The Gastonia Cotton Mfg. Co., Gastonia, N. C., July 1, 1907. About two years ago I was confined to my bed with inflammation of the joints for several weeks, and no treatment I tried afforded any relief. I was affected in my arms, legs, neck and different parts of my body. I was not able to walk at all, and when I would get out of bed the pain was insupportable. After finding the doctor's treatment did me no good, I concluded to try Mrs. Joe Person's Remedy. After using half a dozen bottles I was able to walk with crutches. I was soon able to walk without crutches. I continued the Remedy until I used 18 bottles, which made a perfect cure, and I have been well ever since. I cannot recommend Mrs. Person's Remedy too highly. It is a wonderful medicine. R. W. GRAY.

Joint Meeting of Boards to Decide on New Building This Afternoon. Attendance Much Larger Than It Was Last Year. Dr. W. L. Potent, president of Wake Forest College, was in the city today. Dr. Potent says the registration this morning had passed the 200 mark and that the number so far is thirty over the registration this time last year. The college and village are unable to provide for the increased attendance and the new dormitory to be erected at a cost of $200,000 will greatly relieve the situation. The dormitory will be three stories high, will accommodate 150 men and will have a dining hall and kitchen attached. There will be a joint meeting of the executive committee and the building committee this afternoon to adopt the plans for the new dormitory. Most of the trustees left here this afternoon at 2 o'clock to attend the meeting. The new building will be ready by next September.

EUROPEAN CELLIST OF FOREMOST RANK.

Among the distinguished European cellists who have within recent years made America their permanent home, the name of George Rogosow, of New York, takes a foremost rank. Mr. Rogosow is conspicuously a soloist who plays with temperament and inspires his audience. Not more than two or three years ago he came to this country from Europe, a Russian refugee, fleeing from the disasters and tragedies of his native country. In St. Petersburg, where he was one of the leading musical spirits, he played in the Imperial Orchestra, and was also showered with medals and decorations for his great gifts. Among these most prized is a medal for the czar, and his cellist from a prince. Mr. Rogosow will play at the Baptist University next Monday night at 8 o'clock, as he has been engaged for the first "Artist's Concert" this season.

Reserved seats are fifty cents on sale tomorrow morning at King-Crowell's drug store.

JOYNER'S DEATH STOPPED CRIME

Conductor Killed Yesterday Engaged to Girl

A BIGAMOUS MARRIAGE

He Had a Wife Twelve Years Older Than Himself Living at Winston-Salem, But Had Planned to Marry a Charlotte Girl Day He Was Killed—Wife No. 1 Had Accidentally Discovered It and Exposed Him—Other Particulars.

(Special to The Evening Times.) Winston-Salem, N. C., Sept. 12.—Capt. J. W. Joyner, the conductor of the local freight No. 182 on the Mooresville branch of the Southern Railway, who was instantly killed yesterday afternoon soon after 4 o'clock, seems to have been in deep trouble, as will appear further on in this story, which is partly distilled from the Journal of today.

It seems that the crew of the freight was engaged in doing some switching at the time of the accident. Conductor Joyner was clinging to the side of the car when he was knocked loose by a telegraph pole or some other obstruction. He fell under the train and his death was instantly caused.

The body of the unfortunate conductor was shipped to Charlotte, where it was embalmed at the undertaking establishment of J. M. Harry & Co. Mrs. Joyner, wife of the deceased, left Winston-Salem for Charlotte yesterday afternoon, accompanied by Capt. White.

AN ACT OF PROVIDENCE?

Many persons who were intimately acquainted with Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Joyner and were cognizant of the recent troubles that have arisen between them, express the belief that the sudden death of Mr. Joyner was a kind act of Providence. They go even farther than that and say that it is really a blessing in disguise to the widow.

It has been known for two weeks to the intimate friends of the couple that their marriage life was not as happy as it should be, or as it appeared upon the surface. Mrs. Joyner was married to Capt. Joyner five years ago. She is originally from Colorado. She is twelve years the senior of Mr. Joyner. They resided for some time in Asheville. They came to Winston-Salem about six months ago and made their home at the Woodlands Hotel. Capt. Joyner's run was between this city and Mooresville and his work was such that he spent every other night here.

THEY TROUBLES BEGIN.

Capt. Joyner is spoken of by his friends as a great lover. He took a delight in teasing his wife. She, however, put the utmost confidence in him, believing that what he said relative to visiting other women was for the purpose of teasing her.

About ten days ago Mrs. Joyner was to meet her husband at Mooresville and spend the night with him there. She was to leave Winston-Salem on the train leaving here at 2:15 o'clock, but instead left on the 5 o'clock train. When she arrived at Mooresville she found that Mr. Joyner was not there, he having gone down to Charlotte on the first train after finding out that his wife was not on the train. He thought that she had decided not to come.

While in Mooresville, so it is stated, Mrs. Joyner learned that Mr. Joyner had been going to see a young lady in Charlotte quite frequently, in fact, spending almost every other night in Charlotte. She learned the name of the young lady and left the next day for Charlotte to investigate. Imagine her surprise and utter indignation when she learned from the lips of the young lady that she was engaged to be married to Mr. Joyner on the 16th of September.

In the row that followed the exposure by the wife the girl discarded nothing if it is said, but it is also reported that Joyner had not abandoned his intention to get rid of his present wife and wed the young woman of Charlotte.
