

The Daily Evening

VOL. XXX.

RALEIGH, THURSDAY, DECEMBER 28, 1900

Col Tate continues to improve.
See the beautiful views at Metropolitan hall tonight.

Mr John P Kerr, of the Asheville Citizen, is in the city.

Mrs Mary Banks, of Durham, is visiting friends in this city.

The different railroads did a very thriving business Christmas.

Mr Oscar Beatty, of San Francisco, is in the city visiting his uncle, Mr A A Thonson.

Next Monday is another holiday and the banks and public buildings will be closed.

The docket for the coming Superior Court is quite large, but most of the cases are trivial.

The grip is prevailing in the city, but so far it has not developed into a very malignant type.

Miss Maud Marshall, of this city, is to be married January 31st, to Mr J W L Butt, of Norfolk.

Matters in the city have about resumed their natural status. The Christmas excitement has entirely died out.

Mr Albert Andrews, of Atlanta, who has been spending the holidays with his relatives in this city, has returned home.

The eldest inhabitant is now puzzling his brain for a similar Christmas in point of balmy weather. It does not often occur.

It was reported today that there is some improvement in the condition of Col Heck. We hope he may soon be restored to health.

The usual new years calls will be made next Monday. We hope our governor will have a popular reception. It looks like old times.

Dr Hubert Haywood has returned to the city from a visit to Wilmington caused from the sickness of his sister, Mrs Preston L Bridgers.

We hear that a very large crowd from the surrounding country attended the funeral of Consul General Jones today at White Plains, the old family seat near Cary.

Yesterday our friend Dugli received two large orders. One was for a wedding at Mebane and the other for a reception at Ashboro. Dugli's services are always in demand.

The monument society has not yet awarded the contract for the granite. It is proposed to leave the selection to the state geologist. This is a good idea.

The terms of several hundred postmasters are about to expire and it is expected that the president will send in many nominations as soon as congress assembles.

Don't fail to see the World's Fair at Metropolitan hall tonight. The great show can be seen in miniature. It will be an interesting occasion under the auspices of the Christian church.

There is a constant increase of students at the A and M College. Almost every week brings new additions. It is getting to be one of the most honored institutions of the land.

Hurrah for our boys!—the Governor's Guard—they have tendered their services to the ladies and will fight the battle of Gettysburg for them in the Confederate entertainment next week.

The new short line inaugurated by the B & D railroad from Washington City to Tampa, Florida, will greatly facilitate the receipt and delivery of northern papers throughout North Carolina, as it has been selected by the government as the great southern mail route.

We hope our Chamber of Commerce will not lose sight of the importance of the electric railroad and suggest some plan whereby it may be run. It looks rather like a reflection on our city that such an enterprise should fall when in other places, not so large, they are carried on with success.

Home Reunion.
Messrs James, Will, Harry and Elmer Weir, all sons of our respected citizen, Mr "Jack" Weir, are in the city spending holiday week with their parents. These young gentlemen make it a rule to visit "the old folks at home" each Christmas when it is possible to do so. This is highly commendable, and we hope they may long live to enjoy such reunions.

Trip to the World's Fair for a Quarter.
Uncle Zedekiah at the World's Fair is the most popular stereoptical entertainment before the public this winter. The Ladies Aid Society of the Christian church have engaged Prof Hermano tonight at Metropolitan hall. The best recommendation we can give this exhibition is that it has been presented twenty four times to Norfolk and Portsmouth audiences. 100 scenes, 600 feet of canvas. Admission adults 25, children 15.

The Weather.
For North Carolina: Showers today or tonight; fair Friday slightly warmer Friday morning.
Local forecast for Raleigh and vicinity.
On Friday: Fair weather warmer, southwest winds.
Synopsis: The slight low area yesterday central over the lake region has developed into a storm of considerable intensity, with the lowest pressure at Marquette 29.88 inches.
Brisk southwest winds with much warmer weather prevail in the central valley, with but little rain.
The weather is generally cloudy and threatening everywhere except over Florida.

Our Merchants.
We took occasion today to interview some of our merchants relative to their trade during the week preceding Christmas, and we are pleased to note that they express themselves highly pleased with the patronage received. To some this was an agreeable disappointment in view of the hard times, but somehow or other almost everybody had little money and spent it freely. We can further add that most of those with whom we talked said that they were indebted to advertisements for their trade, which in these days of competition cannot be overlooked. This is good news all around, and we hope that our business men may find ample encouragement during the coming year.

Interesting Report
The committee of the Chamber of Commerce has made a most interesting report as follows:
1. That the Press of North Carolina urge upon the business men of the towns and cities of the State to form business men's associations and to connect themselves with the State Association.
2. That the Press of North Carolina will actively urge the importance of such association, contributing to the fund necessary to defray North Carolina's proportionate part of the expense of publishing the letters of the Governors of the twelve Southern States, setting out the material resources of each State and the advantages offered capitalists and immigrants.
3. That we urge the several railroads of the State to encourage investment of capitalists by setting out the peculiar advantage along their various routes by publishing books and pamphlets for distribution and to encourage immigration by reduced rates and such other inducements as they may be able to offer.
4. That the press of North Carolina will further aid the objects of the said Association by sending out trade editions containing illustrations and information relating to their immediate sections.

We answer, nobody does this, yet I adopt this style of advertising. It is a statement.
The fact that an article is reduced in price is self-evident that it is not worth any more. A straight tin, square deal and honest treatment satisfies all.
Our prices, stock through and through are lower than others. Think a moment compare expenses, figure a little, the advantage you readily see is ours. We have the nerve to mark low. Nothing pleases the people so well, gains their confidence or holds their trade as the foundation principles upon which we rest our claim for public patronage.
