THE UNIVERSAL LANGUAGE PLAN.

(By the Associated Press.)
Berkeley, Cal., June 16.—President Wheeler of the state university has been asked to lend his support to a plan for the adoption of a universal language. A delegation from Parisian bodies of scholars is in charge of the propaganda.
The delegation states in a letter to President Wheeler that in any case it does not specially advocate any one project, whether new or old. It proposes simply to unite all partisans of an auxiliary in an expression of opinion to represent them, and to arrive by an international agreement and a kind of arbitration, at a definite and universally accepted solution. For this purpose it invited all learned bodies, all associations of business men or tourists, to express an agreement with the declaration and to elect delegates.

NOTICE SERVED ON THE PACKERS.

(By the Associated Press.)
Chicago, June 16.—The city health department has served its first official written notice to the packing companies at the Union Stock Yards to improve the sanitary conditions of their plants.
The packers were instructed that they must within three days discard the filthy tables and benches, provide cleaner rooms and tools and correct some of the present unsanitary conditions. Structural changes in the buildings, including new toilet rooms and more ventilation and light must be made within thirty days.

WILCHER TO HANG ON AUGUST 3.

(By the Associated Press.)
Lexington, Va., June 16.—William E. Wilcher was today sentenced by Judge Letcher of the circuit court of Rockbridge to be hanged on August 3 for the murder of Henry J. Smith.

(By the Associated Press.)
New York, June 16.—Daniel Stevens, who said he is a civil engineer, was arraigned in police court today on a charge of the larceny of a $175 diamond ring from J. F. Hohler, a jeweler of Richmond, Va. Stevens was arrested last night at the request of the Richmond police. It is alleged that he deceived the jeweler by substituting a cheap ring for the valuable one while pretending to be a buyer.

Dried Fruit Way Up.

(By the Associated Press.)
Fresno, Cal., June 16.—Within the last few days dried fruit prices have taken a big jump. Buyers are offering ten cents a pound for dried peaches and 15 cents for apricots. Both crops are light. These are the highest prices offered for many years.

Greater Pittsburg.

(By the Associated Press.)
Pittsburg, Pa., June 16.—The decree consolidating Pittsburg and Allegheny was signed today by Judge Frederick H. Collier, of the county courts, and actual consolidation will not become effective however until the act creating the greater city is declared constitutional by the higher courts.

FALLING HAIR STOPPED.

Baldness Cured By Destroying The Parasitic Germ That Causes It. Baldness follows falling hair, falling hair follows dandruff; and dandruff is the result of a germ digging its way into the scalp to the root of the hair where it saps the vitality of the hair. To destroy that germ is to prevent as well as cure dandruff, falling hair, and, lastly, baldness. There is only one preparation known to do that, Newbro's Herpicide, an entirely new, scientific discovery. Wherever it has been tried it has proven wonderfully successful. It can't be otherwise, because it utterly destroys the dandruff germ. "You destroy the cause, you remove the effect." Sold by leading druggists. Send 10c. in stamps for sample to The Herpicide Co., Detroit, Mich.

MAY MEAN A ROAD FROM NORFOLK TO THE GULF.

The Manufacturers Record of this week says of the company owning the Norfolk and Southern, Atlantic and North Carolina, Raleigh and Pamlico Seaside and other roads:
"A report from Portsmouth, Va., says that it is believed among railroad men that important developments will result from the recent Norfolk and Southern deal, which includes the Atlantic and North Carolina Railroad and the recent combination of Georgia railways, in which latter the Williams and Middendorf interests are concerned. Mr. R. Lancaster Williams is named as being prominent in the Atlantic Coast Terminal Co., which has purchased valuable water front property at Portsmouth, and it is anticipated that there will eventually be made a through line from that city via the Norfolk and Southern, of which Marsden J. Perry of Providence, R. I., is president, and projected extensions that will finally reach Augusta, Ga., and thence to Valdosta and the Gulf of Mexico."

