

RHEUMATISM

AN INSIDIOUS DISEASE THAT BREAKS DOWN THE STRONGEST

Rheumatism does not come on in a day; the disease that produces it works slowly in the system for years. This insidious disease becomes entrenched in the blood, and some exposure to cold or damp weather, or slight indisposition brings on an attack. Poor digestion, stomach troubles, weak kidneys, torpid liver, and a general sluggish condition of the system are responsible for Rheumatism. Food entering in the stomach without the aid of the digestive juices, and the failure of the kidneys and liver to act properly cause waste matter and impurities in the system, which, coming in contact with the natural acids of the body, form uric acid. This is absorbed by the blood, and as it penetrates to the muscles, nerves and bones produces the terrible pain and aches and other disagreeable symptoms of Rheumatism. Life is made a torture by its devastating pains, nerves are shattered, the health undermined, and if the disease is not checked it breaks down the strongest constitution. It will not do to depend on plaster, liniments, etc. Such treatment is helpful in easing the pain and reducing the inflammation, but does not reach the blood where the trouble is located. S. S. S. cures Rheumatism by purifying and invigorating the blood, driving out all impurities and poisons and sending a stream of strong, rich blood to wash out all irritating particles that are causing the pain and inflammation. S. S. S. stimulates the stomach organs to better action, tones up the stomach and digestion, restores nervous energy and builds up the entire health. S. S. S. cures Rheumatism, whether acute or chronic, and the cure is thorough and lasting. Book on Rheumatism and any medical advice desired without charge.

WANT YOUNG MEN CONSULS

about the wisdom for its maintenance. The salaries of consuls in the bureau are carried on the contingent roll of the State Department, and the Secretary said the bureau was regarded as an independent and unattached emergency establishment.

Mr. Kessens a number of years ago.

Representative Littaker asked Mr. Root if the bureau would be permanent, and the Secretary of State provided a laugh with the following reply:

"The indications are that it will not be. The making of a system of consular control does not appear to have the elements of 'eternal life.'"

As to China.

In discussing trade conditions in China and the necessity for gathering information concerning commercial troubles there, Mr. Root said:

"There is no occasion for sending a commission to China. Our ministers and consuls at the treaty ports of China are commissioned now. If these gentlemen will come up here I will bring them in papers so that they could not get out for a week. We have hundreds and hundreds of reports from perfectly trustworthy American witnesses as to what has been happening in China and as to the cause thereof. We have had special investigations made at so many of the consulates made by competent Americans who have lived in China and understand the language and know the Chinese people, and the trouble now is not ignorance as to what the conditions are, it is in applying the quite plain and simple remedy. There have been two troubles—one arising from the fact that the law—the Chinese exclusion act—contains some provisions which experience has shown to be ill advised, and the other is that the law has been administered in a harsh and inconsiderate way.

"The President has remedied the administration, I think, just as far as the law permits him to do, and the thing to be done now is for you to change the law in some respects; not so as to permit the Chinese laborer to come in, but so that the Chinese laborer can be kept out without insult and indignity and hardship to the Chinese merchants and scholars and the men who occupy the same position in the Chinese community as the people in this room occupy in ours. They have been subjected to gross indignity and gross hardships in many cases, and I do not wonder that they are indignant of it."

WITNESS TELLS OF MORRIS INCIDENT

In her speech on Wednesday Senator Tillman read the statement of an eyewitness to the Morris affair, and offered to submit it in the shape of an exhibit. The statement, however, was not received.

The statement of the witness, which is a newspaper clipping, was as follows:

