DASTARDLY ATTEMPT TO WRECK TRAIN IN MONTANA

Burlington Flyer Dynamited, Presumably By Tramps, at Early Hour This Morning

BODY OF ONE ENGINEER Found Buried Beneath Engine ---Fireman Scalded and Nearly Insane With Pain

(By Leased Wire to The Times.) Butte, Mont., May 2.—A dastardly attempt was made to dynamite train No. 6, eastbound, on the Northern Pacific last night. This train is known as the Burlington Flyer and is due in this city at midnight.

Owing to the heavy grade, a helper engine is used on all trains entering the city from the west. This is attached to the train at Garrison.

When within a mile and a half of this city, the helper engine struck what is supposed to have been a stick of dynamite and was lifted clear of the rails, settling on the ties, along which she ran for 300 feet.

The story of the wreck is best told by Engineer Lenz, of the helper engine. He says: "When we left Garrison we were 15 minutes late, and when nearing Butte we were running 50 miles an hour. My engine and the one behind me were carrying a full head of steam. The line at that point is perfectly straight and we had a clear track. Our headlight did not show any obstruction on the track, and if it was dynamite we ran into it must have been a small package, and most of it buried under the rail on the left side. Suddenly there was a terrific explosion and my engine was lifted clear of the rails, settling back on the ties with her right driving wheels about the middle of the roadbed, along which we ran for 300 feet.

"Both my fireman and myself got a jolt that sent our heads against the top of the cab and for a moment we were stunned, but we quickly recovered and I swung my albrake lever clear over, bringing the train to a stop. My fireman, John Doreing, and I ran back and found the second engine lying on its side and Engineer Bussey nowhere in sight. The injector cap in Bussey's engine had broken off when she turned over and steam was escaping in clouds. Geo. Ehle, Bussey's fireman, was groping along the ditch. His hands and face were so badly scalded that the flesh was dropping off and he was nearly insane from pain.

"We took Ehle to the baggage car, where we made him as comfortable as possible. Bussey's body was later found under the engine, where he was when the engine rolled over on its side."

Although many of the passengers were severely shaken up by the sudden stoppage of the train, none was seriously injured, and all arrived (Continued on Page Seven.)

FOR CAMP SITE AT MOREHEAD

General Macon Confers With Authorities Relative to Encampment

Postmaster General Francis A. Macon was in conference today with the Morehead City and Norfolk & Southern Railway people to present the plans for work to be done at the camp site in accordance with their agreement to complete all arrangements in an official way. The advisory board, composed of Adjutant General Robertson, Brigade Commander Armfield, Col. Gardner, first regiment; Col. Beahm, second regiment, and Col. Craig, third regiment, were ordered by the governor to meet at Morehead City next Tuesday to complete the arrangements. The work is being diligently prosecuted and is well in hand.

General Macon says North Carolina will have as fine a camp as any other state owned. The plans for the camp site developments were made by Col. J. L. Ladlow, of Winston-Salem, chief engineer.

BANK PRESIDENT KILLS HIMSELF IN NEW JERSEY

Asbury Park, N. J., May 2.—Morris D. Magee, president of the First National bank of Manasquan, shot himself yesterday. His body was found by his son, Roger, lying face upward upon a long dyke that juts out into Manasquan inlet, about a mile from town.

There was a bullet wound in the temple, and beside the body was a five-chamber revolver.

At noon the bank was closed. A notice was posted on the door that the bank was closed out of respect to President Magee.

Bryan Men Spending Money Like Water in Minnesota to Defeat Gov. Johnson

(By Leased Wire to The Times.) St. Paul, Minn., May 2.—Ex-Lieut. Gov. Frank A. Day, chairman of the state democratic central committee, said last night:

"I think $5,000 a day is a low estimate of the amount being spent in Minnesota by the Bryan volunteers to carry the primaries against Gov. Johnson. One thousand dollars a day is being expended in Minneapolis alone, $500 a day in Duluth, and several hundred dollars in Stearns county. One of the democratic strongholds of Minnesota. Such a saturnalia of pre-convention corruption was never before known in this state. Men who yesterday were for Gov. Johnson to-

FIREBUG'S WORK IN TENEMENTS

Hundred Lives in Peril When Sick Child's Crying Gives Alarm

(By Leased Wire to The Times.) New York, May 2.—The lives of more than 100 persons were imperiled early today by a firebug who set fire to the five-story tenement at 101 Orchard street. Police and firemen who worked at the fire said that had it not been for the crying of a sick child there probably would have been a great loss of life.

