Slayer of Miss Mabel Page Will be Executed

President Roosevelt, Who Was Appealed to in Tucker's Behalf, Declines to Interfere—Says that Governor Guild's Decision in the Case is Quite Correct.

(By the Associated Press.)

Boston, Mass., June 11.—Governor Guild made public today a telegram received by him from President Roosevelt in which the president, after pointing out that he had been requested to interfere with the execution of Charles L. Tucker, declares that in his judgment Governor Guild's decision not to interfere with the carrying out of the sentence on Tucker seemed to him entirely sound and commended his hearty sympathy.

Tucker is under sentence of death this week probably tonight, for the murder of Miss Mabel Page at Weston, March 21, 1904. President Roosevelt's telegram follows:

"White House, Washington, June 10, 1906.

"Governor Curtis Guild, Boston, Mass.

"Have been requested on behalf of certain parties in Boston to interfere with the execution of Tucker, it being alleged that it is my duty so to do inasmuch as I have the power under the federal laws.

"No showing has been made to me that I have such power, but without regard to this I desire to state to you that in my judgment your decision not to interfere with the carrying out of the sentence of Tucker seems to me entirely sound and commends my hearty sympathy. It seems particularly a case in which there should be no interference with the carrying out of the sentence.

(Signed)

"THEODORE ROOSEVELT."

Tucker awoke in his cell at the Charleston prison this morning with a realization that his last day on earth had arrived. He continued to demonstrate his remarkable nerve, and informed the death watch that he had enjoyed a good night's sleep. Later the prisoner ate a hearty breakfast after which he began preparations to receive the sacrament of baptism. It was for the purpose of administering this rite that Tucker's spiritual adviser, Rev. Thomas W. Bishop, secured a postponement of the death sentence. Tucker having consented at the last moment to become a member of the Methodist Episcopal church. It is the general belief that Tucker will be sent to the electric chair shortly after midnight tonight.

Preparing for the Execution.

During the forenoon Warden Bridges and Dr. Joseph I. McLaughlin, the prison physician, visited Tucker. They found the prisoner eagerly reading the morning newspapers. An examination by the physician showed that Tucker was physically in excellent health but from a mental standpoint it was apparent that the strain was beginning to affect the condemned man. He was nervous, ill-at-ease and uncertain in speech.

Warden Bridges said Tucker seemed for the first time to realize the gravity of his position and the imminence of death.

The baptism of Tucker was performed during the forenoon by Rev. Mr. Bishop and Rev. J. F. W. Barnes, the prison chaplain. The prisoner's reception of baptism was accompanied by a renewed protestation of his innocence. Mr. Bishop later declared he was convinced that Tucker was innocent of the murder of Miss Mabel Page and that the condemned man was innocent also of any wrong in connection with the death of his wife.

The charge with reference to Tucker's wife was not brought out at the trial but has been brought into public discussion in an endeavor to show that Tucker's reputation was bad before the Page murder.

It became understood at the prison during the day that some further attempt was to be made to save Tucker.

(By the Associated Press.)

After the father had reluctantly selected the victim, and his execution had occurred, it was discovered that the other son was the real culprit. The latter was re-arrested and is being tried by court martial.

LATEST COTTON REPORT FIGURES.

(By the Associated Press.)

Washington, June 11.—Assistant Secretary Hays of the department of agriculture today gave out the following statement regarding the cotton acreage report of June 4:

"The department is convinced that the estimated planted acreage in cotton of about 28,686,000 issued June 4 is near the truth, but the increase of 1,686,000 or 6.2 per cent it should be understood is not all of this year. The census bureau's final report of the crop of 1905 was about 400,000 bales more than was estimated by the bureau of statistics on the fourth of December last. Due weight must be given to this source of information and fully one third of the estimated increase reported last month is attributable to rectification of last year's work to bring it into harmony with the census report of the amount of cotton ginned in the respective states."

The statement was approved by Secretary Wilson.
