What are you doing for it? If you would have the public know what line of business you are in, tell them through the columns of the paper. It will be to your interest.

A big washout occurred on Monday night on the R and D R R between Danville and Keyville. There is a trestle at that point and the place washed out is 40 feet deep and 75 yards wide. Passengers were compelled to transfer.

Help Them.

Has the fund for the support of the orphans in the asylum collapsed? We sincerely hope not. Several of our philanthropic citizens have generously agreed to contribute each a month's support to an orphan. This is some help but others ought to follow. The unfortunate children should not be allowed to suffer. Correspond with Rev Dr Black the superintendent on the subject. He will prove to you that there is great necessity for help.

Wonderful But True.

It is wonderful but nevertheless true that 50c spent at our store now will buy you as much goods as $1 spent at other stores. Our buyer took advantage of several large assignment sales while in New York and purchased this lot of goods at about 50 per cent on the dollar, and now we are giving you the benefit of it. Others try to imitate us in low prices but make a sad failure. We always have been the leader in low prices and will continue so.
