THE LYON RACKET STORE,

PERSONAL MENTION

Of People Who Came and Went Today.

Rev. Dr. W S Black, who brought the remains of his son here for reinterment, returned to Oxford today.

Prof. W F Massey is to be among the speakers at the annual meeting of the N C college association at Durham next week.

Mrs Keogh, wife of Col. Thomas B Keogh, commissioner to the World's Fair died in New York yesterday, of nervous prostration.

Prof Holmes, State geologist, arrived today, to be present at the meeting of the Confederate monument association this afternoon.

Prof. John L Weber, who has held the chair of English at Trinity college, has resigned and will return to South Carolina, his home.

John T Ford, manager of Ford's grand opera house, and the old theatrical manager, died at his home at Baltimore yesterday. His companies have several times appeared here.

This morning in East Raleigh the horses ran away with Dr McKee's carriage. They dashed into a post, one horse fell and the carriage was somewhat damaged.

Twenty convicts are at work making a new road north of the covered bridge over Crabtree creek. This road, known as the Louisa road, is being straightened, as far as the Knobrough Jones place. Next week the work will be done. A good road is the result.

West Hargett street between Fayetteville and South Salisbury street needs attention.

The Hillsboro road between St. Mary's and the fair grounds is quite rough and needs macadam.

George Cooper Connor, the eminent author of Masonic works, died at his home in Chattanooga a few days ago.

It is the belief of not a few people here that there is some sort of a "bitch" as to the appointment of Raleigh's new postmaster.

The commissioner of agriculture says that while the truckers are using commercial fertilizers very liberally this season, the farmers elsewhere are using them sparingly. The sales of tags show this clearly.

Thirty seven names are on the list as charter members of a new lodge of Knights of Pythias to be established in Wilmington. Fayetteville is also to have a new lodge with thirty seven members. Last night a lodge was organized at Marion.

The fine weather has made tobacco plants boom. Some farmers say that they have plants large enough to set out. This is considered by many too early; for the plant does not grow so well when it is set out before the warm weather of April. The roots become diseased, which prevents the rapid growth of the plant.

Wednesday night about 10 o'clock Mr G U Baucom, who lives near Auburn, was awakened by a noise and found his barn and stables on fire. He lost all his buildings save his dwelling and it required hard work to save that. He lost ten cows, three horses, two mules, 1000 bushels of cotton seed, ten milk cows, with wagons, buggies, &c. All of the cows were Jerseys, and one of the horses a very fine Pamlico colt. Mr Baucom has no insurance.

One of the commendable things about the play "The Still Alarm," at the Academy of Music on Tuesday, March 20th, is the fact that Mr Arthur has always been bitterly opposed to the policy of cheapening the cast and reducing the expense of a production after it has made a success through the aid of high salaried people and a liberal expenditure of money for an elaborate presentation. He believes a good play when performed by first

CITY IN BRIEF.

Locals Piled Up Here and There and Boiled Down.

Cotton receipts here today 100 bales. The man who wanted to buy pigeons here secured 500.

There will be no frost tonight, that danger having been passed.

The season for shooting partridges and other birds save snipe and black birds ended today.

The mayor has sentenced to work on the roads Con Perry, white, and Robert Weaver, colored.

On the evening of March 30 the Kings' Daughters of Raleigh will give an entertainment.

Sixty convicts will be sent from the penitentiary next Saturday to the "Caledonia" farm on the Rjanoke.

During the month 46 convicts have arrived at the penitentiary, three of these going in today, after having spent last night in jail here.

The frost Wednesday morning was light in this vicinity, but nipped the blooming strawberries in the Wilmington section.

The "Union" bicycle club is composed of twelve little girls, all living in the western part of the city, who ride very cleverly.

The baseball team of the agricultural college, which is said to be a pretty good one, will play the Wake Forest team on the 28th on the latter's grounds.

It was reported today that the negro Bridgers, who tried to rob Williams, a white farmer, and whose throat was cut, was dead. It is not true; he is getting on quite well.

The first shad of the season was caught today at Milburne, in a dip net under the dam. The fish weighed 5 1/2 pounds. It is a much earlier catch than usual.

The new idea of having hotel "drummers" lined up near the depot is a bad one. It harasses travelers and will certainly cause complaint. Raleigh has been free from this trouble heretofore.

Under the auspices of the home missionary society of the Presbyterian church a "silver tea" will be given from 5 to 10 p m today, at the home of Mr Julius Lewis, 608 Hillsboro street.

Mr Oates, one of the state fertilizer inspectors, says that wherever he goes he finds the farmers far ahead with their work. They are everywhere showing a disposition to make things move.