The firebug strewed papers and rags along the corridor of the first floor and then saturated this and also the subbasement with kerosene.

The firemen confined the blaze to the first floor.

MOTHER OF 'AFFINITY MAN' SAILS AWAY FOR GENOA

New York, May 2.—Mrs. Ferdinand P. Earle, mother of Earle, the artist who married the "affinity" Mag Julia Kuttner after the divorce from his wife, sailed today on the Koenig Albert for Genoa. The appearance of her name in the cabin list led friends to believe the wife of the artist was about to leave him. Friends of the family are wondering if the elder Mrs. Earle intends to visit her former daughter-in-law, who is in Paris with Earle's baby boy.

WAREHOUSES AND BARN ARE BURNED IN BATAVIA

Batavia, N. Y., May 2.—Fire in the business section of Batavia early today destroyed the storage warehouses and barns of Kirk Mathes, a manufacturer of novelties. The E. H. Phelps Pan-American sheds and the pioneer sheds and barns owned by M. W. Langworthy were also destroyed. Good work by the firemen saved the Miner shoe factory and several adjoining buildings. The origin of the fire is unknown. The loss is estimated at $20,000.

MAKER OF PAPER TWISTS FIGURES

(By Leased Wire to The Times.) Washington, May 2.—That the paper manufacturers have falsified their statistics as to the cost of labor for making paper in order to justify their increased price of the product to newspaper publishers, was asserted today before the select joint paper committee of the house by John Norris, business manager of the New York Times.

"As a matter of fact," declared Mr. Norris, "the reliable statistics show that the increased cost of labor per ton in making paper is only 52 cents, while the manufacturers have put the increase at $12.

Mr. Norris declared the wages paid the laborers are unusually low. He said:

"In 1906 the average wage received by the paper worker per week in New York state was $9.81, while in Massachusetts it was $8.89. The average weekly wage all over the country for paper workers, including skilled and unskilled labor, was $9.32."

SIoux BRAVE AND OHIO GIRL Married in New York and Hit Trail For the West

New York, May 2.—Harry Standing Bear, a Sioux brave, and Miss Hazel Mary Moran, formerly of Cincinnati and St. Louis, but later of the Hippodrome and 239 West Forty-third street, New York, were married today and immediately began preparation to hit the trail for the west, where Standing Bear is employed on a reservation as an interpreter.

The termination of the courtship was entirely devoid of trimmings. Standing Bear, minus scalping knife, strode into the marriage license office about closing time yesterday, and asked for the necessary parchment, at the same time depositing the required wampum. The couple are going to Greenwood, S. D., where the groom is employed. Both were delighted, and spent a portion of their honeymoon at Madison Square Garden, where Buffalo Bill's Wild West show is playing. The bride has been an actress. She first met Standing Bear at Chicago during the exposition in 1893.

Blow From Bottle Kills Boy

(By Leased Wire to The Times.) Grand Rapids, Mich., May 2.—William Haverkamp, the 13-year-old son of Peter Haverkamp, of Sullivan court, died at 5 o'clock this morning as a result of a blow on the head from a pop bottle thrown from the bleachers into a crowd of cheering boys at the opening baseball game here yesterday.

BLUNT SHOOTS WIFE'S PARENTS

Children See Tragedy Before Driven From Bedroom By Threats of Death

(By Leased Wire to The Times.) Battle Creek, Mich., May 2.—While on a visit of warning and rebuke to his wife, Joseph B. Blunt, a well-known citizen, shot and killed his wife's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Homer S. Jones, this morning in the bedroom shared by the Jones couple and Blunt's wife and two children. The latter witnessed the murder, but were driven out doors into a blinding showerstorm on peril of death.

