COL. HORNE IS CLIMBING HIGH THIS AFTERNOON

Johnston Man Commences to Gain on 49th Ballot--On 51st Reaches 176, While Supporters Cheer Wildly---Kitchin Gets 392, Best He's Done so Far--- Craig Falls to 292---No Choice Today.

FOUR O'CLOCK SEES BIG FIGHT GETTING HOTTER

Deadlock Seems Hopeless at This Hour and Every Reason to Believe Delegates Will be in Charlotte Over Sunday, at Least --Horne Men Deny That Break to Craig is Coming

(Special Staff Correspondent.)

Charlotte, June 27--Col. Ashley Horne is gaining in the three-cornered race for the democratic nomination for governor in the state convention here--the hottest and most turbulent convention held in North Carolina within the memory of any man in attendance on this year's gathering.

On the 49th ballot the Johnston county candidate, whose vote yesterday and day before had never been above 161, rose to 162; on the 50th ballot it had climbed to 172; when the result of the 51st ballot was megaphoned through the hall it was learned that Horne had polled 176 votes.

Then the delight of the Horne men knew no bounds. They stood up on chairs and shouted and howled and cheered for their candidate. All the while the Kitchin men were having their demonstration, too--for the Person county congressman, like Col. Horne, had made a new high-water mark for himself. Kitchin had received 388 votes on this ballot.

On the 47th ballot Kitchin had 387.435; Craig, 317.605; Horne, 151.96.

On the 48th ballot it was: Kitchin, 386.935; Horne, 162.37; Craig, 307.695. This is Horne's highest so far.

On the 49th Kitchin had 386.435; Craig, 307.695; Horne, 162.87.

On the 50th ballot it was: Kitchin, 386.935; Craig, 297.935; Horne, 172.4. The Horne men made the building ring with their shouts at the Johnston county man's gain.

On the 51st ballot Kitchin had 388.265; Craig, 292.535; Horne, 176. Kitchin and Horne reached high-water mark on this ballot and the Kitchin crowd and the Horne crowd yelled accordingly. The 52d ballot is unchanged. Horne drops one-fifteenth of a vote. On the 53d the result was: Kitchin, 389.765; Craig, 304.755; Horne, 162.48. On the 54th ballot Kitchin and Craig made gains, the vote being: Kitchin, 389.76; Craig, 306; Horne, 162. On the 55th there was no change. On the 56th ballot (3:45), Kitchin got 392.655; Craig, 323.965; Horne, 140.38.

WILD SCENES LAST NIGHT IN THE CONVENTION HALL

Dramatic scenes were the order of the day yesterday in the state democratic convention. The first rays of yesterday's sun broke on the storm-tossed scene ever witnessed in a democratic convention in the good Old North State, when a half hundred angry men were rushing for the chairman demanding that their side have a hearing.

When the convention reconvened at 12:45 wild scenes again broke loose and the convention was one round of disorder throughout the entire afternoon, only five ballots being taken.

When the ninth ballot had been reached, the managers of the three candidates announced that it had been agreed to adjourn until 8:30 o'clock. This announcement was hailed with delight, as all the delegates were tired, hoarse and hungry. No one was sleepy, for the intense excitement had driven sleep from every one, even the average Charlotte citizen, who had a home and a bed, refused to think of sleep and stayed in the convention hall all night, and when the convention was adjourned, instead of people going home for a sleep they went out on the streets and talked, paraded and some even fought for their favorite.

A number of women stayed in the galleries all night and were still in their seats when the convention was called to order at 8:30. One of these, the wife of one of North Carolina's prominent men, had held one seat for 36 hours with the exception of the time taken out for lunches.

The convention was nothing but noise and disorder and, although policemen were called in the people continued to crowd the rostrum and at times it was almost impossible for the newspaper men to work. Every one in the convention who wished to be seen tried to crowd on the platform and the people in many ways made themselves conspicuous by annoying the officers and men who were at the convention for work.

Chairman Parsons was a surprise to most of the delegates and, although he is a fine gentleman and a true democrat, he is weak for the position he holds. It takes a strong man to control a convention of five thousand people and the conduct of the convention yesterday was a disgrace to the democratic party.

The vote in the 9th ballot was: Horne, 161.49; Craig, 319.865; Kitchin, 375.535.

A caucus was held between the Craig and Horne forces, and it was talked on the streets that an agreement would be reached whereby one would receive the nomination when the convention was called to order. All kinds of rumors were afloat about dark horses and breaks, but when the convention was called to order and the voting began it was seen that there was little change in the vote and the 10th ballot resulted: Horne, 147.56; Craig, 329.435; Kitchin, 380.05.

