VOL. XXX.

RALEIGH, TUESDAY, NOVEMBER 14, 1893.

NO. 20

CITY IN BRIEF.

Locals Picked Up Here and There and Boiled Down.

Regular London fog this morning. The Superior Court expired Saturday by limitation.

Several prominent Baltimore business men are in the city.

Secure your seats for "The Burglar" now. That is, if you want good ones.

Rumors are afloat that a new Democratic weekly will appear in this city shortly.

It is the understanding that Collector Simmons will enter on the discharge of his duties this week.

It has been finally agreed that the Wake Forest and University teams will meet in combat in Raleigh on the 18th inst.

"The Burglar" at the Academy of Music next Thursday night. Don't forget to secure seats at once at Jno Y MacRae's.

In our issue of last Saturday we stated these would be no more courts until February. There is a term in January for the trial of criminal cases.

A revival is in progress at the Swain street mission on the eastern suburbs of the city. Several earnest workers are engaged and much interest is manifested.

Extensive arrangements have been made at the State Museum for the reception of the Chicago exhibits. It is expected that they will arrive here about the 1st of December.

Hon Edwin G Reade the venerable president of the Raleigh National Bank, celebrated his 83d birthday yesterday. May he enjoy many more years of health and prosperity.

We are authorized to announce that the german which was to have been given tonight by the capital club to Mr and Mrs Wm Grimes and to Mr and Mrs Jno B Kinney, has been postponed until Friday evening next.

The meeting of the chamber of commerce tonight is one of the most important ever held. The subject of sidewalks will be made a specialty, and other matters pertaining to the affairs of the city will be discussed. We hope there may be a very large turn out.

Messrs Thomas & Maxwell are still astonishing the natives in the way of furniture of every description. Nothing in the furniture line escape their attention. They keep in stock all the novelties. No better chance is offered housekeepers, either in this city or state. Remember the place. Market square, south side.

Those who attend the performances of Hamlet and Richard III, on Wednesday and Thursday nights, should be in the hall by 8 o'clock or a little after. The plays are of more than ordinary length, and of such a character that persons entering the hall after the curtain rises tend to interrupt the performance. We throw out the suggestion in the interest of all concerned.

The well known clothing emporium of the Rosenthal clothing company still holds the fort in the matter of first class clothing at the most reasonable prices. The Indefatigable "Dave" still holds the fort and he never fails to please the public in the matter of peculiar fitness. He is ever ready, anxious and willing to serve you. Call and see him.

Perhaps the worst sidewalk in the city is that on the north side of Hillsboro near the corner of West street. It is what may be termed a regular quagmire and utterly impassable. It could be repaired at a very small cost, requiring a coat of cinders over the red clay. It should be attended to at once and we commend it to the attention of our efficient street commissioner.

A Rich Treat.

The theatre-going people of this city have a rich treat for them at Metropolitan hall on Wednesday and Thursday evenings in the presentation of Hamlet and Richard the Third by Mr James Young, Jr

Mr Young and his company have given entire satisfaction where they have appeared, and the indications are that they will have large audiences here, if we may judge by the way that reserved seats are being taken at MacRae's drugstore

Mr Young's father is a prominent publisher of Baltimore, has been a representative of the Maryland Grand Lodge in the Sovereign Grand Lodge of Odd Fellows for many years, and is well known by Messrs O M Busbee, Joseph G Brown and O B Edwards who have been associated with him in said body, and who naturally feel an interest in the success of his son in his chosen profession.

We learn that Mr James Young, Jr., is also a member of that great order.

The Street Railway.

The thirty days allowed the Street Railway Company to suspend will soon pass away, and whatever is to be done in the way of a continuance of the system must be accomplished without delay. We know nothing of the status of the matter and presume that no one else does outside of those immediately peculiarly interested. The hint has been thrown out, however, that the meeting of the Chamber of Commerce tonight, may have some bearing in the premises. Surely there should be a way "out of the woods," and it should be taken for granted that in the capital city of North Carolina, there is enough tact, pluck, energy and capital to secure the retention of an enterprise upon which so largely depends the prosperity and progress of the community. We hope that tonight, the matter may receive due consideration.

Funeral.

The funeral services of the late Rev Dr H M Tupper took place today at 12 o'clock from the chapel of Shaw institute. There was a very large attendance including members of Gen Meade Post, G A R, students, relatives, friends and citizens generally. In accordance with the expressed desire of the deceased, the interment was made in the grounds of the institution.

Races.

The Piedmont Driving Club, of Reidsville will have its initial races over the new track on November 22d and 23d. There will be trotting and running races and bicycle races. Greatly reduced rates have been given by the railroads and it is expected that large crowds will attend.