Blunt's wife sued him for divorce Thursday, claiming he had threatened her life repeatedly and had mistreated her. She went home to her parents, who live but a few rods distant, and this house Blunt entered at daybreak. Jones was shot three times, falling dead on the floor. His wife was mortally wounded as she lay in bed, exclaiming in her attempt to get out. Blunt's little boy, aged four, was sleeping with the mother, but was unharmed.

Mrs. Blunt picked up her daughter, aged two, and ran outdoors, wandering aimlessly while the neighbors called the police, believing the woman demented.

Blunt walked into police headquarters and surrendered himself. The victims were 56 and 55 years old, respectively, and came here from Greenville 12 years ago. Blunt is an ex-truck car employe. He has been working a wholesale liquor store lately.

WOMAN'S DIVORCE SUIT Precipitated the Shooting, Though She Claims Husband Had Long Abused Her

(By Leased Wire to The Times.) New York, May 2.—Wall street heard with amazement today the declaration that Charles W. Morse, the deposed ice king and all around potentate of finance, is preparing to wipe out his alimony obligations. It became known today that Morse has already liquidated $200,000 worth of his debts on the aggregate liability of $7,000,000. Indirectly, the information came from the financier today that other payments would follow very soon.

The fight Morse has been waging against his debtors has been a strenuous struggle. They sought to throw him into bankruptcy and this is what he had been battling against. The payments already made were given to the National Bank of North America, through which institution he handled the major part of his large deals.

Before the crash of last October, Morse was accumulated with unlimited resources. In seven years he had raised $15,000,000 and had offered the New Haven $2,000,000 for his steamships on Long Island sound. When the clearing house committee went to examine the National Bank of North America before the panic, Morse told the committee he had $5,000,000 in gold in securities in the bank.

STEWART EASY FOR BARRY IN FIVE HOT ROUNDS

(By J. W. McCONAUGHY.) New York, May 2.—Over-eagerness to make a heavy weight champion in a hurry probably spoiled a great young fighter in the first big show of Billy Elmer's new boxing club last night.

Jim Barry, a broad, toughened, experienced ringster, gave away a number of pounds of weight and knocked Elmer's young phenomenon, Jim Stewart, cold in less than five rounds of whirlwind battling. Barry is the first real big leaguer that Stewart has even faced, and he failed to make good.

PRIEST PROTESTS OSBORNE-MALONEY ANNULMENT

(By Leased Wire to The Times.) New York, May 2.—Rev. John A. Walters, pastor of the church of Our Lady of Mercy, at Port Chester, has written a letter to Daniel F. Cohalan, referee in the suit for the annulment of the marriage of Helen Maloney to Arthur Herbert Osborne, protesting against such an annulment on his belief that the marriage was entered into in good faith and should be held sacred.

"Father Walters' interest in the matter was prompted by statements to him by his assistant, Rev. Father Fitzsimmons, who was assistant pastor of St. Mary's Church, Mamaronock, in December, 1905, when Miss Maloney and Osborne were married by Justice of the Peace William A. Boyd."

MORSE WILL PAY HIS OBLIGATIONS

Former Ice King Has Already Given $500,000 to Creditors Out of $3,000,000

(By Leased Wire to The Times.) New York, May 2.—Wall street heard with amazement today the declaration that Charles W. Morse, the deposed ice king and all around potentate of finance, is preparing to wipe out his alimony obligations. It became known today that Morse has already liquidated $200,000 worth of his debts on the aggregate liability of $7,000,000. AMERICAN AMBASSADOR TO Explain His Indifference About Warkentin's Death

(By Leased Wire to The Times.) Washington, May 2.—J. G. A. Leishman, American ambassador to Turkey, must explain his actions in connection with the accidental shooting of Mr. Warkentin, a Kansas banker, April 1 on a train between Damascus and Beirut by the son of a Turkish pasha. He will also be asked to discuss his treatment of Mrs. Warkentin after the shooting.

Mrs. Warkentin arrived here and her presentation of the alleged facts involving discomfited treatment by Mr. Leishman have aroused Kansas politicians, who demand that a rigid investigation be made. Representative Victor Mankow called on Secretary of State Root today and urged that some action be taken. Secretary Root said he would call upon Mr. Leishman for a full presentation of facts.