"Coming to the general office, near Mr. Loomis's door, a lady, whom I afterwards found out to be Mrs. Morris, giving me very quietly, evidently waiting to see one of the secretaries. I entered the press room and engaged in a general conversation with the secretaries and other men in the room. The door to the press room is always open, and as the hour was near the President's lunch hour everything was unusually quiet in the lobby. Very suddenly we heard a loud exclamation which sounded like 'Oh, my, my, my, my, my.' All of us jumped to the door and entered the main room, where we found a secret-service officer and another French in the act of pulling the woman out of the chair in which she was sitting. Prior to this we had heard no loud voices, and I am positive there was no disturbance of any kind. A word spoken above an ordinary tone would have reached our ears very easily. The men pulled the woman to the door where Officer Murphy relieved the secret-service man. Their object was to get her to the guard-room, just opposite the Treasury building. To do this they had to carry her down the path leading to the basement of the White House and through the long corridor, used during the reception, before going twenty feet. Mrs. Morris fell in her knees, but was jerked to her feet and dragged on. Before they disappeared from sight she must have fallen six or eight times. Just before disappearing through the archway leading to the basement, I saw a negro man, Charlie Reeder, the President's footman, rush out and pick her up by the heels. The last I saw of Mrs. Morris she was being carried off like a sack of salt, with the negro at her feet and her dress hanging above her knees. I went around to the guard-room and saw Mrs. Morris literally thrown into an awaiting cab."

TO APPOINT A SOUTHERN MAN

The secretary said the whole matter would have to be carefully considered by him.

Concerning the personnel of the crop estimating board, Secretary Wilson said he had about determined upon a prominent southern man for appointment to the vacancy on the board created by the death of Mr. Hutchins, and that in due course he would relieve Assistant Secretary Hays as the acting head of the statistical bureau in order that he might resume the general work of the department.

Vardaman Threshed Convict.

An Associated Press dispatch last night says:

Governor Vardaman, in a recent message to the Legislature, charged that body to make a thorough investigation of the State convict system. Rumors that Governor Vardaman had recently thrashed a convict at the Executive Mansion, resulted in an interview with the Governor in which he admitted that he had whipped the convict, who, while shining the Governor's shoes, had made an impudent remark. The Governor said he kicked the convict, then taking a broom had given him a sound thrashing. This act is to be investigated by the legislative committee, which was appointed on the Governor's recommendation. The affair and its publicity have created a sensation.

The Governor has stirred up considerable surprise in the House by sending in a message recommending that trusty convicts, instead of hired laborers, be used as porters around the Capitol. The recommendation has already aroused violent opposition. The Governor wants the convict porters "uniformed in gray or some other agreeable color."

Famous South American Dead.

Patronage Settled

Marshal Claudius Dockery Returned Today

Chairman Rollins Has Only to Pick Out Postmasters Run—Secretary John Hill Open—Back from the Capitol.

Collector E. C. Dunstan and Claudius Dockery, to-be-marshals, returned to-day from Washington City, where they spent three days and visited the White House with State Chairman Rollins and other party leaders.

The distribution of the three big pieces of patronage in the eastern part of the State is now a thing of the past and the other counties will be over appointments as postmasters. These will be settled on the terms of the postmasters' report.

Col. Harry Skinner, as district attorney and E. C. Dunstan as collector had already received re-appointments and Collector E. F. Keith at Wilmington has shared the same good fortune. The appointment of Claudius Dockery as United States marshal for this district will probably be made to-day or to-morrow and Mr. Dockery returned here with this happy assurance from the President. Mr. Dockery will take charge about February first, he thinks. He has no announcement to make yet of his deputies.

The term of Col. Henry C. Dockery as marshal expired last Saturday. He has friends throughout the State and is one of the most popular Republicans among all classes in North Carolina. His departure from Raleigh is regretted. He will return to Rockingham, Richmond county, where he has large business interests. He is now devoting much of his time to organizing the cotton farmers and raising funds for the work for he holds the position of chairman of the State Cotton Growers Executive Committee.

His successor is his nephew, a lawyer by profession, a resident of Raleigh now, and a young man with a host of friends. He has served in the Legislature and was a candidate for Lieutenant Governor on the Republican ticket eight years ago.

The adherents of the Rollins faction here are delighted over recent events which prove conclusively that the State chairman is the sole dispenser of patronage in this State.

They say that allowing Congressman Blackburn the patronage in his district and the naming of the marshal in the west is entirely agreeable to them. In fact this was conceded to the young congressman who carried the Eighth district from the first.

Interest will now center in the selection of a district attorney and collector in the west to succeed Holton and Harkins, respectively. Congressman Blackburn will name Wagener, of Statesville, as marshal. For postmaster at Greensboro, Tyre Glenn, present incumbent, and Robert D. Douglas, editor of The Industrial News, are mentioned.
