MY KING.

All that the whole world holds for me Of a faith in the world above! You come-and it seemed too mighty For my humble heart to hold;

It seemed, in its sacred glory, Like a glimpse through the Gate of Gold, Like life in the perennial Eden, Created, formed anew-This dream of perfect manhood That I realize in you.

God created me a w man, With a nature just as true As the blue, eternal oceau-

As the sky that is over you And you are mine until your Maker calls you-Your soul and your body, sweet! . Your breath, and the whole of your being, From your kingly head to your feet-Your eyes, and the light that is in them, Your lips, with their maddening wine, Your arms, with their passionate clasp, my king-Your body and soul are mine.

No power, whatsoever, No will but God's alone, Can take you from my keeping; You are His and mine alone!

know not where, if ever-I know not when or how Death's hands may try the fetters That bind us here and now; But some day, when God beckons, Where rise His fronded palms,

My soul shall cross the River And lay you in His arms; Forever and forever, beyond the Silent Sea You will rest in the Arms Eternal, And still belong to me.

The people of Roanoke were crazed for a time with excitement, remarks the Richmond State, but now that reason has returned, they have, like sensible men, invited Mayor Trout to return to his home and to his kindred. This is well. Mayor Trout has, we believe, done what he conceived to be his daty as an officer of the law.