The matter had already been brought to the attention of the state department by Kansas officials. The reply sent to them was that Mr. Leishman had apparently been in no way to blame and was innocent of any imputations against his official conduct. This did not satisfy those who had taken an interest in the case, and when Mrs. Warkentin today expressed her indignation over the manner in which Mr. Leishman had acted, a further explanation was asked of the state department.

It is in response to these new appeals that Secretary Root has decided upon a more thorough investigation.

The committee on immigration and naturalization reported a bill giving the right of appeal in naturalization cases.

CONFIDENCE GROWS ABROAD

In Our Securities, Says Big New York Bank Man. (By Leased Wire to The Times.) New York, May 2.—Frank A. Vanderlip, president of the National City bank, returned from a brief stay in Europe on the French liner La Provence today. He brought with him tidings of recovered confidence in American securities abroad.

"I observed a great improvement in the situation in Paris," said Mr. Vanderlip. "American securities are becoming stronger each day. The way the Pennsylvania bonds were snapped up shows that the market is recovering."

BAD NAPHTHA EXPLOSION MAY HAVE KILLED EIGHT ALL TOLD

(By Leased Wire to The Times.) Chicago, May 2.—The desolate "back of the yards" on the bank of Bubbins creek was visited last night by an accident in which at least one man was killed and five seriously injured, while eight are reported missing. The police believe the eight may all have lost their lives in the accident.

The cause of the disaster was the explosion of a large tank of naphtha in the plant of the Chicago reduction plant, the concern which handles the city's garbage at 39th and Iron streets. The roof of the four-story brick and concrete building was blown up with a terrific flash and roar. There was a rain of burning naphtha which rendered "Bubbly creek" a river of flame. Fragments of concrete torn from the steel frame work were precipitated for blocks around, freight cars were blown from tracks and the big plant was a mass of ruins within a few minutes.

QUENTIN ROOSEVELT TAKES STAGE FOR THE FIRST TIME

(By Leased Wire to The Times.) Washington, May 2.—In his first engagement on the professional stage Quentin Roosevelt, youngest son of the president, appeared before the audience at the Columbia theatre last evening in connection with the performance of Kellar & Thurston, magicians.

Mr. Thurston, who announced "the egg trick" called for two of the youngest children in the audience as volunteers. Miss Florence Dixon, the seven-year-old daughter of Senator Dixon, of Montana, was the first to come forward. Asked to designate her assistant, little Miss Dixon pointed a rather hesitating finger at Master Quentin, who was seated in one of the boxes with Mrs. Roosevelt. Miss Dixon received the eggs as they were passed from the hat and handed them to Quentin. Within a few moments the youngest member of the chief executive's family had his pockets, both hands, and finally both arms piled full. As long as he had one hand free, the young man shook each egg, and time and again he murmured: "It sounds real."

Deplores Action That Will Renew Heartaches and Bitterness of Reconstruction

INTERMARRIAGE VIEWS Forcibly Put By Kentucky Editor, Who Thinks Idea Might Amuse Broadway Throng

(By Leased Wire to The Times.) St. Louis, Mo., May 2.—Henry Watterson, while here discussed the Cosmopolitan club dinner at Brooklyn, N. Y., last Monday night, at which prominent white girls sat beside negroes and applauded speeches for the intermarriage of whites and blacks.

"It was such a case as this that caused the heartaches and bitterness of reconstruction days," he said. "It is such acts as this today that will undo everything that has been done for the negro."

"Intermarriage between the races may be a good idea for New York. It will be an eminently amusing spectacle to see Broadway, from 23rd to 42nd street, lined with automobiles containing fashionably-gowned women wearing Merry Widow hats waiting patiently for their black husbands to come out and be driven to luncheon."

"I don't object to intermarriage between certain blacks and whites. There are some women in the world who would probably be happier with negro husbands than with white. They would feel at their ease and more at home. Such women should be allowed to mate with monkeys if they please. However, I will say in passing that it would not be a good idea for Editor Holt and his negro-loving satellites to talk very much in Kentucky."
