SUCH LITTLE THINGS.

For want of very little things sometimes
We women pine, and weep our souls away.
To you they seem absurd and foolish, my
A woman lives for them from day to day.
A loving word, a little longer kiss,
Would make me happy as the day is long;
But when you seem preoccupied or cold
Or angry with me, all my world goes wrong.
Have you not often said you loved me best?
Why, yes, of course, and well I know 'tis true;
It isn't that I doubt it, but its still
So sweet to hear it every day anew.
And so I bring and lay at your dear feet
My heart, my soul, my life as offerings;
My all I give to you and ask but these—
A look, a kiss—two very little things.

BEAUTIFUL WEDDING AT CHAPEL OF THE CROSS
(Special to The Times)
Chapel Hill, June 26—No event has ever attracted wider interest in Chapel Hill than the wedding of Prof. Edward Kidder Graham and Miss Susan Williams Moses, at the Chapel of the Cross yesterday afternoon.

The occasion was marked by the absence of all formality and display, and was marked in its beautiful simplicity, characteristic of the lives of both bride and groom.
Just at six o'clock the bride, leaning on the arm of her father, crossed the lawn of Dr. Alexander's home to the stately old ivy-covered Chapel of the Cross. She was beautifully attired in a simple white net over satin, her only jewel being a sunburst of pearls, the gift of the groom. She carried an armful of bride's roses.
Lohengrin's wedding march was played by Miss Ona Tilghman, of South Carolina.
The bride and her father were followed by the ushers: Dr. Thomas Ruffin, J. G. DeR. Hamilton, L. R. Wilson, and Prof. W. S. Bernard and E. V. Howell. The bride was met at the altar by the groom with his best man and brother, Mr. Archibald Graham, Jr., of Charlotte. Rev. W. H. Meade spoke the impressive words that made them man and wife.
They drove to Durham, where they took the train for an extended tour of northern cities.
The bride is the daughter of Prof. Edward P. Moses, formerly of Raleigh, now of Tennessee. Besides being a woman of rare personal charm and lovable disposition she is possessed of fine intellectual attainments as well. She has been connected with the faculty of St. Mary's as teacher of French, German, and Greek, and with the faculty of Tulane University and Sweet Briar Institute in Virginia.
The groom is one of the most popular professors at the University, being professor of English literature. He is well known for his intellectual ability and is loved and admired by all students of the University.
The best wishes of many friends throughout the state go with the newly wedded couple.

Death of Mr. W. F. Womble.
There passed away on the night of June 22, at his home in Dublin, Ga., Mr. William F. Womble in the 54th year of his age. He was a former resident of Raleigh, being the eldest son of Mr. W. T. Womble of this city. He had been conducting a marble and granite yard in Dublin for the past twelve years.
He is survived by a wife, his father, four brothers and three sisters. The funeral services were held in Dublin on Wednesday morning at 10 o'clock. His aged father and relatives in this city have the sympathy of all friends.

LOCAL BRIEFS

A large crowd will go to Oxford over the Southern and Seaboard tomorrow to attend the celebration of St. John's Day.

Mr. Corydon Jones, after taking a vacation of ten days, has resumed his duties at the Tucker Building Pharmacy.

Mr. A. J. Barwick of the department of education will deliver an address before the University summer school for teachers this afternoon.

Rev. Milton A. Barber, rector of Christ church, has returned from Chase City, Va., where he went on account of rheumatism. His friends will learn with pleasure that he is much improved.

Watermelons and canteloupes are now on the Raleigh market. Mr. M. C. Penny, of Garner, brought a load of melons into the city Wednesday. The melon and canteloup crops will be unusually fine this year.

Mr. Henry Samuels, who lives on Mr. J. D. Houshall's farm, three miles from Raleigh, reports one of the first cotton blooms for Wake county. Mr. Samuels found the bloom in his field yesterday and reported it today. His entire crop is well advanced and is in a fine condition.

The Gem has on one of the best programs of the season today. The headliner is "Slave's Love," a beautiful hand-colored picture. Mr. Russell came back yesterday and will be with us for some time. He sings tonight, "The Hymns of the Old Church Choir." Full program on last page.

Deputy Collectors Pool and Downing returned to Raleigh today from Durham county, where they destroyed a blockade distillery. The plant, which had a capacity of 80 gallons, was not in operation. Six hundred gallons of beer were destroyed.

NORTH CAROLINA BUILDING AT JAMESTOWN SOLD

Commissioner-General Joseph E. Pogue of the Jamestown Exposition commission, has turned over to Gov. Glenn a check for the North Carolina building, which was sold to a syndicate. The price paid for the building is not given, but it is understood that it was considerably greater than that secured for other state buildings at the exposition, when the cost is taken into consideration. One of the stipulations of the sale is that the building shall be known as the "North Carolina Building." The purchasers, it is believed, intend to resell the building to the national government at some future time.

DR. K. P. BATTLE GATHERS DATA FOR HIS HISTORY.

Dr. K. P. Battle, who for the past few weeks has been gathering data in the state library for the second volume of his History of the University, will return to Chapel Hill this evening. Dr. Battle has gone through all the old newspapers in the library, and his history will date from the year 1868. He will, upon completing this volume, write a history of North Carolina. The book will contain biographical sketches, anecdotes, historical events, and will reflect the life of the years in which Dr. Battle has been so active. The grand old man saw the "Tornado," the first locomotive to run into Raleigh, when it entered the city in 1840. No man is better able than he to give the people of the state a really great historical work.

Mr. Lewin E. Rollins, of Bonsel, is in the city.

PERSOANLS

Mr. J. M. Wood, of Washington, is in the city.

Capt. H. B. Guess, of Cary, was a visitor to the city today.

Mr. C. N. Kimball, of Enfield, was registered at the Yarrowburgh last night.

Mr. J. H. Wynne and Adjutant-General T. R. Robertson returned today from Charlotte.

Mr. G. A. Ranes, of Wake Forest, is in the city, stopping with his brother, Ernest Ranes.

Mr. Carmel Penny and Mr. Cleveland Harrison, of Barton's Creek township, were in the city today.

Corporation Commissioner Franklin McNeill and Clerk H. C. Brown returned last night from Charlotte.

DESERED INFANT FOUND IN YARD.

A boy infant, weighing about 11 pounds, was found in the back yard of Prof. John Simpson, on west Jones street, last evening. The baby had been left there by somebody before the rain, and although the child was inside a satchel, it had been exposed to the water. The find was reported to the police authorities and the infant was carried to Rex Hospital last night. This afternoon it was reported from the hospital that the boy was well and hearty. It will live. There is no clue as to the mother of the child.
