EARLY J. HUGHES.

Between acts two and three of "When

Smith Came Home," which comes to the Academy of Music on Saturday December 28th, matinee and night, Mr.

J. Early Hughes, the principal comed-

on a short trip through coon town.

The act is one long laugh, and affords

Mr. Hughes the opportunity of introducing two songs that are the best of their kind ever written. They are, "That Welcome On The Mat Ain't Meant For Me." and "The Peach That Tastes the Sweetest Hangs the High-est on the Tree." Mr. Hughes sings hem in his own inimitable way, and keeps the audience applauding from start to finish of his act.

Mr. Fay, of Fay, Coley & Fay, the trio, who furnish part of the fun in "When Smith Comes Home," was for-nerly principal comedian with Primose' Minstrels. Like his partner, Mr.

coley, he has a more than usually good voice, and he can furnish enough fur to satisfy any audience, even without

THE LAST TWO DAYS BEFORE CHRISTMAS-THEN THE HOLLY AND MISTLETOE. THE GREAT LABOR OF PREPARATION HAS BUT TWO MORE DAYS TO RUM-THEN COMES THE JOY OF IT ALL-THE GIVING AND RECEIVING.

But is no one forgotten? Scan the gift list again. Too bad if in the midst of it all a single expectant one should be disappointed.. 'Twould be somewhat of a dark spot on the most joyous day of all the year. Só it's worth a second thought. But last Christmas thoughts must be quick one. There must be no wasted moments-no running hither and thither, for time is short, even though the store keeps open later. So choose one safe store-make one shopping brief and sure one. The one store to help you in a hurry if you seek the practical, sensible gift for father, brother, friend or acquaintance is BERWANGER'S. We promise to deliver everything sold up to the last hour. If you want to avoid the crowd come early, but no matter when you come we shall serve you as promptly as possible.
