RALEIGH, SATURDAY, SEPTEMBER 23, 1893.

NO. 129

CITY IN BRIEF.

Locals Picked Up Here and There and Boiled Down.

Slim market today.
Moon falls tomorrow.
Watermelons out of sight.
The tax collectors will soon be on their rounds.

A cool wave just now would be quite refreshing.
Delightful weather considering it is about equinox.

Our merchants are doing quite a brisk trade today.
The foot ball game of the state fair has been arranged.

Watch out for our midland pleasure at the coming fair.

A full bench of the Supreme court will be on hand next Monday.

All hands at the court house getting ready for court next week.

The man that knows it all, is generally a drag on the body politic.

Delightful nights for riding on the street cars and visiting the parks.

Cotton receipts today will probably reach 800 bales. Market rather strong.

Several new residences in course of construction in different parts of the city.

There will be two genuine Mohawk Indians in the big show at the state fair.

Winter sports will soon be in order. How about skating rinks at the parks.

The street cars handled the large crowd in first-rate order yesterday afternoon.

Considerable new cotton came in today. The market is strong with an upward tendency.

No plays next week and we will have to content ourselves with the excitement of the Superior court.

Everybody was satisfied at the races yesterday. The ladies took a peculiar delight in all that transpired.

The practice of throwing scuppernong hulls on the sidewalks still prevails. It should be stopped, by all means.

Look out for several new advertisements of our business people in the VISITOR next week. They must have it.

The Greensboro Patriot is for sale. It is one of the oldest papers in North Carolina and might be made good paying property.

Thirty four new lawyers were turned out by the Supreme court yesterday afternoon. There were none from Wake county.

It may not be Kope Elias after all. It is reported that the finance committee of the senate will report adversely to his nomination.

Preparations are already on foot for grand marshalls state ball during the fair. Stronach's auditorium has been secured for the occasion.

Where can the objection be to restoring the old capitol bell which used to ring up members in days gone by? It might be made useful in many ways.

It has now been definitely decided to close the world's fair on October 31st. There will now undoubtedly be a great rush from all parts of the country.

The remains of Helen May, infant daughter of Mr and Mrs Garland Jones, who died yesterday were carried to Louisburg this morning for interment.

Hillsboro street, between the railroad bridge and Major Tucker's corner, should be looked after before the fair. It is in a pretty rough condition, much to the injury of vehicles.

Work on the new Main street Methodist church at Reidsville is about completed. It cost about $15,000, and is one of the most imposing structures of the kind in North Carolina.