When this result was announced the Kitchin people went wild. The chairman begged the delegates to clear the aisles and keep off the platform. The convention was a wild scene and it was only after repeated efforts that they were able to proceed to taking the 11th ballot. The break in the ranks had been in Horne's, and the Kitchin men went wild over the gain.

The 11th ballot showed little change and resulted as follows: Horne, 149.48; Craig, 327.075; Kitchin, 380.445.

For several minutes the hall was again in an uproar and the chairman announced that the roll-call would not continue until the hall was quiet and the aisles cleared. At 10:30 the 12th ballot began, but very little change was made, the result being as follows: Horne, 144.32; Craig, 331.735; Kitchin, 380.945.

PATTERSON AND CARMACK FIGHT

Hot Today in Tennessee Primaries and Prohibition Is an Issue

(By Leased Wire to The Times.) Nashville, Tenn., June 27.--Democratic primaries are being held throughout Tennessee today to decide whether Malcolm R. Patterson, now serving his second term as governor, or former United States Senator Edward W. Carmack shall be the democratic gubernatorial candidate at the coming elections. The preliminary campaign, which ended last night, with big demonstrations in most of the towns and cities, has been one of the warmest ever waged in this state, and today both sides appear equally confident of the result. The primary vote is likely to be the largest in years.

The principal issue between the two candidates has been that of prohibition, Senator Carmack being in favor of the abolition of the liquor traffic, while Gov. Patterson has maintained that a democrat could not properly be for statutory prohibition.

As Tennessee is solidly a democratic state, the choice of the primaries today is equivalent to an election. Claim landslide for Carmack. Chattanooga, Tenn., June 27.--Reports from east Tennessee counties indicate a landslide for ex-United States Senator Edward W. Carmack. The local fight is quite hard. A Carmack brigade two miles in length is passing through the principal streets of the business section. The voting is exceedingly slow on account of the 22 separate ballots being used.

STONE WON'T MEET FOLK IN CHAUTAUQUA DEBATE

(By Leased Wire to The Times.) Columbia, Mo., June 27.--Senator William J. Stone, in a letter to the Columbia Chautauqua, declines to meet Gov. Joseph W. Folk in joint debate before the assembly here on Aug. 12. He gives as his reason that such controversies injure the democratic party and that he dislikes to speak where democrats have to pay to hear. He emphatically denies that he is afraid of such a controversy hurting him. Gov. Folk accepted the invitation to meet Gov. Stone in joint debate.

MUCH INTEREST IN CONVENTION

Raleigh People Looking Towards Charlotte--Many Rumors Current

There is not a man in the state who does not seem to be interested in the convention now dragging along in Charlotte. All sorts of rumors were current in Raleigh today, one of these being to the effect that Mr. Horne would withdraw, giving his vote to Mr. Kitchin.

So persistent was the rumor that Governor Glenn, who is of course interested in the convention, telephoned to the Charlotte News asking if the report were true. Word came back that the rumor was "persistent," but that the 47th ballot gave no indication of a break.

A bulletin received by The Evening Times early in the afternoon, giving the 49th ballot, showed no signs of a stampede. Mr. Horne on this ballot reached his high-water mark.

Persons returning from the convention declare that so far as can be seen on the surface, there seems no probability of breaking the deadlock. The delegates, they say, have no love for their opponents and seem determined to fight to the end. The end of the struggle, however, may come at any moment, but it would take a wise man to foretell the nominee. Governor Glenn, it may be interesting to note, was nominated at Greensboro on the fourth ballot--some say third--though a fifth was considered necessary to verify the others. The governor, with his unusual constitution, was completely worn out during the two days that he spent at the convention and was compelled to rest for a week. If the present convention continues much longer, persons returning say, delegates and candidates all will be completely exhausted.

CAMPANIA DEFEATS THE LORRAINE BY AN HOUR

(By Leased Wire to The Times.) New York, June 27.--Fording every pound of steam into their boilers and heaping their grates with coal, the Campania and the French liner Lorraine reached quarantine today after one of the most exciting ocean races ever recorded. The figures showed the Campania had beaten her rival by an hour. The liners sighted each other at dusk Thursday and the race began. They kept in sight of each other 20 hours and then the Campania steamed ahead and lost sight of her rival. The race was maintained until their arrival at Sandy Hook light today.

