IN HIS CHAIR

Mr. C. C. Crow Died Suddenly in the Night.

HEART FAILURE CAUSE

for Some Time-His Son Discovered Him at 3.30 This Morning-Funeral Will Be Tomorrow Morning From Presbyterian Church.

Mr. Clinton C. Crow was found dead an early hour this morning in his com a his home on Halifax street.

His death occurred probably some time between midnight and three o'clock this morning. Mr. Crow has been greatly troubled with ashma for many months, and felt unusually badly last night after ten o'clock and HEARST-HUGHES FIGHT walked up and down Halfrax street to get a little air. When he retired to his room he was unable to lie down account of the increased difficulty or breathing in that position, and sat up in his chair. Members of the fam i'v remained with him until nearly eldnight, when he persuaded them to stire, saying he would try and get s me sleep in his chair, as he had often done before.

This morning one of his sons went to his father's room and found him dead sitting in his chair. It is thought death was the result of heart failure folloging a severe spell of the asthmat-
