RALEIGH, MONDAY, NOVEMBER 6, 1893.

NO. 13

CITY IN BRIEF.

Locals Picked Up Here and There and Boiled Down.

The first snow of the season struck Raleigh today.

The grip is getting prevalent, and several of our citizens are suffering from it.

The Chrysanthemum show has been a great success. The receipts were about $275.

A complimentary german will be given at the L'Allegro club to Mr and Mrs Wm Grimes tomorrow night.

The president has issued temporary commission to Mr Simmons and he will probably be sworn in soon.

Mrs WA Walker, of Albuquerque, New Mexico, is visiting her sister, Mrs TC Harris, on Saunders street.

Mr W J Rillington has gone north to purchase machinery for a new sash and blind factory to be located in Raleigh.

The county commissioners are in session today. It is expected that much business of a routine character will be transacted.

The Superior Court re assembled this morning at 10 o'clock. The docket was called and such cases were resumed as were of importance.

The event of the week will be the game of football tomorrow afternoon at Athletic Park between football clubs of the University of Tennessee and the A & M College.

See notice of sealed proposals and sale of lots belonging to the Rex Hospital. Proposals will be received until November 15th, 1893, and the sale of lots will take place on the same day.

The utmost sympathy is expressed throughout the State for Mr Caldwell, editor of the Charlotte Observer, on account of the death of his most estimable wife in which the VISITOR sincerely joins.

The annual entertainment of the Y M C A., at the Agricultural and Mechanical College last night was but a small crowd in attendance. The singing was excellent and participated in by the ladies of the neighborhood.

Our friend "Dave" Rosenthal of the Rosenthal Clothing Company has inaugurated another great slashing. There has nothing been seen like it in Raleigh for years, if ever. The reductions in prices are far beyond all comparison. Call at once.

The well known house of Messrs Thomas & Maxwell are still the champion leaders in the furniture line in Raleigh. There is nothing in the business that cannot be found in their immense establishment at such prices as are bound to command the approbation of the public. Call and see for yourselves at their place south side of market.

The art of regulating values is a peculiar and but few can come fully up to its requirements. The well known firm of B & D Berwanger has however struck the key note and today they lay the subject before the people in the plainest manner. These gentlemen are placing on the market some of the most astounding values ever seen in Raleigh. It requires only a visit to their well known establishment to be convinced of the fact. "Tave and Sam" will see that you are shown around in the promptest manner.

The VISITOR renews its proposition to place the Confederate monument on the mound now occupied by Geo Washington (bare headed) and that the father of his country be moved to the rotunda of the capitol. This is the most appropriate place for it. We are glad to note that our friends rather concur with us in the opinion that the south side of the state house would be the most appropriate place for the monument. The change could be made with but little cost.

Returned.

We are pleased to state that our friend Mr Jno B Neathery has returned from a six weeks visit to the University Hospital of Maryland where he has been for treatment. He underwent a very severe operation and is nearly fully restored.

The King's Daughters.

The regular monthly meeting of "The United Order of the King's Daughters," will be held at the Mission rooms at 4 p m, Tuesday, Nov 7. Important committees will be appointed. All members are earnestly requested to be present. Each Circle is expected to send to this meeting their representatives on the Board of Directors.

SHE WALKED OFF WITH TWO BARRELS OF FLOUR.

Lewiston Journal.

"When you talk about strong men I can tell you a story," said a local truckman today "It was before I was in the jobbing business that there lived in Lewiston a woman who could beat all the strong men from Sampson to Tyr.

"She was in the old grocery store on the corner one day when the proprietor pointed to a couple of flour barrels saying: 'Mary, if you'll carry them home I'll give them to you.' Sanborn, who was a truckman thirty years and who sold out to James Cole, was there and offered to bet that she couldn't carry one.

"Put them on the counter," she said, 'an' I'll take them both.'

"Four men lifted the barrels up and she went up to them full of confidence, and resting the bottom of one on her right hip, circled the barrel with one of her long arms and then swung around so as to grasp the other in the same way, and, as I live, she carried them out and along the street to a place 300 yards down the road where one of them fell and upset her balance. You see she rested them on her hips and didn't try to lift them by her back. The grocer gave her the flour."