Extraordinary Injunctions Not Warranted by Law Says Gompers, Head of Federation

Declares Plank Adopted By Republican Convention is Simply Affirmation for Statute Law Authorizing Their Issuance--Asked Convention for Bread and Got Stone.

(By Leased Wire to The Times.) Washington, June 27.--Samuel Gompers, president of the American Federation of Labor, in an interview of the work accomplished by the republicans in the adoption of the plank at Chicago has this to say: "The plank adopted by the republican convention on the subject of injunctions is nothing more or less than the affirmation for a statute law authorizing the issuance of injunctions. Our contention is that there is no law upon the statute books authorizing or warranting the issuance of these extraordinary injunctions."

"They are never issued when no labor dispute exists between workmen and employers. They are only issued when such a dispute exists. They are never issued against any citizen, whether he be a workman or in any other walk of life, when there is no labor dispute.

"We hold that the law does not change because a dispute arises between employers and workmen. All we ask is to be regarded upon an equality before the law with all other citizens. We ask no immunity for anyone guilty of wrongdoing, whether he be workman or other, but we must insist upon the constitutional guarantee of equality before the law. We will be satisfied with nothing less."

"We ask the republican convention to declare, in essence, for the enactment of a law granting human rights and human freedom, and it wholly failed to meet the requirements of an intolerable, an unjust, and un-American situation."

"We asked the convention for bread and they gave us a stone."

JOHNSON WILL GO TO DENVER TO PRESS ON HIS CAMPAIGN

Will Break Away From All Precedent and Fight His Cause On Spot-- Bryan Doesn't Want Governor Francis for His Vice-President.

(By Leased Wire to The Times.) Denver, Col., June 27.--A bombshell burst in democratic national headquarters today when it was stated that Gov. John A. Johnson, of Minnesota, would arrive next week and open headquarters, a most unusual thing for a presidential candidate to do. Johnson's friends claim 362 votes on the first ballot.

Won't Have Francis or Bailey. (By Leased Wire to The Times.) Lincoln, Neb., June 27.--William J. Bryan has rejected the suggestion of David R. Francis as a possible vice-presidential nominee or as a possible manager of the democratic presidential campaign. Mr. Brinton, of Denver, Col., one of the zealous friends of Gov. Francis, called on Mr. Bryan in the interest of the Francis backers. Mr. Bryan told him Mr. Francis would not be acceptable so far as the Nebraska himself is concerned, either for second place on the national ticket or as campaign manager, because of his Standard Oil interests.

Senator Joseph W. Bailey, of Texas, also was stamped unavailable when he was suggested for temporary chairman of the convention or for chairman of the committee on resolutions. Bryan declared the senator's name had figured too prominently in the Waters-Pierce Oil company's affairs in his home state. Stevenson Wants to Be Governor of Illinois. (By Leased Wire to The Times.) Springfield, Ills., June 27.--Hon. Adlai E. Stevenson, of Bloomington, will make the contest for the democratic nomination for governor at the primaries on August 8. The Stevenson petitions are being circulated today. Mr. Stevenson was vice-president of the United States during the second Cleveland administration. Other candidates for the nomination are Col. J. Hamilton Lewis, of Chicago, a former congressman from Washington and a former corporation counsel of Chicago; Hon. Douglas Pattison, of Freeport, democratic leader in the Illinois house, and Hon. John P. McGoorty, a member of the Illinois house.

MISSION DAY AT EDENTON STREET

Vanderbilt University Men to Preach and Sing at Both Services

Tomorrow will be a big day at Edenton Street Methodist church. Both services will be full of interest. Rev. J. Marvin Culbreth will preach at 11 o'clock. Mr. Culbreth is always a favorite in Raleigh and it will be a great pleasure to hear him again. The evening service, at 8:30 o'clock, will be a missionary rally. There will be short talks on subjects of missionary interest from the following young men, all members of the Vanderbilt quartet: "The Importance of Missions From the Standpoint of the Fields," Mr. H. Stanford, of Texas. "The Importance of Missions From the Standpoint of Vocations," Mr. Marvin Ormond, of North Carolina. "The Importance of Missions From the Standpoint of the Objective," Rev. J. Marvin Culbreth. "The Importance of Missions From the Educational Standpoint," Mr. B. E. Mitchell, of Missouri. There will be special music by the Vanderbilt quartet at both services. The talks at the evening service will be interspersed with music. This quartet is said to be one of the sweetest and most harmonious ever heard in the south. They have attracted great crowds. It was a great disappointment to many people that they were unable to fulfill their engagement here last night. The news that they are to sing here Sunday will be read with much interest and pleasure.