MEN AND WOMEN.

Gen. O. O. Howard, retired, and Lieutenant-General Stephen D. Lee, C. S. A., are the surviving army commandants of the north and south, respectively. They graduated from West Point in 1854.
The Marquis of Graham, who was persuaded recently by his fiancée, Lady Mary Hamilton, Britain's greatest heiress, to run for parliament, falling of election, is known now as "Mary's Little Lamb."

Sarasate, the world-renowned violinist, has taken his instrument all over the world. When he took first prize at the Paris conservatory his father said: "Sarasate, my son, wed thy violin, but never a woman." He never did.
On October 18, at Washington, the military monument in memory of Gen. George B. McClellan, commander of the army of the Potomac, will be unveiled. The general's widow is now 71, and is at Homburg for her health.
Jacob C. Goldsmit has done more than anyone else to make American letters, life and history known to the Poles of Europe. He has come to Boston to live as a refugee. At one time he was lecturer at the Warsaw University.
Melville Ingalls, the western railway man, commented once on a preacher's long sermon to a friend, who asked: "Dr. Blank is a most eloquent minister, is he not?" "Very eloquent," was the dry response of the railroad man, "but he has poor terminal facilities."

THE TRUTH ABOUT LYING.

Prof. Isaac Franklin Russell has created quite a commotion by his recent declaration that all men are liars. From the notices of the professor, which have appeared in many papers, one might be led to suppose that either by the professor himself, or most clearly by some of his admirers, the imagination has found lodgment that the professor has uttered a truth as new as it is profound.
Whether or not it is profound, this writer does not care at this time to decide, but certainly it is not new or original. To go farther back into antiquity than the time of David, king of Israel, the noted poet, warrior and statesman declared on one occasion, and put it on record, "I said in my haste, all men are liars." Then, too, some have heard of the Scotch divine who, on one occasion, read in his morning lesson the saying of the Psalmist just quoted. Pausing, he looked at his congregation over the top of his spectacles, and said: "Faith, David, and had ye lived in this day and country, ye might have said at your leisure."
But to return to our professor. He is credited with saying that he knows of nothing else quite so worthless as human testimony. He points out the extraordinary difficulty of extracting the truth from ancient legends overgrown with the lies of many ages, but even of getting a reasonably trustworthy account of current events. Or to quote his own language:
"There are so many difficulties in the way of proof: some arise from deliberate mendacity, others from the failure of sense perception or the insufficiency of language as a vehicle of expression, or from the tendencies of bias, patriotic or religious, to deflect sincere and able men from the right line of truthful testimony."
Perhaps mendacity, like marriage, is essentially a human convention, and in heaven there is neither lying nor giving in lying. But, however that may be, it is universally accepted upon earth as a polite and convenient custom and has been observed in all ages and by the most enlightened peoples as the only practicable compromise with conditions too difficult for the wits of mortal men.
In a characteristic chapter on veracity Spencer practically demonstrated that all men are liars. He says in effect that while we profess to love the truth and hate lying, we do not realize that veracity is a universal. The supreme court of Missouri recently decided that when a man asserts that the article he sells is the best in the world he may be guilty of lying, but that he who buys the article on the strength of the lie and finds himself cheated has no legal redress. We are supposed to take such business flourishes with plenty of salt. Long ago an English court held that under the common law a man who sells razors that will not shave is not liable, because "razors are made to sell, not to shave."
But after all, the main question, which seems not to have presented itself to the professor or to his commentators, whether they be friendly or antagonistic, is the question which Pilate asked Jesus more than 1,900 years ago, and which remains unanswered to the present day, "What is truth?" To lie, says the dictionary, is "to speak knowingly that which is not true." Hence, until we know "what is truth," we are but multiplying words without wisdom when we discourse learnedly or foolishly about lying.—Albuquerque (N. M.) Citizen.
