VOL. XXIX.

RALEIGH, MONDAY, SEPTEMBER 18, 1893.

NO. 124

CITY IN BRIEF.

Locals Picked Up Here and There and Boiled Down.

Light fires were comfortable early this morning.

Laugh and grow fat by going to Metropolitan hall tonight.

Cupid cuts cute and curious capers at Metropolitan hall tonight.

Watermelons are on their last legs, and excursions are things of the past.

The health of the inmates of the Soldiers' Home continues unusually good.

Splendid weather for working the roads, and it ought to be taken advantage of.

Col Fred A Olds has, thus far been the largest contributor to the N C Antiquity society.

This morning was cool and bracing reminding us that frost is not far distant in the future.

The band of the Cupid's Capers company paraded the streets today, creating quite a sensation.

We are glad to learn that the attendance at the Raleigh male academy continues to increase.

The case of sickness on the western suburbs which was reported as scarlet fever, is now convalescent.

"When the band begins to play" tonight, then the genuine fun will commence at Metropolitan hall.

What was ever done about the park set apart for the colored people in the eastern suburbs of the city?

A case of drunk and down and a case of disorderly conduct occupied the attention of the mayor this morning.

In addition to the floods, it is reported that the rust and boll worms are playing havoc with crops in Eastern Carolina.

Mr O F King, the Atlanta Journal "Kodacker," was in the city awhile last Saturday. He reports his paper as booming.

Mr. Mark Bynum, of Chatham county, died very suddenly a few days since. He was 78 years old and well known in Raleigh.

We again remark that it is in violation of a city ordinance to ride vehicles on the sidewalk. This embraces all sections of the city.

It is thought at the state agricultural office, after a careful comparison, that the recent storms throughout the state has depreciated the crop prospects from 30 to 25 per cent.

The governing committee of the L'Allegro German Club will hold a special meeting this evening at 8:30 o'clock in the club rooms. It is desired that there shall be a full attendance.

The Naval Reserve frolic at Wilmington has wound up and all the boys were well pleased. The Nantucket and Kearsage were visited by hundreds of people, many of whom were ladies.

It was rather expected that the matter of confirmation of Messrs Elias, Simmons and Aycock would come up in the Senate today provided that Senator Vance returned from Gombroom.

The Wilmington Star thinks that some of the Grand Army folks would like to see Hoke Smith hung on a sour apple tree because he has hung up the pensions of frauds and dead beats. We shouldn't wonder.

There is an old colored man who makes it a rule nearly every afternoon to carry on religious exercises by himself, in the skirt of woods between Hillsboro road and the North Carolina railroad. His loud and boisterous language is the source of much annoyance. He can be heard as far down as the railroad bridge on Hillsboro street, and many persons take it for a cry of distress. Under the circumstances it rather seems a mockery.

Uncle Hiram.

Mr. G C Francis, who is directing the tour of that excellent comedian, Aaron H Woodhull, who plays at the Academy of Music next Thursday night says, "When a manager spends thousands of dollars to make his entertainments successful, he certainly deserves large patronage and usually gets it. There are many good shows and many bad ones, and if the public would exercise a little discrimination they could easily tell the attraction that is devoid of merit. There is no surer criterion of a company's stability than the quantity and quality of its advertising matter."

Aaron H Woodhull, in Uncle Hiram, is the heaviest billed attraction now before the public. Woodhull often spends as much in advertising as the gross receipts of ordinary show, and the enormous business he is doing proves his policy of putting out $9 to take in $10. Uncle Hiram's beautiful lithographic work is the finest on the road, and no lithographing company in the United States would get up the work without being fully guaranteed from loss. The printing is only one of the numerous features of a show, and the ability which provides fine work will neglect no other department of the enterprise; so beyond all doubt Uncle Hiram is one of the best shows of the season.

Our Advertisers.

Messrs Thomas & Maxwell still hold the fort in the furniture line. Such a stock is rarely seen in our section. Citizens and strangers should call and examine it. Everything you can desire for the parlor and bedroom. Don't overlook the baby carriages. They cannot be excelled for beauty.

Miss Maggie Reese is now in the northern cities selecting her fall and winter stock of millinery and notions which will embrace all the newest and latest designs in the fashionable world. When she returns she will make known to the public her beautiful assortment which has never been surpassed in this city. A large force of hands is now engaged in remodeling the old stand No 309 Fayetteville street, and work is progressing so favorably that it is hoped it will be ready for occupancy by the 1st of October. It is hoped that by that time Miss Reese will be able to exhibit her new stock at her old place of business. All the arrangements of the store will be specially designed for millinery. The citizens of Raleigh and surrounding country may rest assured that she will fully sustain her already wide reputation. The VISITOR will contain her announcement in due time.