On Monday evening in the Sunday school room of Edenton Street church the quartet will give an entertainment. There will be no admission fee, but an offering will be taken at the door.

SOUTHERN PACIFIC IS INDICTED FOR REBATES

(By Leased Wire to The Times.) San Francisco, June 27.--The federal grand jury has returned an indictment for rebating against the Southern Pacific. It includes nineteen counts. The Pine Box & Lumber company, which has its mills in the Sierras, near Truckee, and which received rebates from the railroad, is also indicted.

STEVENSON WANTS TO BE GOVERNOR OF ILLINOIS

(By Leased Wire to The Times.) Springfield, Ills., June 27.--Hon. Adlai E. Stevenson, of Bloomington, will make the contest for the democratic nomination for governor at the primaries on August 8. The Stevenson petitions are being circulated today. Mr. Stevenson was vice-president of the United States during the second Cleveland administration. Other candidates for the nomination are Col. J. Hamilton Lewis, of Chicago, a former congressman from Washington and a former corporation counsel of Chicago; Hon. Douglas Pattison, of Freeport, democratic leader in the Illinois house, and Hon. John P. McGoorty, a member of the Illinois house.

TO KEEP INDIANS NEAT AND CLEAN

Uncle Sam Will Provide Much Soap and 30 Miles of Towelling

(By Leased Wire to The Times.) Washington, June 27.--Hundreds of thousands of pounds of soap and approximately thirty miles of crash towelling are about to be purchased by Uncle Sam to further the cause of civilization on the Indian reservations of the west. To be exact, Uncle Sam has put in an order for 512,000 pounds of soap and 53,000 yards of crash, all of which is for use by his Indian wards. As Poor Lo acquires civilization, he evinces a growing fondness for soap, towels and other articles conducive to health and comfort. In addition to the soap and towels, 2,300 dozen coarse combs and 250 dozen brushes will be distributed among the Indians in the fiscal year beginning July 1. For weeks officials at the Indian office have been busy opening bids for the privilege of furnishing the government with the more than $1,500,000 worth of supplies which will be needed on Indian reservations the coming year. Uncle Sam furnishes the Indians with a variety of articles, ranging from shoestrings to grand pianos for Indian schools. The list of purchases to be made includes matches, dry goods, sugar, coffee, groceries, syrup, cloth, clothing, farm implements and mechanical tools.

While the government has practically abandoned the practice of leasing rations to the Indians, giving them only to the infirm and aged, millions in money are expended annually to educate and civilize the Indian youth. It is to the children and Indians who work that the bulk of the supplies about to be purchased will be allotted.

POOLROOM AGENTS ARE DISCHARGED AT CONEY

New York, June 26.--Magistrate Tigh in the Coney Island court today discharged two men arrested after a raid on a house outside the Sheepshead Bay racetrack from which, it is alleged, information was being telephoned to the poolroom in Manhattan. The magistrate said that as the two men were in their own premises, he did not see that any crime had been committed.

PROGRAM TO DATE FOR DENVER NATIONAL CONVENTION. Denver, Col., June 27.--For temporary chairman, Theodore Bell, of San Francisco. For permanent chairman, Congressman Henry D. Clayton, of Alabama. For both temporary and permanent secretary, Urey Woodson, of Kentucky. I. J. Dunn, assistant city attorney of Omaha, will nominate William Jennings Bryan for president. Joseph W. Bailey, of Texas, will probably be chairman of the resolutions committee. Mr. Bryan claims today 703 pledged delegates, with Montana yet to hear from; and John C. Dahlgren, his spokesman, who arrived in Denver, direct from a conference with Bryan, says: The Commander is absolutely certain of his nomination on the first ballot. Dr. Dahlgren further says Mr. Bryan is up in the air regarding a vice-president, and will not interfere with the convention, so long as it is harmonious. Should it, however, attempt to name a candidate opposed to the policies for which Mr. Bryan stands, he may be forced to name a man himself. Mr. Bryan wants, above all things, a harmonious convention, which will act freely and fully on both candidates and resolutions, but the action must be within the bounds of those principles which he has most strenuously advocated and which will be his campaign material, if he is nominated. A tariff so modified as to curb pernicious combinations of capital will be the chief issue of Mr. Bryan's campaign. Mr. Bryan, so far, has no candidate for national chairman.
