DURHAM'S SUIT AGAINST ENO.

(Special to the Evening Times.)

Durham, N. C., June 20.—In Greensboro today there was a hearing in a matter that was an important one to Durham and has proved very interesting litigation to the state at large. This was the hearing of the matter of the city of Durham against the Eno Cotton Mill Co. of Hillsboro, the matter coming up on an order issued by Judge Ferguson for the defendant company to show cause why the company and officers should not be attached for contempt of court in not obeying an order made by Judge Ferguson early in the year that the waters of the Eno river must not be polluted.

While the case came up today on notice to show cause in contempt proceedings it was not for the purpose of punishing for contempt but to get the matter moving and back into the courts since the decision of the supreme court.

The litigation began early in the year on a restraining order issued by Judge Ferguson at the instance of the city, restraining the cotton mill named and its officials, employees and tenants from polluting the waters of Eno river, from which Durham gets part of her water supply. At the hearing the restraining order was made permanent and then there was an appeal to the supreme court. The decision was rendered recently sustaining the action of Judge Ferguson, it being suggested that time be given in which the mill people could get in a sewer disposal plant to be approved by the state board of health. The steps today were to get the matter back in court so that an order could be made compelling the company to make the improvements or stop the nuisance complained of.

RAILROAD MEN ON THE STAND

(By the Associated Press.)

Washington, June 20.—Officials of the Western Maryland, Chesapeake and Ohio and Buffalo and Susquehanna railroads were before the interstate commerce commission today to tell what they knew about the transactions of their roads in connection with coal and oil traffic. Those present included: C. E. Doyle, Richmond, Va., general manager; E. W. Greer, Hinton, W. Va., superintendent Huntington and Greenbrier divisions; J. R. Cary, Hinton, W. Va., assistant to the superintendent; H. E. Parker, Newport News, Va., superintendent of terminal, and B. T. Wickham, Richmond, general counsel of the Chesapeake & Ohio.

Mr. Cary was asked about the Kanawha and Glen Jean and White Oak connections of the Chesapeake & Ohio in West Virginia which it developed were independent roads leading out of coal mines. He was unable to say whether it was done by the Chesapeake & Ohio. He did say, however, that the Chesapeake & Ohio crews did their switching for them.

The witness said that neither himself nor any other employee of the Chesapeake & Ohio so far as he knew or had heard owned any stock or interest in any coal or oil property.

TOBACCO MEN ANSWER COURT

(By the Associated Press.)

New York, June 20.—Plea of no guilty of conspiracy and unlawful combination for the restraint of trade was entered in the United States circuit court today by Karl Jungbluth, president of the MacAndrews and Forbes Company and Howard E. Young, president of the J. S. Company, as individuals and the two companies named as corporations. The two individual defendants were held in $5,000 bail each and all the defendants were given until July 9 to file demurrers on motions to dismiss the indictments.

The two firms named in the indictments are subsidiary companies of the American Tobacco Company. The indictments were returned last Monday by a United States grand jury which long had been engaged in an investigation into the so-called tobacco trust.

Aggravated Divorce Case.

Salisbury, N. C., June 20.—In the superior court yesterday one of the worst cases heard in years was argued before Judge Justice, the jury not being allowed to take the matter in its present shape. The action was for divorce, and a Spencer couple was the party to the suit. The wife of James T. Cooper, who last year instituted suit in the Henderson county courts against her husband, brought up the matter before Judge Ward in his visit here in May. The matter was hotly argued by Messrs. A. H. Price and J. H. Horah representing Mr. Cooper and R. Lee Wright for Mrs. Cooper, and the issue turning purely upon legal points, the judge ordered a mistrial. This time the case comes up for all money, and after a long argument yesterday Judge Justice decided to let the jury find the facts. The case was tried in Henderson last year and Mrs. Cooper lost. The main reliance of the plaintiff was upon the testimony of a colored woman of the most infamous character, who testified that she and the defendant had lived in illicit intercourse.

The old church will be torn away and the property sold. The work of moving the old St. Philip's church is in progress today. This church building is being shipped to the rear of the lot, and there is to be erected a church to cost something over $20,000. The new church will be of pink granite. The old building will be put in shape and used by the congregation while the new church is building.

In fact the plaintiff in the case was Sheriff Jackson of Washington county.

A Narrow Escape.

(Special to the Evening Times.)

Washington, N. C., June 20.—Capt. Geo. H. Hill of this city had a very narrow escape from death while driving on Main street about nine o'clock last Saturday evening.

Captain Hill was driving at a pretty rapid gait and when in front of the Havens Oil Mill his buggy collided with a grocery wagon, overturning both vehicles and throwing Captain Hill headfirst most under the horses. Had it not been for the timely aid of passing pedestrians Captain Hill would certainly have been killed. As it was he escaped with only a few slight bruises and a sprained arm.
