

The Daily Evening Visitor

VOL. XXIX.

WEDNESDAY, OCTOBER 10, 1893.

NO. 143

CITY IN BRIEF.

Locals Picked Up Here and There and Boiled Down.

The matrimonial fever has broke loose in earnest.

Truck farmers are evidently holding back for fair week.

The market was rather slimly supplied this morning with country produce.

Some splendid beaves from Southwestern Virginia arrived in the city today.

Wilfred Clarke will be the attraction at the Academy of Music on the 17th inst.

When will we get a new index book for the Register of Deeds office? It is much needed.

There are now about 200 students at Trinity College and the number is daily increasing.

Mr R R Raney has returned to the city after an extended trip to Europe and the north.

The Chapel Hill News is the name of a new paper at that place. It ought to succeed.

Gov Carr paid an official visit a few days since to the Eastern Asylum at Goldsboro. He found matters in a most satisfactory condition.

The office of the secretary of the state fair will be moved out to the grounds at noon next Friday. After that time all business will be transacted there.

An old woman, her daughter and two sons, were brought to the city yesterday and lodged in jail. They were implicated in the robbery of C. J. Bright's store, at New Hill last Saturday night.

The Steadfast Circle of the King's Daughters will give an entertainment at Brooklyn church Friday night, Oct 13th. Admission 10c for children, 15c adult, 20c reserved seats. Everybody come and help in this noble work.

We invite the special attention of the public to the advertisement of Messrs Snelling & Hicks. These gentlemen having secured the services of Mr Ed G Birdsong, a newly graduated pharmacist, are now prepared to serve the public in the best and most expeditious manner. Everything in the druggist line. Call on them.

Don't forget you always get the best Norfolk oysters at Jordan's.

Apples

are cheap by the barrel or measure at D T Johnson's.

Remember Jordan's dining hall will be open until 12 o'clock at night from now on. Call if you want nice oysters in any style.

Bananas

are cheap by the bunch or dozen at D T Johnson's.

Wonderfully Educated Animals

Prof Gentry's Equine and Canine Paradox that will be in Raleigh under a tent near the capitol, on Halifax street, three nights beginning Monday, Oct 16, and matinee Wednesday, is perhaps the most wonderful of its kind in the United States. The intelligence of these ponies and dogs is truly wonderful, and it is all done by kindness. Every animal answers promptly to his name, and does everything he is told to do except talk. Prof Gentry has 45 dogs and 16 ponies. They are all Shetland ponies save "Eureka" and "Dottie Dimple" which are East India "horses," the only two of the kind in the country. The dogs comprise every species from the Russian poodle to the Indiana cur, but they are smart. The backward assault, the lame dogs, the clown dogs, the leaping of the troupe of greyhounds, and above all, the trick of "Omaha" and "Major" and the remarkable acting of "Colonel" are very fine. The pony drill is superb as is also the mischief making of "The Tough" and the teterboard work of "Sondrop." The living pyramid of dogs and ponies is also a novelty much enjoyed. The admission: Children, 10 cents, adults, 20 cents.

Men Wanted.

We have situations now ready for four or five good experienced salesmen. If you think you fill the bill, call in person for terms. D T Swindell.

The nicest restaurant in this city for ladies and gentlemen is Jordan's Call and see for yourself. Everything first class.

Four Girls Disfigure the Old Man.

They do him up well. They break his arms, dislocate his jaw, bend his face, neck, a hump on his back, cut his head, sprain his legs, fracture his skull, dislodge his eyes, twist his neck, pulled a piece off his tongue, broke his new suspenders and tore off his clothes rendering it necessary to amputate his arms and both legs, trepan his skull, put his neck in plaster and there lie still on his back five years or more at the end of which time he will probably die, and all this train of evils overtook the poor jay because he failed to obey the girls. They told him to buy from D T Swindell's millinery a hat for each of them and he did not; and two of them wanted a cloak and he would not get them. They had seen Swindell's hats and cloaks and the old man saw old Nick.

Madame Besson has a complete line of ladies and children's millinery. 017

Riggan's toy store is now open. Everybody invited to see it at the Academy of Music, back of postoffice.

She Wears the Pants.

As the people of Oberlin and Brooklyn were returning home last night they witnessed a most unusual scene. A man, bleeding from many cuts about the shoulder, lay on the side of the road and his wife stood over him applying the lash. The groans and pleadings of the poor fellow, who was drunk, were heartrending and brought down the condemnation of the people; but the woman seemed to be totally oblivious of any one's presence save her and "Simon." All she would say was "Sime! Sime! take that, and that, you triflin' wretch," as she laid on the whip. When at last the bystanders interfered and made the lady explain her conduct.

"Well," said she, "he ought to be killed. I give him seven dollars this morning—my week's wages—and told him to go to D T Swindell's store and buy me some of them carpet remnants, one and a quarter yards long, all wool, at 39 cents each, and some of those one yard long, all wool, at 34 cents each, and he did not go but spent my money and got drunk." And the old lady flew on to Simon again and the crowd cheered her and left Simon to get sober under the lash. Next time Simon will go to Swindell's when told to.

"Morrel"—Keep in the middle of the road, go to Swindell's, and you will always stay on top.