This State receives $1,024 from Virginia, being that State's share of the expenses of re-establishing the boundary line between the two States. This State's claim was six years old, North Carolina having paid all the cost of the survey.

The Wake Forest college baseball team challenged the University team, but the latter declined, because all the time allowed for games is taken up. Wake Forest now has on its team Stafford and Smith, who were well known players on the Oak Ridge team last year.

At the Baptist tabernacle the attendance is so large as to test the utmost capacity of the building. Rev Mr Broughton's sermon last evening was on "Denying Christ," and was full of force. Bible services are held daily at 4 p m., and the evening services begin at 7:45.

Mention was made yesterday in a brief way of the escape of three white convicts for the county workhouse Wednesday night. Two were tramps, who last winter robbed the house of Mr John Smith, the third being Barwell Perry, of New Light township, an old criminal who many years ago also escaped from the penitentiary and at the same time released six other convicts. Perry played sick Wednesday and during the day burned holes under the stove with a heated piece of wire. That night the others aided him in this. The stove was moved aside, the planks easily broken and the men went out at the hole.

Early this morning as Miss Kate Reddy, of New York, who has been serving cocoa at Ferrall & Co's, was riding on horseback in company with Mr George Hill, she was the victim of what was at first thought to be a serious accident. Her horse ran away on Fayetteville street. Mr Hill attempted to stop him. Miss Reddy called to a colored man to stop the horse. The man shook a bucket at the horse, the latter shied and Miss Reddy jumped. She struck heavily on her side and head, was taken into a store near by and was for twenty minutes unconscious. She was taken to the Park hotel, at which she is stopping. No one was broken and happily there were no serious injuries. She is badly

HOW RALEIGH GROWS.

Notes About Improvements and Enterprises.

At the Mills wagon company's factory during twelve months ending today 500 wagons were made. The company earned over 8 per cent. Yet it had to fight a bad season and also the sale of 490 of an old stock of wagons. The sales in February were the largest in any month in a year.

There are many improvements near the agricultural and mechanical college, these being mainly due to the erection of some tasteful dwellings. One of these is occupied by Mr. B. S. Skinner, whose former home is now occupied by Col. A. Q. Holliday. Prof. D. H. Hill has a pretty cottage. Other new buildings are occupied by Rev. Mr. Hunter and Mrs. Hollingsworth, the latter being a boarding house for students of the college.

Prosperous North Carolina.

The February number of the agricultural department's bulletin today, contains the first fertilizer analyses this season. In the bulletin Commissioner Robinson says: "The condition of farmers in North Carolina is one which gives great assurance at this time, and should encourage our people very much. In the north and particularly northwest, the suffering and destitution amongst the one crop farmers is such as to cause great apprehension. So great is the depression that many are writing this office in search of new homes in a mild climate where a variety of farm products may be grown. The financial depression has affected our farmers but little; they may not, and in many cases have not much, if any, cash, but they have plenty to feed man and beast and a prospect of a good crop before them. The climatic conditions have never been better for the furtherance of all farm operations than we have enjoyed in this State this year; and that, too, while the great northwest felt the blizzard and was buried in snow. We are sure that our section must ultimately become the great garden and dairy of the eastern half of this great country. Let our farmers see to it that they grow a sufficiency of food stuffs, so that the problem of 'What shall we eat?' may be solved; then put in all the cotton and tobacco that can be well tended, and no more. This is the only safe course for our people. Don't forget a good kitchen garden—the health and comfort of the household demand that this matter be attended to."

The city last fall purchased a steam road-roller. It owns no stone crusher or screens and as a result the roller has stood idle all these months of fine weather. No stone has been crushed, no streets macadamized, and the roller has not turned a wheel. There are thousands of tons of granite in the city's quarry. An engine is needed there to pump out the water. The question now is will anything be done or what does the city propose to do. If any citizen will ask supervisor McMackin what the township steam-roller has done since it was purchased (a little later than the city roller) he will be astonished. This matter ought to be looked into. Raleigh's streets have been, like its sidewalks, too long a reproach, for machinery which can improve them to stand idle. Why were not the crusher, &c., purchased when the roller was bought? These are pertinent questions.

The Weather.

For North Carolina: Showers, preceded by fair in eastern portion.
Local forecast for Raleigh and vicinity:
On Friday: Occasional showers, warmer.

Local data for 24 hours, ending 8 a m today:
Maximum temperature, 67; minimum temperature, 45; rainfall .00
Synopsis: A new storm is moving rapidly across the lake region, which is keeping the weather warm in the central valley and southern and eastern states.

The weather is generally cloudy and warm, except in the northwest and on the north Atlantic coast, where the temperature has fallen slightly.

A trough of low pressure extends from the lake region southwest to Texas which will prevent the approach of cold weather for some days.
